Human and Divine Mary Reichardt, 2010 An introduction to recent and emerging Catholic literary works and artists

The Poetry of Les Murray Laurie Hergenhan, Bruce Clunies Ross, 2001 Les Murray is acknowledged as Australia's leading poet the one with the most substantial world recognition Yet the criticism on his work has until now been commensurate with this reputation both in bulk and quality This ground breaking collection of essays ranges across Murray's considerable output examining its lyrical qualities and its remarkable linguistic inventiveness its landscapes and soundscapes its biographical qualities its underlying poetics and world view from the mid length poems to the culminating verse Fredy Neptune Impressive in their depth as well as their coverage these original essays reveal the riches of the poetry Contributors include outstanding Murray scholars new and well known from overseas as well as Australia Those interested in Australian and world poetry teachers students general readers and historians will find this volume an indispensable companion A

Companion to Australian Literature Since 1900 Nicholas Birns, Rebecca McNeer, 2007 A fresh twenty first century look at Australian literature in a broad inclusive and multicultural sense Ted Hughes: Environmentalist and Ecopoet

Yvonne Reddick, 2017-09-06 This book is the first book devoted entirely to Hughes as an environmental activist and writer Drawing on the rapidly growing interest in poetry and the environment the book deploys insights from ecopoetics ecocriticism and Anthropocene studies to analyse how Hughes's poetry reflects his environmental awareness Hughes's understanding of environmental issues is placed within the context of twentieth century developments in green ideology and politics challenging earlier scholars who have seen his work as apolitical The unique strengths of this book lie in its combination of cutting edge insights on ecocriticism with extensive work on the British Library's new Ted Hughes archive It will appeal to readers who enjoy Hughes's work as well as students and academics Invasive and Introduced Plants and Animals Ian D. Rotherham, Robert A. Lambert, 2012-12-06 There have been many well publicized cases of invasive species of plants and animals often introduced unintentionally but sometimes on purpose causing widespread ecological havoc Examples of such alien invasions include pernicious weeds such as Japanese knotweed an introduced garden ornamental which can grow through concrete the water hyacinth which has choked tropical waterways and many introduced animals which have out competed and displaced local fauna This book addresses the broader context of invasive and exotic species in terms of the perceived threats and environmental concerns which surround alien species and ecological invasions As a result of unprecedented scales of environmental change combined with rapid globalisation the mixing of cultures and diversity and fears over biosecurity and bioterrorism the known impacts of particular invasions have been catastrophic However as several chapters show reactions to some exotic species and the justifications for interventions in certain situations including biological control by introduced natural enemies rest uncomfortably with social reactions to ethnic cleansing and persecution perpetrated across the globe The role of democracy in deciding and determining environmental policy is another emerging issue In an increasingly multicultural society this raises huge questions of ethics and choice At the same time in order to redress major ecological losses the science of reintroduction of native species has also come to the fore and is widely accepted by many in nature conservation However with questions of where and when and with what species or even species analogues reintroductions are acceptable the topic is hotly debated Again it is shown that many decisions are based on values and perceptions rather than objective science Including a wide range of case studies from around the world his book raises critical issues to stimulate a much wider debate

The Forms of Youth Stephanie Burt, 2007-09-04 Early in the twentieth century Americans and other English speaking nations began to regard adolescence as a separate phase of life Associated with uncertainty inwardness instability and sexual energy adolescence acquired its own tastes habits subcultures slang economic interests and art forms This new idea of adolescence became the driving force behind some of the modern era's most original poetry Stephen Burt demonstrates how adolescence supplied the inspiration and at times the formal principles on which many twentieth century poets founded their works William Carlos Williams and his contemporaries fashioned their American verse in response to the idealization of new kinds of youth in the 1910s and 1920s W H Auden's early work Philip Larkin's verse Thom Gunn's transatlantic poetry and Basil Bunting's late modernist masterpiece Briggflatts all track the development of adolescence in Britain as it moved from the private space of elite schools to the urban public space of sixties subcultures The diversity of American poetry from the Second World War to the end of the sixties illuminates poets' reactions to the idea that teenagers juvenile delinquents hippies and student radicals might for better or worse transform the nation George Oppen Gwendolyn Brooks and Robert Lowell in particular built and rebuilt their sixties styles in reaction to changing concepts of youth Contemporary poets continue to fashion new ideas of youth Laura Kasischke and Jorie Graham focus on the discoveries of a specifically female adolescence The Irish poet Paul Muldoon and the Australian poet John Tranter use teenage perspectives to represent a postmodernist uncertainty Other poets have rejected traditional and modern ideas of adolescence preferring instead to view this age as a reflection of the uncertainties and restricted tastes of the way we live now The first comprehensive study of adolescence in twentieth century poetry The Forms of Youth recasts the history of how English speaking cultures began to view this phase of life as a valuable state of consciousness if not the very essence of a Western identity

Narrative and Voice in Postwar Poetry Neil Roberts, 2014-05-12 Poetry in English since the Second World War has produced a number of highly original narrative works as diverse as Derek Walcott's Omeros Ted Hughes' Gaudete and Anne Stevenson's Correspondences At the same time poetry in general has been permeated by narrative features particularly those linguistic characteristics that Mikhail Bakhtin considered peculiar to the novel and which he termed dialogic This book examines the narrative and dialogic elements in the work of a range of poets from Britain America Ireland Australia and the Caribbean including poetry from the immediate postwar years to the contemporary and novel like narratives to personal lyrics Its unifying theme is the way in which these poets with such contrasting styles and from such varied backgrounds respond to and creatively adapt the language worlds and hence the social worlds in which they live The volume includes a detailed bibliography to assist students in further study and will be a valuable resource to undergraduate and postgraduate students of contemporary poetry

Literary Form as Postcolonial Critique Katharine Burkitt, 2016-05-06 Focusing on works by Derek Walcott Les Murray Anne Carson and Bernardine Evaristo Katharine Burkitt investigates the relationship between literary form and textual politics in postcolonial narrative poems and verse novels Burkitt argues that these works disrupt and undermine the traditions of particular forms and genres and most notably the expectations attached to the prose novel poetry and epic This subversion of form Burkitt argues is an important aspect of the texts postcoloniality as they locate themselves critically in relation to literary convention and they are all concerned with matters of social racial and national identities in a world where these categories are inherently complicated In addition the awareness of epic tradition in these texts unites them as post epics in that as they reuse the myths and motifs of a variety of epics they question the status of the form demonstrate it to be inherently malleable and regenerate its stories for the contemporary world As she examines the ways in which postcolonial texts rewrite the traditions of classical epics for the twentieth and twenty first centuries Burkitt ties close textual analysis to a critical intervention in the politics of form

Fredy Neptune Les Murray, 2025-09-23 A riveting beautiful novel in verse by Australia's greatest contemporary poet winner of the 1996 T S Eliot Prize I never learned the old top ropes I was always in steam Less capstan less climbing more re stowing cargo Which could be hard and slow as farming but to say Why this is Valparaiso Or I m in Singapore and know my way about takes a long time to get stale from Book I The Middle Sea When German Australian sailor Friedrich Fredy Boettcher is shanghaied aboard a German Navy battleship at the outbreak of World War I the sight of frenzied mobs burning Armenian women to death in Turkey causes him through moral shock to lose his sense of touch This mysterious disability which he knows he must hide is both protection and curse as he orbits the high horror and low humor of a catastrophic age Told in a blue collar English that regains freshness by eschewing the mind set of literary language Fredy's picaresque life as perhaps the only Nordic Superman ever is deep dyed in layers of irony and attains a mind inverting resolution

Les Murray Steven Matthews, 2001 In the only full critical study of Les Murray's work Steven Matthews provides a complete account of the poet's career to date A controversial figure Murray's version of Australian republicanism has caused heated argument about the future direction of his country as it moves away from its colonial past With detailed readings of major poems and literary and cultural contexts surrounding the work Matthews gives an overview of Murray's place in Australian literature and national thought
