Technology And Terrorism:

Information Technology for Counterterrorism National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Computer Science and Telecommunications Board, Committee on the Role of Information Technology in Responding to Terrorism, 2003-04-07 Information technology IT is essential to virtually all of the nation's critical infrastructures making them vulnerable by a terrorist attack on their IT system An attack could be on the system itself or use the IT system to launch or exacerbate another type of attack IT can also be used as a counterterrorism tool The report concludes that the most devastating consequences of a terrorist attack would occur if it were on or used IT as part of a broader attack The report presents two recommendations on what can be done in the short term to protect the nation's communications and information systems and several recommendations about what can be done over the longer term The report also notes the importance of considering how an IT system will be deployed to maximize protection against and usefulness in responding to attacks

Network Technologies for Networked Terrorists Bruce W. Don, 2007 Understanding how terrorists conduct successful operations is critical to countering them Terrorist organizations use a wide range of network technologies as they plan and stage attacks This book explores the role that these communications and computer technologies play and the net effect of their use the purpose and manner in which the technology is used the operational actions of terrorists and possible responses of security forces The authors conclude that future network technologies modestly improve terrorist group efficiency particularly for their supporting activities but do not dramatically improve their attack operations Precluding terrorists from getting the technology they want is impractical developing direct counters is unlikely to yield high payoffs Instead exploiting the technologies and the information such technologies use to enable more direct security force operations are more promising options
