Starvation in a Land of Plenty Michael Cathcart, 2013-10-01 When Robert O Hara Burke and William John Wills set out on their fateful journey with the Victorian Exploring Expedition Wills brought with him a diary in which to record his experiences His entries would go on to help historians understand the circumstances that led to the tragic end of the expedition Today the diary is held by the National Library of Australia and forms the foundation of Starvation in a Land of Plenty Between 23 April and 28 June 1861 Wills documented the torments and disappointments that led to his and Burke's destruction Surprising to many though Wills was not the second in command but rather the party's surveyor astronomical and meteorological observer His resulting misfortune and the words he left behind have transformed the young English surveyor into both an Australian martyr and hero Combined with images from the Library's collection this poignant and telling publication draws on Wills at times matter of fact account of his fatal weeks revealing him to have been a man of great dignity and bravery

Journey To Cooper's Creek Hermann Beckler, 2013-04-01 First hand accounts of the myth laden Burke and Wills expedition are remarkably few in contrast to the reams of subsequent commentary and conjecture Wills's journal and statements by others in the party were published at the time but little more Hermann Beckler botanical collector and doctor to the expedition wrote the only other substantial account in his native German The manuscript remained with his family for nearly a century It is now published for the first time This highly readable account with drawings and maps offers insights into the causes of the expedition's failure an ill chosen leader and route and inappropriate and excessive supplies In increasingly desperate conditions Beckler collected and identified the native flora and recorded vivid and positive descriptions of the landscape and the Aboriginal people His acute observations indicate what might have been achieved had the expedition pursued its scientific brief      The History of Discovery in Australia, Tasmania, and New Zealand William Howitt, 1865      The History of Discovery in Australia, Tasmania, and New Zealand William Howitt, 2022-03-31 Reprint of the original first published in 1865 From the earliest date to the present day In two volumes      The Aboriginal Story of Burke and Wills Ian Clark, Fred Cahir, 2013-07-22 The Aboriginal Story of Burke and Wills is the first major study of Aboriginal associations with the Burke and Wills expedition of 1860 61 A main theme of the book is the contrast between the skills perceptions and knowledge of the Indigenous people and those of the new arrivals and the extent to which this affected the outcome of the expedition The book offers a reinterpretation of the literature surrounding Burke and Wills using official correspondence expedition journals and diaries visual art and archaeological and linguistic research and then complements this with references to Aboriginal oral histories and social memory It highlights the interaction of expedition members with Aboriginal people and their subsequent contribution to Aboriginal studies The book also considers contemporary and multi disciplinary critiques that the expedition members were on the whole deficient in bush craft especially in light of the expedition s failure to use Aboriginal guides in any systematic way Generously illustrated with historical photographs and line drawings The Aboriginal Story of Burke and Wills is an important resource for Indigenous people Burke and Wills history enthusiasts and the wider community This book is the outcome of an Australian Research Council project      Catalogue Maggs Bros, 1902
