An Analysis of Ikujiro Nonaka's A Dynamic Theory of Organizational Knowledge Creation Stoyan Stoyanov, 2018-02-21. Ikujiro Nonaka's A Dynamic Theory of Organizational Knowledge Creation outlines the creation of organisational knowledge through the constant conversion of the two types of knowledge: tacit and explicit, which Nonaka believes has the potential to guide managers' knowledge creation strategies. This argument is centred on the conviction that companies are not passive parties that simply utilise existing knowledge for providing solutions to the customers and that organisations and environments simultaneously influence knowledge creation. This text is considered fundamental for the knowledge management field and as such it has been utilised by a large number of academics.

ICICKM2008- 5th International Conference on Intellectual Capital, Knowledge Management and Organisational Learning Dr Kevin O'Sullivan, Designing Organizational Systems Richard Baskerville, Marco De Marco, Paolo Spagnoletti, 2012-10-02. This book is dedicated to the memory of Professor Alessandro Sandro D'Atri who passed away in April 2011. Professor D'Atri started his career as a brilliant scholar interested in theoretical computer science, databases and more generally information processing systems. He journeyed far in various applications such as human computer interaction, human factors, ultimately arriving at business information systems and business organisation after more than 20 years of research based on problem solving. Professor D'Atri pursued the development of an interdisciplinary culture in which social sciences, systems design and human sciences are mutually integrated. Rather than retrospection, this book is aimed to advance in these directions and to stimulate a debate about the potential of design research in the field of information systems and organisation studies with an interdisciplinary approach. Each chapter has been selected by the Editorial Board following a double blind peer review process. The general criteria of privileging the variety of topics and the design science orientation and/or empirical works in which a design research approach is adopted to solve various field problems in the management area. In addition, several chapters contribute to the meta-discourse on design science research.
