Telling Identities:

Telling Identities Rosaura Sánchez, 1995 The Californios were the original Spanish speaking settlers of Alta California By the 1870s they had become a conquered and dominated population as a result of the westward expansion of the United States In that same decade the Californios were approached by agents of Hubert Howe Bancroft a wealthy San Francisco book dealer and publisher asking them to narrate recollections of their past in Alta California as part of a research project seeking to assemble all available information and documentation on California history These dictated recollections are known today as testimonios Sánchez offers the first pointed historical and literary analysis of thirty of these testimonios from the 1870s along with additional narratives diaries and documents from the nineteenth century Most of the materials she examines have never before been published and are accessible only in their original handwritten form at the Bancroft Library housed at the University of California at Berkeley Telling Identities scrutinizes the role of gender class race language and ethnicity in group identity formation as it looks into history to help articulate the cultural politics of contemporary Chicano and Latino culture in the United States

Identities in Transition Paige Arthur, 2010-12-13 In many societies histories of exclusion racism and nationalist violence often create divisions so deep that finding a way to deal with the atrocities of the past seems nearly impossible These societies face difficult practical questions about how to devise new state and civil society institutions that will respond to massive or systematic violations of human rights recognize victims and prevent the recurrence of abuse Identities in Transition Challenges for Transitional Justice in Divided Societies brings together a rich group of international researchers and practitioners who for the first time examine transitional justice through an identity lens They tackle ways that transitional justice can act as a means of political learning across communities foster citizenship trust and recognition and break down harmful myths and stereotypes as steps toward meeting the difficult challenges for transitional justice in divided societies

Small Stories, Interaction and Identities Alexandra Georgakopoulou, 2007-08-08 Narrative research is frequently described as a diverse enterprise yet the kinds of narrative data that it bases itself on present a striking consensus they tend to be autobiographical and elicited in interviews This book sets out to carve out a space alongside this narrative canon for stories that have not made it to the mainstream of narrative and identity analysis yet they abound as well as being crucial sites of subjectivity in everyday interactional contexts By labelling those stories as small the book emphasizes their distinctiveness both interactionally and as an antidote to the tradition of grand narratives research Drawing primarily on the audio recorded small stories of a group of female adolescents that was studied ethnographically in a town in Greece the book follows a language focused and practice based approach in order to provide fresh answers and perspectives on some of the perennial questions of narrative analysis How can we re conceptualize the mainstay concepts of tellership structure and evaluation in small stories How do the participants telling identities connect with their larger social identities Finally what does the project of storying self and other mean in small stories and how can it be best explored The Discursive Construction of European Identities Michał Krzyżanowski, 2010 This book looks at the discursive construction of European identities in a variety of institutional and non institutional contexts and through a variety of social and political actors Its multilevel and interdisciplinary approach rooted in the Discourse Historical tradition of Critical Discourse Analysis allows for a comparison of identity constructions at different levels of Europe s social and political organisation and in different modes of communication The book analyses discourses as diverse as those of the EU politicians of Europe s national media as well as of migrants living in Europe It offers a set of integrated models and analytical procedures which bring to the fore the inherent dynamism and complexity of both bottom up and top down European identity constructions Discourse and Identity Anna De Fina, Deborah Schiffrin, Michael Bamberg, 2006-06-29 The relationship between language discourse and identity has always been a major area of sociolinguistic investigation In more recent times the field has been revolutionized as previous models which assumed our identities to be based on stable relationships between linguistic and social variables have been challenged by pioneering new approaches to the topic This volume brings together a team of leading experts to explore discourse in a range of social contexts By applying a variety of analytical tools and concepts the contributors show how we build images of ourselves through language how society moulds us into different categories and how we negotiate our membership of those categories Drawing on numerous interactional settings the workplace medical interviews education in a variety of genres narrative conversation interviews and amongst different communities immigrants patients adolescents teachers this revealing volume sheds light on how our social practices can help to shape our identities California Women and Politics Robert W.
