Society And Food Science In A Social Context

Bart Wernaart, Bernd van der Meulen

Society And Food Science In A Social Context:

Food, Science and Society P.S. Belton, Teresa Belton, 2013-06-29 There is widespread concern amongst consumers about the safety and acceptability of food and there are clearly communication gaps between consumers many food professionals and food industry This book offers accounts of the two way nature of this difficult communication process and steps that can be made to bridge these communication gaps in a variety of social and cultural environments Individual chapters of the book analyze the roles of science culture and risk perception and of mass media and attitudes towards eating An additional section describes the interface between scientists and lay people with regard to policy making and agricultural practice

Communicating Science in Social Contexts Donghong Cheng, Michel Claessens, Nicholas R. J. Gascoigne, Jenni Metcalfe, Bernard Schiele, Shunke Shi, 2008-07-15 Science communication as a multidisciplinary field has developed remarkably in recent years It is now a distinct and exceedingly dynamic science that melds theoretical approaches with practical experience Formerly well established theoretical models now seem out of step with the social reality of the sciences and the previously clear cut delineations and interacting domains between cultural fields have blurred Communicating Science in Social Contexts examines that shift which itself depicts a profound recomposition of knowledge fields activities and dissemination practices and the value accorded to science and technology Communicating Science in Social Contexts is the product of long term effort that would not have been possible without the research and expertise of the Public Communication of Science and Technology PCST Network and the editors For nearly 20 years this informal international network has been organizing events and forums for discussion of the public communication of science Education and Training in Food Science Ian Douglas Morton, J. Lenges, 1992 Containing a selection of papers presented at an international conference this volume reviews the need for increased training in the food industry in order to bridge the gap between standards in Eastern and Western Europe and the USA Higher education is discussed including the training of food technicians European initiatives such as ERASMUS and Network are also described The text includes coverage of the importance of international trade and consumer protection acts including a description of the needs of various groups and future developments Joint Seminars on the U.N. Conference on Science and Technology for Development (UNCSTD)

United States. Congress. House. Committee on Science and Technology, 1979 School Food, Equity and Social Justice

Dorte Ruge, Irene Torres, Darren Powell, 2022-02-27 School Food Equity and Social Justice provides contemporary critical examinations of policies and practices relating to food in schools across 25 countries from an equity and social justice perspective The book is divided into three sections Food politics and policies Sustainability and development and Teaching and learning about food Bringing together an interdisciplinary group of academics with practitioner backgrounds the chapters in this collection broaden discussions on school food to consider its educational and environmental implications the ideals of food in schools the emotional and ideological components of schooling food and the relationships with home and everyday life Our aim is to provide enhanced insight into matters of social justice in diverse contexts and visions of how greater equality and equity may be achieved through school food policy and in school food programs We expect this book to become essential reading for students researchers and policy makers in health education health promotion educational practice and policy public health nutrition and social justice education Technology and Society, second edition Deborah G. Johnson, Jameson M. Wetmore, 2021-08-24 Writings by thinkers ranging from Rokeya Sakhawat Hossain to Bruno Latour that focus on the interconnections of technology society and values Technological change does not happen in a vacuum decisions about which technologies to develop fund market and use engage ideas about values as well as calculations of costs and benefits In order to influence the development of technology for the better we must first understand how technology and society are inextricably bound together These writings by thinkers ranging from Bruno Latour to Francis Fukuyama help us do just that examining how people shape technology and how technology shapes people This second edition updates the original significantly offering twenty one new essays along with fifteen from the first edition The book first presents visions of the future that range from technological utopias to cautionary tales and then introduces several major STS theories It examines human and social values and how they are embedded in technological choices and explores the interesting and subtle complexities of the technology society relationship Remedying a gap in earlier theorizing in the field many of the texts illustrate how race and gender are intertwined with technology Finally the book offers a set of readings that focus on the sociotechnical challenges we face today treating topics that include cybersecurity geoengineering and the myth of neutral technology Food Justice and Hospitality in Luke-Acts Gideon S. S. Paulraj, 2023-05-23 Food security is a multifaceted concept and extends beyond the production of availability of and demand for food This book attempts to explore the meal narrations in Luke Acts as a source for a theology of hospitality to ascertain Luke's concern for the immigrant the poor the homeless the hungry and the outcasts This book focuses on fifteen meal scenes in Luke Acts and contributes to Lukan scholarship on meals particularly in addressing the issue of food insecurity Firstly by incorporating cultural dimensions and anthropology to understand the social context of the first century world this book contributes a new perspective on the Lukan audience which was stratified by socioeconomic and religious disparities in terms of privilege wealth and power Secondly this book analyzes the Lukan concern with the social structure and the social political economic and religious setting behind his emphasis on the pto set macron over o choi and the marginalized concerning livelihood needs such as food and shelter Thirdly this book connects Lukan concern with contemporary theologies that include an emphasis on hunger and hospitality such as liberation theology Dalit theology and practical theology Thus the book challenges readers and offers a few recommendations for implementations to combat hunger and destitution Knowledge Mobilisation and Social Sciences Jon Bannister, Irene Hardill, 2016-03-17 The essays presented in this volume examine knowledge mobilisation and its relation to research impact and engagement The social sciences matter because they can help us to understand and address the complex challenges confronting society This is particularly true in an era of significant downward pressure on public expenditure a consequence of the global fiscal crisis when there is a striking need to ensure that policies are demonstrably effective and efficient The impact agenda in the UK reflected in parallel global debates actively encourages the social sciences to make and demonstrate a difference to justify and protect social science funding This volume shows how knowledge mobilisation can be thought of systematically as a process encompassing engagement leading to the co production and channelling of knowledge to make a difference in the economy and society This book was originally published as a special issue of Contemporary Social Science Applied food science Bart Wernaart,Bernd van der Meulen,2023-08-14 The food sciences cover a wide area from ethics to microbiology from toxicology to law from marketing to genetics Professionals in the food sector may have to deal daily with issues related to another expertise than their own and with colleagues who have their expertise in any of these fields The purpose of this book is to provide an introduction for future professionals students researchers and teachers to all these different fields collectively known as the food sciences Understanding the basics of other professionals expertise will improve mutual understanding and communication It will help to ask the right questions at the right moment to the right person Each chapter is dedicated to one of the food sciences It provides the basics in terms of scope terminology methods and content It is placed in a dynamic context by addressing recent developments and ongoing debates Context Herbert L. Meiselman,2019-04-20 Context The Effects of Environment on Product Design and Evaluation addresses the environment or context in which we consume products and the impact of context on choice and acceptability The book explores what context is how it influences design by specialists and acceptance by consumers Chapters discuss the basics of context food and drink in context testing a range of other products and other contextual variables Historically research on context has been done in the laboratory and various natural locations but rapid growth in other methods to study context including evoked contexts immersive contexts virtual reality contexts and more have widened research possibilities Appealing to the professional academic and commercial markets this book will be of interest to those who conduct research in product development and product testing to those who study what controls product usage including eating from the health perspective and to those who make decisions about product and space development Explores information on how context works and how to assess its influence on product decisions Discusses the basics of context food and drink in context and testing other products in context including personal care products and home and workspace design Identifies variables that contribute to the contextual experience Social Sciences for Knowledge and Decision Making OECD,2001-01-31 This conference proceedings examines the role social sciences can play in developing sound policy Fundamentals of Food Science and Nutrition Philippa C. Ojimelukwe,Nuria Oganezi,2025-07-04 This is a comprehensive textbook that provides a clear concise understanding of food science nutrition food processing and preservation It covers the composition structure and functions of nutrients and their role in human metabolism while also addressing food spoilage and preservation methods The book explains the importance of phytochemicals emphasizing their role in metabolic functioning without categorizing them as harmful Written in simple language it serves as an essential resource for students and professionals alike offering practical information for better understanding of food science and nutrition Highly recommended for anyone looking to learn about the nature processing and preservation of food this text also promotes healthy eating and disease prevention Nutrition Education: Linking Research, Theory, and Practice Isobel R. H. Hui, Frank Sherkat, 2005-12-19 Advances in food science technology and engineering are occurring at such a rapid rate that obtaining current detailed information is challenging at best While almost everyone engaged in these disciplines has accumulated a vast variety of data over time an organized comprehensive resource containing this data would be invaluable to have The Environment and Social Justice Dorceta E. Taylor, 2010-08-26 The environmental justice movement an organized social and political force in America in the 80s is a global phenomenon today as activists worldwide try to understand the relationship between environment race ethnicity and social inequality This volume examines domestic and international environmental issues Food and Society Amy E. Guphill, Denise A. Copelton, Betsy Lucal, 2013-04-03 This timely and engaging text offers students a social perspective on food food practices and the modern food system It engages readers curiosity by highlighting several paradoxes how food is both mundane and sacred reveals both distinction and conformity and in the contemporary global era comes from everywhere but nowhere in particular With a social constructionist framework the book provides an empirically rich multi faceted and coherent introduction to this fascinating field Each chapter begins with a vivid case study proceeds through a rich discussion of research insights and ends with discussion questions and suggested resources Chapter topics include food s role in socialization identity work health and social change as well as food marketing and the changing global food system In synthesizing insights from diverse fields of social inquiry the book addresses issues of culture structure and social inequality throughout Written in a lively style this book will be both accessible and revealing to beginning and intermediate students alike Management of Health Risks from Environment and Food Hajime Sato, 2009-10-30 This book examines the policy and politics of two health risks which have recently become prominent social issues in many countries One is the issue of asbestos as an environmental risk to humans and another is that of bovine spongiform encephalitis BSE or mad cow disease as an animal disease and of its variant Creutzfeldt Jakob disease CJD as a human food risk Employing a set of analytical frameworks in political science each case study explores how the issues emerged agendas got set alternatives were chosen and policies were implemented Through the analysis it is examined how safety and public reassurance were pursued in the countries studied Japan the UK France the USA and Korea Exploration of the successes and failures in their efforts discloses the key elements to successful health risk management

Interfaces between Science and Society Ângela Guimarães Pereira, Sofia Guedes Vaz, Sylvia Tognetti, 2017-09-08 The project of science has been to provide answers to questions about the world and how it works Often this lofty role has been characterised by a narrow and dogmatic scientific training an unwillingness to communicate to differing stakeholder needs a refusal to accept and to manage uncertainty complexity and value commitments and the reduction of knowledge assessment to colleague peer review on narrowly technical issues Times have changed As the world faces increasingly disparate challenges science is subjected to increasingly vehement demands from a society calling for transparency openness and public participation in science policy Science is going through an evolutionary process Perhaps the most painful process it has ever encountered Research on the interfaces between science and society is a burgeoning area A new conception of knowledge now appears to be emerging based on the awareness of complexity uncertainty and a plurality of legitimate perspectives and interests Democracy is extending into the previously quite exclusive scientific realm and science must now submit to public scrutiny and participation in the governance of knowledge This book provides much needed reflections on the methods and tools for knowledge quality assurance particularly on its inputs to extended policy and decision making processes The overall aim is to improve the relationship between science and society The discussion involves six themes communicating between plural perspectives accepting and learning how to manage uncertainty complexity and value commitments acknowledging new conceptions of knowledge implementing transparency openness and participation in science policy valuing community based research and exploring how new ICT can support inclusive governance Taken together these themes provide both a framework and vision on how to conceive discuss and evaluate the changes that are occurring The chapters cover theory practice approaches experiences ideas and suggestions for a move beyond talking the talk to walking the walk Science and policy interfaces are dynamic processes needing to permanently redefine themselves and their roles This book contributes to the enrichment and deepening of our understanding of these important new trends in the social relations of science which are fundamental to our understanding of the prospects for further progress The book will be essential reading for scientists policy makers managers and the public
