African Literature in the Digital Age Shola Adenekan, 2021 The digital space provides a new avenue to move literature beyond the restrictions of book publishing on the continent Arguing that writers are putting their work on cyberspace because communities are emerging from this space and because increasing numbers of Africans use the internet as part of their day to day engagement with their societies and the world Shola Adenekan explores this transformative development in Nigeria and Kenya both significant countries in African literature and two of the continent's largest digital technology hubs Queer Kenyans and Nigerians find new avenues for their work online where print publishers are refusing to publish short stories and poems on same sex desire Binyavanga Wainaina's rise to critical acclaim arguably started on the literary blog Generator 21 Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie's literary celebrity partly relies on her prolific use of social media to tell the story of powerful Nigerian women With further examples from the development of literature across the continent this innovative book sheds new light on narratives about digital Africa It will also be the first major work to provide a trajectory of class consciousness in Kenyan and Nigerian writing Through this analysis the book articulates the difference in attitudes towards queerness sexuality and hetero normativity among successive generations of writers SHOLA ADENEKAN is an Assistant Professor of Literary and Cultural Analysis at the University of Amsterdam the Netherlands and also the publisher of Thenewblackmagazine.com He was previously a Researcher and Tutor in African Literatures and Cultures at the University of Bremen Germany and a postdoctoral researcher at the University of Bayreuth Germany

Book in Australia Volume 3 Craig Munro, 2006-07 This new volume in UQP's History of the Book in Australia series explores Australian book production and consumption from 1946 to the present day. In the immediate postwar era most books were imported into a colonial market dominated by British publishers. Paper Empires traces this fascinating and volatile half century using wide ranging research, oral history and memoir to explore the worlds of book publishing, selling and reading. After 1945 Australian publishing went from a handful of fledgling businesses to the billion dollar industry of today with thousands of new titles each year and a vast array of imported books. Publishing's postwar expansion began with the baby boom and the increased demand for school texts with independent houses blossoming during the 1960s and 70s followed by the current era dominated by global conglomerates. All aspects of print culture are explored from authorship and editing to bookselling, libraries and reading habits in the context of today's rapidly changing publishing landscape with its many technological challenges. A wide range of expert contributors including book trade practitioners have produced this lively and indispensable account of our vital cultural industry. Design & Applied Arts Index, 2001 Resources in Education, 2001 Silent Cinema Paolo Cherchi Usai, 2019-04-04 Paolo Cherchi Usai provides a comprehensive introduction to the study, research and preservation of silent cinema from its heyday in the early 20th century to its present day flourishing. He traces the history of the moving image in its formative years from Edison's and Lumière's first experiments to the dawn of talkies, provides a clear guide to the basics of silent film technology, introduces the technical and creative roles involved in its production and presents silent cinema as a performance event rather than a passive viewing experience. This new greatly expanded edition takes the reader on a new journey exploring silent cinema in the broader context of technology, culture and society from the invention of celluloid film and its related machinery to film studios, laboratories, theatres and audiences. Among the people involved in the creation of a new art form were filmmakers, actors and writers but also engineers, entrepreneurs and projectionists. Their collective efforts and the struggle to preserve their creative work by archives and museums are interwoven in a compelling story covering three centuries of media history from the magic lantern to the reinvention of silent cinema in digital form. The new edition also includes comprehensive resource information for the study, research, preservation and exhibition of silent cinema. Handbook of Parallel Computing and Statistics Erricos John Kontoghiorghes, 2005-12-21 Technological improvements continue to push back the frontier of processor speed in modern computers. Unfortunately the computational intensity demanded by modern research problems grows even faster. Parallel computing has emerged as the most successful bridge to this computational gap and many popular solutions have emerged based on its concepts. SCCG 2001 Roman Ćuriković, Silvester Czanner, 2001 This volume contains the proceedings of the 17th Spring Conference on Computer Graphics. SCCG 2001 The Arts Therapies Phil Jones, 2004-12 The Arts Therapies provides in one volume a guide to the different disciplines and their current practice and thinking. It presents a clear analysis of the relationship between client, therapist and art form. An exploration of research practice and key contributions made to the field by practitioners internationally and within many different contexts Discussion of how the arts therapies relate to established health services The Arts Therapies A revolution in healthcare is a unique book that provides a thorough and up to date overview of the arts therapies It will prove invaluable to arts therapists health professionals and all those who wish to learn more about the field
