The Continuing Revolution A History Of Lowell Massachusetts:

The Continuing Revolution Robert Weible,1991 When the Air Became Important Janet Greenlees,2019-03-15 Janet Greenlees examines the working environments of the heartlands of the British and American cotton textile industries from the nineteenth to the late twentieth centuries She contends that the air quality within these pioneering workplaces was a key contributor to the health of the wider communities of which they were a part Exploring the Production of Urban Space Michael Edema Leary-Owhin,2016-02-26 This important book engages critically with Lefebvre s spatial theories and challenges recent thinking about the nature of urban space Research in three iconic post industrial cities in the UK and North America explains how urban public spaces including differential space are socially produced Mill Girls and Strangers Wendy M. Gordon,2012-02-01 In the nineteenth century mill towns of Preston England Lowell Massachusetts and Paisley Scotland there were specific demands for migrant and female labor and potential employers provided the necessary respectable conditions in order to attract them Using individual accounts this innovative and comparative study examines the migrants lives by addressing their reasons for migration their relationship to their families the roles they played in the cities to which they moved and the dangers they met as a result of their youth gender and separation from family Gordon details both the similarities and differences in the women s migration experiences and somewhat surprisingly concludes that they became financially independent rather than primarily contributors to a family economy Revitalising Historic Urban Quarters Tim Heath,Taner Oc,Steve Tiesdell,2013-09-13 This book synthesizes urban design and urban regeneration by examining the revitalization of a number of historic urban quarters Its focus is on quarters or areas where there is a significant number of historic buildings concentrated in a small area with places and area based approaches Many cities have such quarters that confer on them a sense of place and identity through their historic continuity and cultural associations The quarters are often an integral element of the city s image and identity The lessons and observations from the experience of the revitalization of such historic urban quarters forms the core of this book with a number of case study examples from North America and Europe showing a variety of approaches to and outcomes of revitalization Empty Mills Timothy J. Minchin,2012-12-16 With the economy struggling there has been much discussion about the effects of deindustrialization on American manufacturing While the steel and auto industries have taken up most of the spotlight the textile and apparel industries have been profoundly affected In Empty Mills Timothy Minchin provides the first book length study of how both industries have suffered since WWII and the unwavering efforts of industry supporters to prevent that decline In 1985 the textile industry accounted for one in eight manufacturing jobs and unlike the steel and auto industries more than fifty percent of the workforce was women or minorities In the last four decades over two million jobs have been lost in the textile and apparel industries alone as more and more of the manufacturing moves overseas Impeccably well researched providing information on both the history and current trends Empty Mills will be of importance to anyone interested in economics labor

the social historical as well as the economic significance of the decline of one of America's biggest industries Female Labour Power: Women Workers' Influence on Business Practices in the British and American Cotton Industries, 1780-1860 Janet Greenlees, 2017-03-02 Britain and America were the first two countries with mechanised cotton manufacturing industries the first major factory systems of production and the first major employers of women outside of the domestic environment The combination of being new wage earners in the first trans national industry and their public prominence as workers makes these women's role as employees significant they set the early standard for women as waged labour to which later female workers were compared This book analyses how women workers influenced patterns of industrial organization and offers a new perspective on relationships between gender and work and on industrial development The primary theme of the study is the attempt to control the work process through co operation coercion and conflict between women workers their male counterparts and manufacturers Drawing upon examples of women's subversive activities and attitudes toward the discourses of labour the book emphasizes the variety of women's work experiences By using this diversity of experience in a comparative way the book reaches conclusions that challenge a variety of historical concepts including separate spheres of influence for men and women and related economic theories for example that women were passive players in the workplace evolutionary theories with respect to industrial development and business culture within and between the two industries Overall it provides the fresh approach that highlights and explains women's agency as operatives and paid workers during industrialization Remapping Asian American History Sucheng Chan, 2003 Remapping Asian American History exemplifies the emerging trends in the writing of Asian American history and fills substantive gaps in our knowledge about particular Asian ethnic groups Edited by noted scholar Sucheng Chan the essays in this volume use new frameworks such as transnationalism the political contexts of international migrations and a multipolar approach to the study of contemporary U S race relations These concerns often ignored in earlier studies that focused on social and economic aspects of Asian American communities challenge some long held assumptions about Asian American communities and point to new directions in Asian American historiography Historians students and teachers of anthropology Asian and Asian American Studies race and ethnic studies U S immigration history and American Studies will find this collection invaluable Back to the Roots Sara Shostak, 2021-05-14 Across the Commonwealth of Massachusetts urban farmers and gardeners are reclaiming cultural traditions linked to food farming and health challenging systemic racism and injustice in the food system demanding greater community control of resources in marginalized neighborhoods and moving towards their visions of more equitable urban futures As part of this urgent work urban farmers and gardeners encounter and reckon with both the cultural meanings and material legacies of the past Drawing on their narratives Back to the Roots demonstrates that urban agriculture is a critical domain for explorations of and challenges to the long standing inequalities that shape both the materiality of cities and the bodies of their inhabitants Linked Labor Histories Aviva Chomsky, 2008-04-01 An analysis of migration labor management collaboration and the mobility of capital based on case studies in New England and Colombia
