Technology, Credit, and Indebtedness in Marine Fishing Jean-Philippe Platteau, Jose Murickan, Etienne Delbar, 1985

An Anthropological Study of Marine Fishermen in Kerala B. Bindu Ramachandran, 2021-01-13 Anthropological studies of marine fishermen have explored immense diversity among fishing societies and the management strategies of marine resources in the context of globalization and changing technologies deserve the utmost attention from researchers in an uncertain economy In India fishing communities belong to various different castes and religions This book presents an anthropological study of Hindu marine fishermen in two neighboring fishing villages situated in the same coastal belt but administered by two different state governments Kerala and Pondicherry It explores the ways in which state interventions influence the development paradigm of a marginalized society like marine fishermen and discusses the distribution pattern of production systems and its significance at the household level The book also considers the gendered forms of economic transformation in fishing due to declining marine resources and technological and climate change It also focuses on the role of women fish vendors in market spaces as instituted by their distribution and credit connections and the unique experiences of the development process through anxieties compromises and survival in an uncertain economy The book will be of interest to researchers administrators and NGOs working for the inclusive development of marginalized communities sharing common property resources

Fisheries Development and Management in India, 1785-1986 Nune Subba Rao, 1989

Fisheries play an important role in the economy of nations bordering the sea and this is especially true in a populous country like India where a large majority continues to live below the poverty line Sea fishing has been an occupation with the coastal people of India since time immemorial forming an integral part of the maritime heritage Mechanisation has been introduced into the marine fishing with a view to exploit the fisheries potential all along the Indian coastline of 6 500 km by overcoming the deficiencies of the centuries old traditional fishing technology and to augment fish production with a higher fishing effort and also to raise the income levels and living standards of fishermen The present book based on the author's doctoral dissertation made a bold and pioneering attempt to evaluate the costs and earnings of mechanised and traditional boats for determining their relative operational efficiency and to examine intensively the effects of mechanisation on employment income levels consumption pattern and levels of living of fishermen and their social implications While analysing the merits of the new fishing technology and also the reactions of different groups of fishermen to mechanisation he spotlights the shortsightedness in the implementation of the programme of mechanisation resulting in a host of negative effects which have implications and also sets forth the valuable lessons which Indian experiences have to offer to the densely populated littoral nations in the Third World To ensure enduring benefits to the vast majority of marine fishermen the thesis underscores among numerous other remedies the need for the provision of an intermediary technology the need for the institutional support and marketing network and the need for the management of fisheries resources It also calls for the policies to bring about socio economic development of the fishing community on par with the rest of the society All in all a genuine contribution to knowledge of grassroots situations that will have enduring value and that can be useful in both academic and policy formation circles

Towards a Comparative Political Economy of Unfree Labour Dr Tom Brass, Tom Brass, 2015-12-22 Many works about agrarian change in the Third World assumes that unfree relations are to be eliminated in the course of capitalist development This text argues that the incidence of bonded labour is greater than supposed and that in certain situations rural employers prefer an unfree workforce

Fishing for Development Inge Tvedten, Bjørn Hersoug, 1992

Value and Economy of Marine Resources André Monaco, Patrick Prouzet, 2014-12-01

Marine resources and their exploitation recovery and economic networks they generate are here from the perspective now inevitable growing environmental constraints policy management and technical innovation The recent development of marine biotechnology the discovery of a great pharmacopoeia especially in reef environments the development of marine renewables are examples which show that man can develop through these new technologies property and services of the ocean But this development resources under pressure of global change requires not only taking into account technical but also social and political This is the price that the analysis of maritime activities will assess the sustainability and development of various economic sectors and coastal populations faced with the objectives of a blue growth associated with a return to the good state of the marine environment

Poverty Mosaics: Realities and Prospects in Small-Scale Fisheries Svein Jentoft, Arne Eide, 2011-07-15 Small scale fisheries are a major source of food and employment around the world Yet many small scale fishers work in conditions that are neither safe nor secure Millions of them are poor and often they are socially and politically marginalized Macro economic and institutional mechanisms are essential to address these poverty and vulnerability problems however interventions at the local community level are also necessary This requires deep understanding of what poverty means to the fishers their families and communities how they cope with it and the challenges they face to increase resiliency and improve their lives for the better This book provides a global perspective situating small scale fisheries within the broad academic discourse on poverty fisheries management and development In depth case studies from fifteen countries in Latin America Europe South and Southeast Asia and sub Saharan Africa demonstrate the enormously complex ecological economic social cultural and political contexts of this sector Conclusions for policy making formulated as a joint statement by the authors argue that fisheries development poverty alleviation and resource management must be integrated within a comprehensive governance approach that also looks beyond fisheries The scientific editors Svein Jentoft and Arne Eide are both with the Norwegian College of Fishery Science Faculty of Biosciences Fisheries and Economics University of Troms Norway

Between the Sea and the Sky P. T. Mathew SJ, 2020-05-05 Between the Sea and the Sky is an inquiry into the religious world of a traditional fishing community on the Southwest coast of India It explores the vital role religious and spiritual beliefs play in sustaining people in such a precarious even deadly occupation Despite periodic natural calamities and the extreme challenges that accompany their everyday lives a remarkable spirit of resilience is evident in this coastal community Using the concept of lived religion Mathew explores the theological religious and spiritual contours of this remarkable community and draws from them broader insights into the nature of belief      Exchange Rate Parity for Trade and Development Pan A. Yotopoulos,1996 This book extends recent theories of incomplete markets to investigate empirically the appropriate balance between the market and the state in the trade relations between developed and developing countries The conclusion is that in an ideal world government intervention in foreign exchange and trade is necessary in developing countries in the early stages and inevitably decreases as development occurs Rationing of foreign exchange prevents a soft currency distortion that commonly afflicts developing countries and can turn comparative advantage trade into competitive devaluation trade with severe losses of income and welfare Yotopoulos finds that the level of underdevelopment narrowly circumscribes and conditions the extent to which free market free trade laissez faire can be beneficial contrary to the mainstream policy paradigm as currently applied The analysis and tests draw on empirical research from seventy countries and four extended country studies to confirm the usefulness and validity of the theoretical framework      The Economic Theory of Agrarian Institutions Pranab Bardhan,1989-07-27 This volume breaks new ground in the economic theory of institutions The contributors show how some of the tools of advanced economic theory can usefully contribute to an understanding of how institutions operate They show how sound theoretical analysis can in fact enable economists to reach conclusions which will help practitioners avoid many pitfalls in the formation and implementation of development policies both within individual countries and in the context of international aid
