world populated by algorithms Machines powered by artificial intelligence are good at some things playing chess but not others life and death decisions or anything involving uncertainty Gigerenzer explains why algorithms often fail at finding us romantic partners love is not chess why self driving cars fall prey to the Russian Tank Fallacy and how judges and police rely increasingly on nontransparent black box algorithms to predict whether a criminal defendant will reoffend or show up in court He invokes Black Mirror considers the privacy paradox people want privacy but give their data away and explains that social media get us hooked by programming intermittent reinforcement in the form of the like button We shouldn't trust smart technology unconditionally Gigerenzer tells us but we shouldn't fear it unthinkingly either Against Orthodoxy

Trevor W. Harrison, Slobodan Drakulic, 2011-08-31 During the Cold War nationalism fell from favour among theorists as an explanatory factor in history as Marxists and liberals looked to class and individualism as the driving forces of change The resurgence of nationalism after the collapse of the Soviet Union however called for a reconsideration of the paradigm Against Orthodoxy uses case studies from around the world to critically evaluate decades of new scholarship The authors argue that theories of nationalism have ossified into a new set of orthodoxies These overlook nationalism's role as a generative force one that reflects complex historical political and cultural arrangements that defy simplistic explanations Forthcoming Books
