Creating Entrepreneurial Community Colleges Carrie B. Kisker, 2024-08-19 In this book Carrie B Kisker illustrates how community colleges can utilize design thinking to identify and evaluate entrepreneurial opportunities and experiment with the internal changes necessary to optimize outcomes for stakeholders Kisker outlines a process whereby college leaders can empower faculty and staff to think creatively about how to reduce their institution's dependence on state allocations in ways that not only are consistent with the college's mission and values but also provide the greatest likelihood for institutional and student success. The book presents evidence drawn from case studies at four community colleges along with in-depth qualitative interviews with leaders, faculty and staff who have been involved in their institution's entrepreneurial efforts. The featured colleges Maricopa Community Colleges AZ, Tarrant County College TX, North Iowa Area Community College and Valencia College FL all have long histories of engaging in entrepreneurial initiatives. By telling the stories of several influential community college leaders' experiences with entrepreneurship using design thinking as a framework for understanding their successes and failures, Kisker provides a road map for colleges to move beyond their historical pattern of incremental responses to external pressures and instead begin to innovate in a creative mission-oriented way.

Advancement Work in Student Affairs: The Challenges and Strategies Thomas E. Miller, 2010-06-21. Readers are encouraged to consider fundraising an essential component of their future as student affairs professionals. Chapter topics discussed include: The context for development work in student affairs; Getting started in student affairs development; Student affairs and alumni relations; Fundraising for student affairs at comprehensive institutions; Entrepreneurialism in student affairs; the Eckerd College Waterfront Program story; More than an open door: deploying philanthropy to student access and success in American Community Colleges; Suggestions for the path ahead. Student affairs divisions need to find ways to support themselves and move toward self-reliance and self-determination. The most important aspect of student affairs practice will always be in the context of institutional frameworks and mission, and it will always be characterized as a collaborative partnership with others. However, the best of student affairs operations will at the same time be characterized as self-sufficient, carrying their own weight, a goal best accomplished through a commitment to development work and fundraising. This volume aims to help student affairs professionals realize that goal. This is the 130th volume of the Jossey-Bass higher education quarterly report series New Directions for Student Services. An indispensable resource for vice presidents of student affairs, deans of students, student counselors and other student services professionals. New Directions for Student Services offers guidelines and programs for aiding students in their total development: emotional, social, physical and intellectual.

Budget and Finance in the American Community College Trudy H. Bers, Ronald B. Head, James C. Palmer, 2015-01-12. In this volume of New Directions for Community Colleges, key issues and practices will be addressed on the following topics: The contemporary challenge of meeting growing demands for increased student persistence and success; diminishing state support for higher education; new calls for accountability and ways to measure institutional effectiveness; the increasing reliance of many community colleges on grants and other sources of revenue; and college policies that have significant financial ramifications. page 4 of cover

The American Community College Arthur M. Cohen, Florence B. Brawer, 2009-10-30. Praise for The American Community College Since 1982 The American Community College by Cohen and Sustaining Financial Support for Community Colleges Stephen G. Katsinas, 2005 Sustaining fiscal support for community colleges has becoming increasingly difficult in an era marked by recurrent recessions legislator reluctance to raise taxes and intense competition for scarce resources from health care K 12 education and other pressing demands on state treasuries After introductory chapters that provide historical political and economic perspectives on the fiscal environment in which community colleges operate this volume describes institutional approaches to securing adequate funding in the face of fiscal uncertainty Chapter authors provide guidelines for fundraising leveraging corporate support through cooperative education programs securing government grants for workforce development managing mill levy elections for increased local tax support and realigning budget priorities in the face of economic downturns The volume also discusses the implications of today s changing fiscal environment for community college presidents and the skills they need to sustain adequate funding in the face of unpredictable revenue streams This is the 132nd volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Community Colleges

Financing Community Colleges Richard M. Romano, James C. Palmer, 2015-11-09 Grounded in an economic perspective Financing Community Colleges Where We Are Where We re Going helps college leaders make sense of the challenges they face in securing and managing the resources needed to carry out the community college mission Finance has perpetually been an Achilles heel for leaders at all levels of management With the premise that leaders are better at winning battles they know something about this book equips leaders with an understanding of the fundamentals and the complexities of community college finance It tackles current and emerging issues with insight that is analytic and prophetic a must read for current and prospective leaders in the Community College Robert C. Cloud, 2004-05-10 Community colleges exist in a highly litigious society and their leaders are confronted with numerous legal issues as they carry out assigned duties Some of those issues are not new to postsecondary education Examples include governing board relations academic freedom and tenure collective bargaining and employment issues Other issues newer to the community college include student rights codes of conduct accommodation of disabled students campus safety distance education intellectual property rights and risk management Community college leaders must find ways to resolve or mitigate these and other issues if their colleges are to continue providing exemplary services to students from publisher Developing and Implementing Assessment of Student Learning Outcomes Andreea M. Serban, 2004-08-18 As a result of changes in accreditation standards and state mandates community colleges are under increased pressure to produce evidence of student learning and achievement Accreditation standards and state accountability mandates are asking community colleges to produce comprehensive systems for assessing student learning outcomes that go beyond course grades and number of degrees and certificates awarded What is being requested is actual evidence of what students have learned at the course program and certificate and degree levels This volume provides examples that community colleges can apply to measuring student learning outcomes at the classroom course program and institutional levels to satisfy local state and accreditation requirements for assessing learning outcomes as a means for improving student success from cover Comprehensive Reform for Student Success Nan L. Maxwell, Ann E. Person, 2017-01-19 Community colleges face pressure to do more with less that have prompted many college leaders to consider fundamental changes to the ways they have typically done business Because piecemeal solutions have not often been effective or efficient colleges are moving far beyond discreet programs or interventions and are attempting to implement comprehensive reform efforts This volume conceptualizes comprehensive reform as being marked by a focus on student success a theory of change that ties programmatic components together in an intentional and cohesive package implemented at multiple levels throughout the college and touching the majority of students and a culture of evidence that uses data to continuously assess programs and processes against student success Presenting original analyses that describe the rationale for comprehensive reform this volume examines the challenges involved in implementing evaluating and sustaining those efforts This is the 176th volume of this Jossey Bass quarterly report series Essential to the professional libraries of presidents vice presidents deans and other leaders in today's open door institutions New Directions for Community Colleges provides expert guidance in meeting the challenges of their distinctive and expanding educational mission Enterprising Worlds Jay D. Gatrell, Neil Reid, 2007-05-16 Enterprising World represents the culmination of several years of work by geographers planners and economists The chapters represent the collective efforts of the International Geographical Union's Commission on the Dynamics of Economic Spaces This collection is the result of the 2005 annual meeting in Toledo Ohio USA The chapters have been selected based on their contribution to the broader community of economic geographers and policymakers and to demonstrate the inherent interconnectedness of these themes and at times the conceptual tension that exists between ethics economics and the environment insofar as these important issues shape the contours and cleavages of contemporary regional development In particular the chapters represent the diversity of perspectives on these issues The authors provide insight into the workings of a variety of communities regions and nations as they seek to balance economic growth with the growing necessity to simultaneously promote ethical and sustainable regional development As such this book is truly international in both scale and scope and provides the reader with a survey of emerging and established concepts theories and conflicts in economic geography

The Community College Baccalaureate
 Deborah L. Floyd, Michael L. Skolnik, Kenneth P. Walker, 2023-07-03 Is the conferring of baccalaureate degrees by community colleges a solution to increasing access to and capacity in higher education Will the conferring of baccalaureate degrees restrict open access to and imperil the existing mission of community colleges What are the models and alternative methods of delivery What are the implications Breaking away from their traditional mission of conferring only associate degrees and occupational credentials an increasing number of community colleges have begun seriously to explore and indeed in some U S states and Canadian provinces to actually implement offering and conferring bachelor s degrees Some leaders see these changes as a natural extension of community colleges commitment to access while others view their awarding of baccalaureate degrees as inappropriate and threatening the basic core values of this unique sector of higher education This has become a hot and controversial topic not only among community college and university leaders but also among policy makers business leaders and students concerned with issues of access cost and the structure and purposes of post secondary education This book analyzes the emerging trend of the community college baccalaureate degree in the United States and Canada in order to contribute to the development of policy The authors aim to describe document and explain this significant development in higher education They present the background examples of practice and different models of delivery develop a common terminology to facilitate discussion give voice to the views of proponents and critics alike and include a comprehensive bibliography and set of resources This book is intended as a catalyst for dialog action and further research on this critical and emerging trend It is essential reading for leaders of community colleges for administrators and planners in higher education concerned with issues of access and articulation and anyone in public policy grappling with demographic trends and society s need for educated citizens able to meet the challenges of the future

Resources in Education
 ,2001-10 Latino Educational Opportunity Catherine L. Horn, Stella M. Flores, Gary Orfield, 2006-04-21 The studies presented in this volume of New Directions for Community Colleges aim to foster a better understanding of the ways in which community colleges provide Latino students with educational access and opportunity State and federal policy has increasingly looked to the community college to educate Latinos the largest minority group in the United States and other students traditionally underrepresented in higher education Indeed Latinos enroll in community colleges at rates higher than those for any other racial or ethnic group Although research has been done to study the influence of various contributors to Latino opportunity such as immigration policy language and academic opportunity the profound and confounding influence of these factors remains underexplored This volume provides and underscores the importance of serious scholarship towards this vital set of institutions and their students Presidents and Analysts Discuss Contemporary Challenges John J. Prihoda, 2012-01-05 Since their inception America's community colleges have undergone continuous change They must because their mission is to provide learning vital for those who face local as well as global transformations and that requires vigilant vigorous commitment This volume contains insights from men and women who have led the thinking and practice in these colleges to current historical heights They were asked to forecast solutions to today's most critical problems as well as to identify opportunities that will likely engage tomorrow's community college leaders In addition a prevailing university authority was asked to review the support system traditionally relied upon to provide expertise to faculty and administrators Presidents and Analysts Discuss Contemporary Issues collects decades of experience from extraordinary leaders and places that wisdom in readers hands This is the 156th volume of this Jossey Bass quarterly report series Essential to the professional libraries of presidents vice presidents deans and other leaders in today's open door institutions New Directions for Community Colleges provides expert guidance in meeting the challenges of their distinctive and expanding educational mission The Nonprofit Manager's Resource Directory Ronald A.
