The Competition Policy Proposal:

The Development of European Competition Policy Brian Shaev, Sigfrido M. Ramírez Pérez, 2024-06-03 This book considers a central issue of our time the relationship between the macroeconomic objectives of political parties in democratic countries and the legal framework of market economies The impressive panel of contributors examines social democratic policies on cartels market concentration and competition in different European countries spanning a hundred year period specifically the interwar period the initial postwar period the 1960s and 1970s the 1980s and 1990s and the 2000s This thought provoking volume challenges the dominant belief that the EU s economic system and competition policy were mainly influenced by neoliberal economic thinking instead showing that Keynesian and social democratic positions played a major role in the emergence of this system It will be valuable reading for advanced students researchers and policymakers interested in modern economic history industrial organization political economy European legal history and political science

International Competition Policy Michael A. Utton, 2006 This book is a welcome and timely addition to the library of materials exploring the implications of the move from internationalisation of trade towards globalisation Michael Hutchings European Competition Law Review This book provides an excellent introduction to the difficult and important issues surrounding international trade and competition policy Douglas A Irwin Dartmouth College US The opening up of world markets rapid growth of trade and foreign direct investment create manifold problems for competition policy Thus international mergers may have adverse effects on many countries international cartels may carve up world markets and dominant firms may seek to maintain their global position by exclusionary conduct. These problems have been recognised for more than half a century and some attempts have been made internationally to address them so far with limited success. This progressive book seeks to explore the problems and concerns that globalisation has created for competition policy. The book begins by setting out the principles of competition and trade policies and then goes on to address the impact of market globalisation on what are usually thought of as traditional antitrust concerns. These include the analysis of the difficulties arising from collusion and other restrictive practices, government sponsored voluntary co-operation, vertical restrictions and market access pricing strategies of dominant firms and international mergers, all illustrated with a number of prominent case studies. The author concludes with an illuminating discussion on the feasibility of international co-operation on competition policy, the faltering progress that has been made so far and the prospects for future advances. This comprehensive volume will prove to be an invaluable resource to students and scholars of law and economics. It will also find wide appeal amongst researchers, policy makers and practitioners with an interest in industrial organisation, antitrust policy and globalisation.

Competition Policy and Intellectual Property in Today's Global Economy Robert D. Anderson, Nuno Pires de Carvalho, Antony Taubman, 2021-08-05. The fast evolving relationship between the promotion of welfare enhancing competition and the balanced protection of intellectual property. IP rights has attracted the attention of policymakers, analysts and scholars. This interest is inevitable in an environment that lays ever greater emphasis on the management of knowledge and innovation and on mechanisms to ensure that the public derives the expected social and economic benefits from this innovation and the spread of knowledge. This book looks at the positive linkage between IP and competition in jurisdictions around the world, surveying developments and policy issues from an international and comparative perspective. It includes analysis of key doctrinal and policy issues by leading academics and practitioners from around the globe and a cutting edge survey of related developments across both developed and developing economies. It also situates current policy developments at the national level in the context of multilateral developments at WIPO, WTO and elsewhere.

European Union Competition Policy versus Industrial Competitiveness Hikaru Yoshizawa, 2021-11-10. The book examines whether EU competition policy is applied fairly and consistently to EU and non EU firms despite persistent political pressure from member states for a relaxation of the rules and deals with the dilemma of regional organisations in the global political economy. Focussing on the EU's desire to achieve balance between the promotion of market competition and the enhancement of international competitiveness, the book explores the validity of its attempts successfully to ensure a stringent competition policy which is nationality blind and comparatively strict. Finally, it shows that the competition competitiveness dilemma remains unresolved because the EU's capability to set global regulatory standards is constrained by competition and the need to engage in multilateral forums such as the WTO and the International
