Technological Change and Organizational Action Juha Laurila, David Preece, 2003-09-02 In recent decades an extensive array of changes and innovations have taken place in and across work organizations and networks of organizations and workers facilitated by new technologies and technological forms This has initiated an interest in technological change as one of the conditions for organizational action and researchers have begun to draw inspiration from a wider spectrum of conceptual issues perspectives and theoretical traditions This book is interested in the level of praxis and how this might be understood and theorized It brings together a comprehensive collection of empirically grounded and theoretically informed research projects from studies of organizational practice which explore a number of technological changes in a variety of contexts These are informed by contemporary debates within and across theoretical approaches including the sociology of technology work and organizations actor network theory technology as text and metaphor processual and political perspectives social and business network based approaches to the analysis of technology and innovation and the social construction and shaping of technology This book will be essential reading for researchers and advanced students within the field of technology work and organizations and also organization studies and management studies Organizational

Learning and Technological Change Cristina Zuccheromaglio, Sebastiano Bagnara, Susan U. Stucky, 2012-12-06 What the Book Is About This book is about the problem of organizational learning that is the analysis of organizations conceived as learning systems In order to survive in a period of a rapid change organizations must innovate and then to develop and exploit their abilities to learn The most innovative organizations are those that can respond with great efficiency to internal and external changes They respond to and generate technological change by acting as effective learning systems They maximize the learning potential of ongoing and normal work activities The organizational structure and the technology allow members to learn while the organizations itself learns from its members So organizations reach high levels of innovation when structured to take advantage of the social distributed participative situated processes of learning developed by its members in interaction with the technological environment Organizations should consider learning as an explicit productive objective They must create integrated learning mechanisms that encompass technological tools reward and incentive systems human resource practices belief systems access to information communication and mobility patterns performance appraisal systems organizational practices and structures The design of efficient learning organizations requires cognitive technological and social analyses All the computer based technologies e g office automation communication and group decision support not only those devoted to and used in training activities have to be considered as tools for organizational learning and innovation

The SAGE Encyclopedia of Action Research David Coghlan, Mary Brydon-Miller, 2014-08-11 Action research is a term used to describe a family of related approaches that integrate theory and action with a goal of addressing important organizational community and social issues together with those who experience them It focuses on the creation of areas for collaborative learning and the design enactment and evaluation of liberating actions through combining action and research reflection and action in an ongoing cycle of cogenerative knowledge While the roots of these methodologies go back to the 1940s there has been a dramatic increase in research output and adoption in university curricula over the past decade This is now an area of high popularity among academics and researchers from various fields especially business and organization studies education health care nursing development studies and social and community work The SAGE Encyclopedia of Action Research brings together the many strands of action research and addresses the interplay between these disciplines by presenting a state of the art overview and comprehensive breakdown of the key tenets and methods of action research as well as detailing the work of key theorists and contributors to action research

Internationalization, Technological Change and the Theory of the Firm Nicola De Liso, Riccardo Leoncini, 2010-09-13 This book focuses on three main areas each of which is central to economic theorising firms organisation and behaviour technological change and the process of globalisation Each subject can be analysed by using different methods which range from purely theoretical abstractions to case studies and from econometrics to simulations What this collection provides is a broad view of the three topics by concentrating on different aspects of each of them and utilising different methods of investigation Internationalization Technological Change and the Theory of the Firm looks in detail at various questions surrounding firms organisation including why we can observe ordered paths of production whether proximity between firms matters and whether patenting is always worthwhile In addition several essays explore technology and innovation including the persistence cum development of old technologies Furthermore this book focuses on those processes which concern small and medium sized firms considering the usefulness of stage theory the possibilities of production off shoring and the skill composition of manufacturing firms Overall the book is characterised by original ideas renewed applications of mathematical and statistical methods and the use of new databases This valuable collection will be of interest to postgraduates and researchers focusing on innovation theories of the firm and globalisation and should also be useful to a professional readership as it presents up to date research with the aim of improving our understanding of the phenomena of technological change firms strategies and globalisation
