On Looking Lia Purpura, 2006-08-01 These pieces are not so much essays as prose poems lyrical hymns to beauty and aesthetics Publishers Weekly Lia Purpura's daring new book of lyric essays On Looking is concerned with the aesthetics and ethics of seeing In these elegantly wrought meditations patterns and meanings emerge from confusion the commonplace grows strange and complex beauty reveals its flaws and even the most repulsive object turns gorgeous Purpura's hand is clearly guided by poetry and behaves unpredictably weaving together in one lit instance sugar eggs binoculars and Emerson's words I like the silent church before the sermon begins In Autopsy Report Purpura takes an intimate look at the ruin of our bodies after death examining the dripping fruits of organs and the spine in its wet red earth A similar reverence is held for the alien jellyfish in On Form where she notes that in order to see their particular beauty we have to suspend our fear we have to love contradiction Her essays question art and its responses as well as its responsibilities challenge familiar and familial relationships and alter the borders between the violent and the luminous the harrowing and the sensual Above all Purpura's essays are a call to notice She is writer as telescope kaleidoscope microscope and mirror As she says By seeing I called to things and in turn things called me applied me to their sight and we became each as treasure startling to one another and rare This is indeed a rare and startling treasure of a book from a recipient of numerous awards for both prose and poetry Purpura is the real deal and so is every successive sentence in this collection A cornucopiac vocabulary is married to a strict economy of expression an offbeat curiosity is married to the courage of difficult witnessing Albert Goldbarth Purpura's prose is a system of delicate shocks leaps and connections and syncopated revelations all in the service of the spirit negotiating the truth of its experience Sven Birkerts
