The Sermon without End Ronald J. Allen, Prof O. Wesley Allen JR., 2015-10-20 A New Model for Post Apologetic Preaching in a Pluralistic World The relationship between preaching and the public sphere has long been debated Three different theological approaches tend to dominate the discussion In different ways these approaches take into account the movement from the modern mindset of the mid to late 20th century to the emerging postmodern worldview In The Sermon without End authors Allen Allen thoughtfully offer a fourth option one that in their view has not received much attention but which offers a distinct and especially helpful perspective It is a new and dynamic conversational model reaching beyond the earlier work of Tillich and Tracy In this homiletical framework conversation takes place in multiple directions between the text or tradition and the world today It is preaching in conversation not just toward but with voices from the public sphere The book provides a solid foundation for understanding this post apologetic approach but it importantly goes on to offer practical real pulpit guidance for implementation in a preaching ministry It is a book for both scholars and practicing preachers who wish to reach people in meaningful and significant ways and in ways that make sense for today This book deserves to be widely applauded It provides a post apologetic lens to illuminate the history of various modern homiletical discourses even as it envisions a postmodern one I strongly recommend this book for homiletics preachers and lay people alike Duse Lee Boston University School of Theology Reviewed in Homiletic

Anthropology and Responsibility Melissa Demian, Mattia Fumanti, Christos Lynteris, 2023-03-31 This book explores the role and implications of responsibility for anthropology asking how responsibility is recognised and invoked in the world what relations it draws upon and how it comes to define notions of the person institutional practices ways of knowing and modes of evaluation The category of responsibility has a long genealogy within the discipline of anthropology and it surfaces in contemporary debates as well as in anthropologists collaboration with other disciplines including when anthropology is applied in fields such as development medicine and humanitarian response As a category that unsettles challenges and critically engages with political ethical and epistemological questions responsibility is central to anthropological theory ethnographic practice collaborative research and applied engagement With chapters focused on a variety of cultural contexts this volume considers how anthropology can contribute to a better understanding of responsibility including the responsibility of anthropology and the responsibility of anthropologists to specific others

Postcolonial Theory and Autobiography David Huddart, 2008-04-18 Cultural theory has often been criticized for covert Eurocentric and universalist tendencies Its concepts and ideas are implicitly applicable to everyone ironing over any individuality or cultural difference Postcolonial theory has challenged these limitations of cultural theory and Postcolonial

Theory and Autobiography addresses the central challenge posed by its autobiographical turn. Despite the fact that autobiography is frequently dismissed for its Western masculine bias, David Huddart argues for its continued relevance as a central explanatory category in understanding postcolonial theory and its relation to subjectivity. Focusing on the influence of post-structuralist theory on postcolonial theory and vice versa, this study suggests that autobiography constitutes a general philosophical resistance to universal concepts and theories. Offering a fresh perspective on familiar critical figures like Edward W. Said and Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak by putting them in the context of readings of the work of Jacques Derrida, Gilles Deleuze, and Alain Badiou, this book relates the theory of autobiography to expressions of new universalisms that, together with postcolonial theory, rethink and extend norms of experience, investigation, and knowledge. American Book Publishing Record, 2002 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2002-04 Transplanting Care Laura L.

Heinemann, 2016-07-12. The sudden call to the race to the hospital, the high-stakes operation, the drama of transplant surgery is well known. But what happens before and after the surgery? In Transplanting Care, Laura L. Heinemann examines the daily lives of midwestern organ transplant patients and those who care for them, from pretransplant preparations through to the long posttransplant recovery. Heinemann points out that as efforts to control healthcare costs gain urgency and as new surgical techniques, drug therapies, and home medical equipment advance, most of the transplant process now takes place at home, among kin. Indeed, the transplant system effectively depends on unpaid care labor typically provided by spouses, parents, siblings, and others. Drawing on scores of interviews with patients, relatives, and healthcare professionals, Heinemann follows a variety of patients and loved ones as they undertake this uncertain and strenuous transplant journey. She also shows how these home-based caregiving efforts take place within the larger economic and political context of a paucity of resources for patients and caregivers who ultimately must surmount numerous obstacles. The author concludes that the many snags encountered by transplant patients and loved ones make a clear case for more comprehensive health and social policy that treats care as a necessarily shared public responsibility. An illuminating look at the long transplant journey, Transplanting Care also offers broader insight into how we handle infirmity in America and how we might do a better job of doing so.

Shakespeare Survey: Volume 58, Writing about Shakespeare Peter Holland, 2005-11-03. Published with academic researchers and graduate students in mind, this volume of the Shakespeare Survey presents a number of contributions on the theme of the play Macbeth. Queer Race Ian Barnard, 2004. One of the first extended and theoretically informed investigations of queer theory's racial inscription, Queer Race understands race as inextricably sexualized, as sexuality is always racially marked. The book critically and playfully explores intellectual and political deployments of the term "queer" in gay pornographic videos about South Africa, contemporary literary representations of interracial gay desire, the writings of Gloria Anzaldúa, and Jeffrey Dahmer's criminal trial. Through these explorations, Queer Race charts a framework for understanding the race of queer theory that both tests queer theory's limits and suggests its future interrelations with anti-racist work.

New Theatre Quarterly 60: Volume 15, Part 4 Clive Barker, Simon Trussler, 2000-02-24 New Theatre Quarterly provides an international forum where theatrical scholarship and practice can meet and where prevailing dramatic assumptions can be subjected to vigorous critical questioning

Remaking Reality Bruce Braun, Noel Castree, 2005-08-08 This book rejects apocalyptic pronouncements that the end of the millenium represents the end of nature as well Remaking Reality brings together contributors from across the human sciences who argue that a notion of social nature provides great hope for the future Applying a variety of theoretical approaches to social nature and engaging with debates in politics science technology and social movements surrounding race gender and class the contributors explore important and emerging sites where nature is now being remade with considerable social and ecological consequences The essays are organised around two themes capitalising and envisioning nature and actors networks and the politics of hybridity An afterword by Neil Smith reflects on the problems and possibilities of future names For critics and activists alike Remaking Reality provides essential theoretical and political tools to rethink environmentalism and progressive social natures for the twenty first century

Bronze Age Tell Communities in Context: An Exploration into Culture, Society, and the Study of European Prehistory.

Part 2 Tobias L. Kienlin, 2020-12-31 This is the second part of a study on Bronze Age tells and on our approaches towards an understanding of this fascinating way of life drawing on the material remains of long term architectural stability and references back to ancestral place The Social in Question Patrick Joyce, 2012-12-06 With postmodernism has come the questioning of the very idea of the social Thinkers from across the social sciences and humanities now agree that this one foundational concept can no longer be taken for granted as an objective or real characteristic of the world However their uncertainty has taken on many guises and the social in Question represents an attempt to pull these diverse forms of questioning together Drawn from sociology cultural studies history and theology an international and eminent cast of contributors look at how the idea of the social developed from its mediaeval foundations to its consolidation in the early twentieth century The book then charts how the concept has been brought into the question by critiques from science studies cultural studies and postcolonial studies before going on to look at how new frameworks are being proposed for the exploration of issues formerly seen as the social This book makes a fascinating contribution to the rethinking of contemporary academic activity The Body Multiple Annemarie Mol, 2003-01-17 An ethnography of the way arteriosclerosis is performed on patients by medical professionals at a Dutch hospital The main text is supplemented by a meta commentary regarding the theoretical issues posed by ethnographic study Complexity and Planning Gert de Roo, Jean Hillier, 2016-05-23 Complexity complex systems and complexity theories are becoming increasingly important within a variety of disciplines While these issues are less well known within the discipline of spatial planning there has been a recent growing awareness and interest As planners grapple with how to consider the vagaries of the real world when putting together proposals for future development they question how complexity complex systems and complexity theories might prove useful with regard to spatial planning and the physical environment This book provides a readable overview presenting and relating a range of understandings and characteristics of complexity and complex systems as they are relevant to planning It recognizes multiple relational approaches of dynamic complexity which enhance understandings of and facilitate working with contingencies of place time and the various participants' behaviours In doing so it should contribute to a better understanding of processes with regard to our physical and social worlds Situational Analysis Adele E. Clarke, Carrie Friese, Rachel S. Washburn, 2017-07-20 The Second Edition offers an innovative extension of grounded theory useful in qualitative research projects that draws on interviews observations and visual narrative and historical discourse materials To engage the dense complexities of real world situations Situational Analysis SA braids together Strauss's ecological social worlds arenas theory Foucault's discourse analysis and Deleuze and Guattari's rhizomes and assemblages The book will serve as an invaluable resource for advanced undergraduate and graduate level students as well as professional researchers and consultants from diverse backgrounds pursuing qualitative projects Doing Nutrition Differently Allison Hayes-Conroy, 2016-05-13 Hegemonic nutrition is produced and proliferated by a wide variety of social institutions such as mainstream nutrition science clinical nutrition as well as those less classically linked such as life science agro food companies the media family education religion and the law The collective result is an approach to and practice of nutrition that alleges not only one single clear cut and consented upon set of rules for healthy eating but also tacit criteria for determining individual fault usually some combination of lack of education motivation and unwillingness to comply Offering a collection of critical interdisciplinary replies and responses to the matter of hegemonic nutrition this book presents contributions from a wide variety of perspectives nutrition professionals and lay people academics and activists adults and youth indigenous Chicana o Latina o Environmentalist Feminist and more The critical commentary collectively asks for a different more attentive and more holistic practice of nutrition Most importantly this volume demonstrates how this new nutrition is actually already being performed in small ways across the American continent In doing so the volume empowers diverse knowledges histories and practices of nutrition that have been marginalized re casts the objectives of dietary intervention and most broadly attempts to revolutionize the way that nutrition is done Psychoanalytic Psychotherapy with Adolescents Philip Rosenbaum, Richard Webb, 2022-04-26 In this book Philip Rosenbaum and Richard Webb consider the complexities of working as counselors and psychotherapists for college students and offer a broad and detailed account of the developmental issues essential to understanding adolescent experience Drawing on existentialism cultural psychology and relational and object relations theories in psychoanalysis this book offers a perspective that is sensitive to both clinical concerns and the broader context of college counseling and working with adolescents Particular attention is paid to the emergence of adolescent identities through a relationship with otherness and several considerations are explored as a result These include the emergence and reconciliation of destructive feelings suicidal phenomenology and the effects of trauma By taking a fresh look at clinical developmental theories as they affect adolescents and young adults Rosenbaum and Webb provide a view of college student development that is theoretically rich and clinically applicable in a way that warrants renewed appreciation and practice among counselors psychotherapists and psychoanalysts working with college age clients
