Migration Strategies of Birds of Prey in Western Palearctic Michele Panuccio, Ugo Mellone, Nicolantonio Agostini, 2021-07-28 Given their roles in the ecosystem raptors are widely considered the flagship or umbrella species among birds Most species undertake a seasonal journey that is impressive because of the length and the imposing natural barriers such as deserts and seas that they fly over The migration of birds of prey has unique characteristics in the animal world because of their morphology and flight style The flying path of Afro Palearctic migrants between breeding and wintering grounds is determined by several factors such as morphology of the birds geography behavioural adaptations The book analyses the migration patterns of raptors along the Afro Palearctic migratory system and summarizes the recent research on these top predator species Behavioural adaptations such as the importance of social interactions and the modulation of the different flight styles as well as ecological interactions with the encountered environment and weather conditions en route are described in the book Moreover the impact of climate change on the migratory behaviour and key conservation issues are discussed The book provides an overview of the migratory characteristics and flyway patterns of all European raptors species and also some Asian ones These chapters have been written by some of the most important raptor specialists giving a complete picture of the different migration strategies on the basis of both traditional methods and new technologies

Birds of the Strait of Gibraltar Clive Finlayson, 2010-09-30 Clive Finlayson a native of the Rock and a trained ornithologist presents a fascinating account of this region and its resident and transitory bird life The Strait of Gibraltar is famous as a major point of passage for Palaearctic birds migrating between their European breeding grounds and their winter quarters in Africa The first chapter of the book describes the area which broadly defined includes the Coto Donana in the north and the Merja Zerga in the south and the geographic and climatological characteristics which make it a suitable crossing place In scope this book goes beyond the strict definition of the Strait and following Irby's 19th Century work examines the rich area where Europe meets Africa The chapters which follow describe in detail the migration patterns of the principal passage species including their origins destinations and overall numbers showing how the precise conditions of weather and visibility affect the specific choice of route and timing of the crossing The breeding and wintering bird communities are then considered and the ornithology of the entire region summarized Whether or not you have ever witnessed the thousands of raptors storks and other birds that may make this legendary crossing in a single day this book will conjure the spirit of this extraordinary place Delightful illustrations by Ian Willis complete an important and entertaining book
