God and the Human Environment Osunkwo Jude Thaddeus Ikenna, 2015-07-02 God and the Human Environment Catholic Principles of Environmental Stewardship as a Template for Action in Nigeria brings into conversation the Church's theological reflection on the mandate to care for God's creation and the circumstances of the environment in Nigeria In vivid terms and with systemic thinking Fr Jude Osunkwo a theologian who specializes in Environmental Studies and Pastoral Catechesis explores the biblical theological magisterial and doctrinal bases that underlie a faithful response to contemporary environmental challenges After setting the stage with a summation of the issues and a survey of significant ecclesiastical statements on the topic of the environment God and the Human Environment addresses Catholic theological principles of stewardship Christian responsibility and the ethics of development Then the discussion turns to the environment of Nigeria assessing its current state and reviewing the causes and consequences of environmental challenges before proposing pastoral responses for the Church Finally some chapters address likely developments in Nigeria and the Church An extensive bibliography and several appendices provide additional support God and the Human Environment is a rigorously researched and passionately presented exploration of the issues growing out of the environmental circumstances Nigerians currently face Whether you live in Nigeria or count yourself as a member of the Catholic Church and live somewhere else God and the Human Environment explores a topic that promises to make a difference in your life and to protect the part of the environment that God has created for you to tend

Industrial Innovation and Environmental Regulation International Development Research Centre (Canada), 2007 What role should governments play in protecting the environment and controlling the environmental impacts of industry Do regulations benefit the environment And how do they affect industrial innovation Since the early 1970s regulations have been used to coerce producers of goods and services into internalizing the environmental costs of production These efforts have often faced opposition on practical and ideological grounds Beginning in the 1980s there has been a movement toward liberalization coupled with the continued failure of the market to protect the environment as a public good As a result private and public sector interests have been debating the appropriate role of governments in protecting and improving the environment and controlling the environmental impact of industry Using case studies from numerous countries this book examines political and industrial trends and the responses to these challenges The authors conclude that the complexities of environmental and economic relationships disallow universal solutions and they stress the need for context specific perspectives on the role of regulatory measures in environmental innovation

Information and Communication Technologies in the Context of Globalization K. Lal,2007-11-13 This book focuses on the adoption of new technologies led by information and communication technologies by SMEs in developing countries It identifies several factors that augment competitiveness of firms in the era of globalization Contrary to the general belief these factors are not uniform across developing world Based on the empirical evidence from firms located in Malaysia India Nigeria Jamaica and Costa Rica the study concludes that firms cannot remain competitive without institutional support Since firms operate in different institutional and economic environment form of support varies from one country to another
