Keeping Alive the Rumor of God Martin Camroux, 2020-08-21 Can't you hear those little bells tinkling Down on your knees They're bringing the sacraments to a dying God wrote Heinrich Heine in 1834 It took a while but today it is happening Across the Western world the traditional picture of God is dying and institutional religion collapsing Today we are trying something never done before living with no agreed narrative that tells us who we are and with a materialist view of life It isn't enough An idea of God may have died but the mystery of our human life is of an inner depth which is not simply physical or material Marvel mystery wonder beauty love the numinous the mysterium tremendum remain the essence of who we are What I am trying to do is describe this experience in such a way that those who have not had it can get a glimpse of it from inside and understand how it can give a life meaning and purpose This is explored through a liberal Christian tradition committed to social justice and honest exploration Scripture is vital to this but so are art poetry music and beauty When most people are looking the other way we must keep the rumor of God alive

Romantic Education in Nineteenth-Century American Literature Monika Elbert, Lesley Ginsberg, 2014-12-05

American publishing in the long nineteenth century was flooded with readers primers teaching training manuals children's literature and popular periodicals aimed at families These publications attest to an abiding faith in the power of pedagogy that has its roots in transatlantic Romantic conceptions of pedagogy and literacy The essays in this collection examine the ongoing influence of Romanticism in the long nineteenth century on American thinking about education as depicted in literary texts in historical accounts of classroom dynamics or in pedagogical treatises They also point out that though this influence was generally progressive the benefits of this social change did not reach many parts of American society This book is therefore an important reference for scholars of Romantic studies American studies historical pedagogy and education
