Style Temper Studies In French Fiction:

Style and Temper Wilbur Merrill Frohock, 1967 The French Novel: Theory and Practice Michael Butor, 2024-10-07

"Ces forces obscures de l'âme" Christine Margerrison, 2008-01-01 This is the first major investigation of Camus's prose fiction to explore the developing presentation of women from the author's earliest writings to his last unfinished novel. Avoiding the traditional relegation of this subject to an emotional or private sphere, it traces Camus's intellectual development in order to demonstrate the centrality of this subject to Camus's work as a whole. If the Absurd constructed over the body of the real woman liberates the writer to follow a true path of literary creation, the impending loss of his Algerian homeland impells a return to all that he had not been free to choose: the ties of blood. These conflictual and unresolved ties are here investigated in conjunction with the presentation of mythical female figures expressing Camus's darkest fears, partly voiced in other writings concerning that other Algeria for which he would never fight. Exploring complex interconnections between sexuality, race, and colonialism, this volume is pertinent to all who are interested in the writings of Camus, particularly those seeking relevant new ways of approaching his work.

Encyclopedia of the Novel Paul Schellinger, 2014-04-08 The Encyclopedia of the Novel is the first reference book that focuses on the development of the novel throughout the world. Entries on individual writers assess the place of that writer within the development of the novel form, explaining why and in exactly what ways that writer is important. Similarly, an entry on an individual novel discusses the importance of that novel, not only from analyzing the particular innovations that novel has introduced and the ways in which it has influenced the subsequent course of the genre. A wide range of topic entries explore the history, criticism, theory, production, dissemination, and reception of the novel. A very important component of the Encyclopedia of the Novel is its long surveys of development of the novel in various regions of the world.

Shaping the Novel Constantina Thalia Mitchell, Paul Raymond Côté, 1996-10-01 The dialogue between form and message is intrinsic to the novel as genre. Yet the strength of that discourse has been shaken in the twentieth century by an increasing doubt about affirmations of any kind and a growing awareness of the relativity of knowledge and perception. The novel reflects this intellectual current by turning its glance inward to mediate on the creative act as a form of self-contained assertion of its own particular significance. The three writers on whom this study focuses—all major twentieth-century authors—were chosen because they can be considered as important representatives of this novelistic self-consciousness. Building on André Malraux's vision of the colloquium as an open-ended verbal interchange, this study calls upon the voices of Anne Hébert and Patrick Modiano to enter into a dialogue on novelistic form.
