Technophobia Science Fiction Visions Of Posthuman Technology:

Technophobia! Daniel Dinello, 2013-08-26 Techno heaven or techno hell If you believe many scientists working in the emerging fields of twenty first century technology the future is blissfully bright Initially human bodies will be perfected through genetic manipulation and the fusion of human and machine later human beings will completely shed the shackles of pain disease and even death as human minds are downloaded into death free robots whereby they can live forever in a heavenly posthuman existence In this techno utopian future humanity will be saved by the godlike power of technology If you believe the authors of science fiction however posthuman evolution marks the beginning of the end of human freedom values and identity Our dark future will be dominated by mad scientists rampaging robots killer clones and uncontrollable viruses In this timely new book Daniel Dinello examines the dramatic conflict between the techno utopia promised by real world scientists and the techno dystopia predicted by science fiction Organized into chapters devoted to robotics bionics artificial intelligence virtual reality biotechnology nanotechnology and other significant scientific advancements this book summarizes the current state of each technology while presenting corresponding reactions in science fiction Dinello draws on a rich range of material including films television books and computer games and argues that science fiction functions as a valuable corrective to technological domination countering techno hype and reflecting the weaponized religiously rationalized profit fueled motives of such science By imaging a disastrous future of posthuman techno totalitarianism science fiction encourages us to construct ways to contain new technology and asks its audience perhaps the most important question of the twenty first century is technology out of control

Feminist Posthumanism in Contemporary Science Fiction Film and Media

Julia A. Empey, Russell J.A. Kilbourn, 2023-08-24 Feminist Posthumanism in Contemporary Science Fiction Film and Media From Annihilation to High Life and Beyond places posthumanism and feminist theory into dialogue with contemporary science fiction film and media This essay collection is intimately invested in the debates around the posthuman and the critical posthumanities within a feminist critical theoretical framework In this posthumanist light science fiction as a genre allows for new imaginings of human technological relations while it can also be the site of a critique of human exceptionalism and essentialism In this way science fiction affords unique opportunities for the scholarly investigation of the relevance and relative applicability of specific posthumanist themes and questions in a particularly rich and wide ranging popular cultural field of production One of the reasons for this suitability is the genre's historically longstanding relationship with the critical investigation of gender specifically the position and relative empowerment of women The original analyses presented here pay close attention to audiovisual style including game mechanics facilitating the critical interrogation of the issues and questions around posthumanism Where typically the mention of SF in the posthumanist context calls to mind a whole set of often clichéd tropes the cyborg technologically augmented bodies AI subjectivities etc this volume's thirteen chapters analyze specific examples of contemporary SF cinema that engage in meaningful ways with the burgeoning field of critical posthumanism and that utilize such films to interrogate posthumanist and feminist as well as humanistic ideas

A Genealogy of Cyborgothic Dongshin Yi,2017-03-02 In his provocative and timely study of posthumanism Dongshin Yi adopts an imaginary imaginative approach to exploring the transformative power of the cyborg a strategy that introduces balance to the current discourses dominated by the practicalities of technoscience and the dictates of anthropocentrism Proposing the term cyborgothic to characterize a new genre that may emerge from gothic literature and science fiction Yi introduces mothering as an aesthetic and ethical practice that can enable a posthumanist relationship between human and non human beings Yi examines the cyborg s literary manifestations in novels including The Mysteries of Udolpho Frankenstein Dracula Arrowsmith and He She and It alongside philosophical and critical texts such as Edmund Burke s A Philosophical Enquiry into the Origins of Our ideas of the Sublime and Beautiful Immanuel Kant s Critique of Judgment John Stuart Mill s Utilitarianism and System of Logic William James s essays on pragmatism ethical treatises on otherness and things feminist writings on motherhood and recent studies of posthumanism Arguing humans imagine the cyborg in ways that are seriously limited by fear of the unknown and current understandings of science and technology Yi identifies in gothic literature a practice of the beautiful that extends the operation of sensibility heightened by gothic manifestations or situations to surrounding objects and people so that new feelings flow in and attenuate fear In science fiction which demonstrates how society has accommodated science Yi locates ethical corrections to the anthropocentric trajectory that such accommodation has taken Thus A Genealogy of Cyborgothic imagines a new literary genre that helps envision a cyborg friendly non anthropocentric posthuman society Encoded with gothic literature s aesthetic embrace of fear and science fiction s ethical criticism of anthropocentrism the cyborgothic retains the prospective nature of these genres and develops mothering as an aesthetico ethical practice that both humans and cyborgs should perform Net Privacy Sacha Molitorisz, 2020-05-21 In our digital world we are confused by privacy what is public what is private We are also challenged by it the conditions of privacy so uncertain we become unsure about our rights to it We may choose to share personal information but often do so on the assumption that it won t be re shared sold or passed on to other parties without our knowing In the eighteenth century philosopher Jeremy Bentham wrote about a new model for a prison called a Panopticon where inmates surrounded the jailers always under watch Have we built ourselves a digital Panopticon Are we the guards or the prisoners captive or free Can we be both When Kim Kardashian makes the minutiae of her life available online which is she With great rigour this important book draws on a Kantian philosophy of ethics and legal frameworks to examine where we are and to suggest steps conceptual and practical to ensure the future is not dystopian Privacy is one of the defining issues of our time this lively book explains why this is so and the ways in which we might protect it
