Morawska, 2018-12-06 This handbook presents the latest theories and findings on parenting from the evolving roles and tasks of childrearing to insights from neuroscience, prevention science, and genetics. Chapters explore the various processes through which parents influence the lives of their children, as well as the effects of parenting on specific areas of child development such as language, communication, cognition, emotion, sibling, and peer relationships, schooling, and health. Topics featured in the Handbook include: The role of fathers in supporting children's development; Developmental disabilities and their effect on parenting and child development; Child characteristics and their reciprocal effects on parenting; Long distance parenting and its impact on families; The shifting dynamic of parenting and adult child relationships; The effects of trauma such as natural disasters, war exposure, and forced displacement on parenting. developmental psychology, family studies, child and adolescent psychiatry, and special education. Soft Skills in Education Jaap Scheerens, Greetje van der Werf, Hester de Boer, 2020-08-25 This book examines the global movement of putting more emphasis on students' social and emotional development in education. It provides some order in the unstructured multitude of desirable socio-emotional educational objectives and ambitions that have resulted from this movement and builds on a careful conceptual analysis. It starts out by examining the roots of the movement and discusses different emphases. Next, it makes use of instructional and psychological constructs and theories to arrive at meaningful categorizations of major domains and types of social-emotional skills. One of the key assumptions is that social and emotional attributes are malleable by means of educational interventions. The book reviews available research evidence for this assumption, taking into account psychological studies and meta analyses It then creates new evidence based on a new meta analysis which concentrated on the effects of educational interventions on skills associated with the conscientiousness factor of the Big5 taxonomy In the final chapter the book discusses the implications for educational policy and practice a discussion in which attention is given to political and ethical questions about the desirability of treating social and emotional attributes as educational goals

Developmental Psychopathology, Volume 3 Dante Cicchetti, Donald J. Cohen, 2006-03-31 Developmental Psychopathology Volume 3 Risk Disorder and Adaptation provides a life span developmental perspective on high risk conditions and mental disorders Moreover it examines developmental pathways to resilient adaptation in the face of adversity
