Sudden Death A Survivors Story:

A Plane Crash Survivor'S Miraculous True Story Samuel Aigbe,2013-08-21 Samuel Aigbe was one of ten survivors of the Kenya Airways flight KQ431 plane crash over the coast of Abidjan Ivory Coast on 30th January 2000 of which there were 169 fatalities He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Political Science and Public Administration from the University of Benin Edo State Nigeria In the aftermath of the plane crash he gained two postgraduate degrees Master of Arts in Human Rights Ethics and International Relations and Master of Law in International Law with International Relations both from The University of Kent Canterbury Samuel Aigbe vividly brings to light the incidents prior during and after the crash He shares his life as a testament of the goodness of God that saw him through that gruesome moment in the harmattan seasonal freezing hazy wind from the Sahara desert in the dark Atlantic Ocean off the coast of Africa He recounts how his faith saw him through that dreadful moment before being fished out by two white French fishermen into their boat For more information and ideas please visit www.samuelaigbe.com Stories of a Survivor Dr. Norbert Kerenyi,2011-02-24 The writer depicts the dangerous adventures of his childhood and youth in Second World War Hungary under Fascism the eventful years full of humorous moments in the post war communist dictatorship and the interesting stories of his career in Canada since 1957 Reading the book is remembrance and amusement tears and laughter nostalgia and excitement with ironic sometimes sarcastic humor He looked death in the face as a child who had to grow up suddenly and did the same later as a pathologist as well His unique way of looking at all the things he had to face in his life led him to the firm conviction In all of us DOES EXIST the ability to survive We are almost invincible We can survive anything except our death

Perspectives on the Experience of Sudden, Unexpected Child Death Denise Turner,2017-10-27 This book combines autobiography and innovative narrative research to create an original psychosocial perspective on the often taboo subject of sudden unexpected child death Beginning with the author s own experience the book investigates manifold aspects of sudden unexpected child death including the professional rapid response contemporary cultural reactions to death theories of grieving child death inquiries and popular media reporting At the heart of the book are intimate personal stories drawn from unprecedented psychosocial research on this topic which combine to create a unique record of parent s experiences following the sudden and unexpected death of a child Additionally the book offers original guidance on the Biographic Narrative Interpretive methodology which extends knowledge of group data analysis The book will be of great methodological interest to the psychosocial community as well as to health and social care professionals and lay readers interested in both sudden unexpected child death and the wider field The AfterGrief Hope Edelman,2020 A validating new approach to the long term grieving process that explains why we feel stuck why that s normal and how shifting our perception of grief can help us grow from the New York Times bestselling author of Motherless Daughters This is perhaps one of the most important books about grief ever written It finally dispels the myth that we are all supposed to get over the death of a loved one Claire Bidwell Smith author of Anxiety The Missing Stage of Grief Aren't you over it yet Anyone who has experienced a major loss in their past knows this question We've spent years fielding versions of it both explicit and implied from family colleagues acquaintances and friends We recognize the subtle cues the slight eyebrow lift the soft startled Oh That long ago from those who wonder how an event so far in the past can still occupy so much precious mental and emotional real estate Because of the common but false assumption that grief should be time limited too many of us believe we're grieving wrong when sadness suddenly resurges sometimes months or even years after a loss The AfterGrief explains that the death of a loved one isn't something most of us get over get past put down or move beyond Grief is not an emotion to pass through on the way to feeling better Instead grief is in constant motion it is tidal easily and often reactivated by memories and sensory events and is re-triggered as we experience life transitions anniversaries and other losses Whether we want it to or not grief gets folded into our developing identities where it informs our thoughts hopes expectations behaviors and fears and we inevitably carry it forward into everything that follows Drawing on her own encounters with the ripple effects of early loss as well as on interviews with dozens of researchers therapists and regular people who've been bereaved New York Times bestselling author Hope Edelman offers profound advice for reassessing loss and adjusting the stories we tell ourselves about its impact on our identities With guidance for reframing a story of loss finding equilibrium within it and even experiencing renewed growth and purpose in its wake she demonstrates that though grief is a lifelong process it doesn't have to be a lifelong struggle

At Home with Grief Blake Paxton, 2018-01-19 What would you say to a deceased loved one if they could come back for one day What if you can't just move on from grief At Home with Grief Continued Bonds with the Deceased chronicles Blake Paxton's autoethnographic study of his continued relationship with his deceased mother In the 90s Silverman Klass and Nickman argued that after the death of a loved one the bond does not have to be broken and the bereaved can find many ways to connect with memories of the dead Building on their work many other bereavement scholars have discussed the importance of not treating these relationships as pathological and have suggested that more research is needed in this area of grief studies However very few studies have addressed the communal and everyday subjective experiences of continuing bonds with the deceased as well as how our relationship with our grief changes in the long term In this book Blake Paxton shows how a community in southern Illinois continues a relationship with one deceased individual more than ten years after her death Through this gripping autoethnographic account of his mother's struggles with a rare cancer her death and his struggles with sexuality he poses possibilities of what might happen when cultural prescriptions for grief are challenged and how continuing bonds with the dead may help us continue or restore broken bonds with the living

Revision Carolyn Ellis, 2016-07 This volume collects a dozen of Ellis's autoethnographic stories with a layering of new interpretations reflections and vignettes to her older work

Pacific War Stories: In the Words of Those Who Survived, 2011-09-27 This is the most extensive collection published to date of first person oral histories on so many diverse aspects of the war in the Pacific told in gripping eyewitness accounts by more than seventy veterans from all branches of service In this new book by the authors of Pacific Legacy Image and Memory of World War II in the Pacific the history of the War in the Pacific comes vividly to life in the words of those who witnessed it first hand The editors create for the reader as the veterans themselves recall it what that war was like how it looked felt smelled and sounded The stories collected here are a unique portrayal of the mundane exotic boring terrifying life altering events that made up their wartime experiences in World War II in the Pacific a war fought on countless far flung islands over an area that constitutes about one third of the globe What the veterans saw and lived through has stayed with them their entire lives and much of it comes to the surface again through their vivid memories This is an important book for military buffs as well as for the survivors of World War II and their families The narratives grouped into fifteen thematic chronologically arranged chapters are stirring first hand accounts from front line combat at the epicenter of violence and death to restless weary boredom on rear area islands thousands of miles from the fighting While their experiences differed all were changed by what happened to them in the Pacific These are not the stories of sweeping strategies or bold moves by generals and admirals Instead we hear from men and women on the lower rungs including ordinary seamen on vessels that encountered Japanese warships and planes and sometimes came out second best rank and file Marines who were in amtracs churning toward bullet swept tropical beaches and saw their buddies killed beside them and astounded eyewitnesses to the war s sudden start on December 7 1941 Congressional Record United States. Congress,2009 The Congressional Record is the official record of the proceedings and debates of the United States Congress It is published daily when Congress is in session The Congressional Record began publication in 1873 Debates for sessions prior to 1873 are recorded in The Debates and Proceedings in the Congress of the United States 1789 1824 the Register of Debates in Congress 1824 1837 and the Congressional Globe 1833 1873 Writing Anthropology Carole McGranahan,2020-05-01 In Writing Anthropology fifty two anthropologists reflect on scholarly writing as both craft and commitment These short essays cover a wide range of territory from ethnography genre and the politics of writing to affect storytelling authorship and scholarly responsibility Anthropological writing is more than just communicating findings anthropologists write to tell stories that matter to be accountable to the communities in which they do their research and to share new insights about the world in ways that might change it for the better The contributors offer insights into the beauty and the function of language and the joys and pains of writing while giving encouragement to stay at it to keep writing as the most important way to not only improve one s writing but to also honor the stories and lessons learned through research Throughout they share new thoughts prompts and agitations for writing that will stimulate conversations that cut across the humanities Contributors Whitney Battle Baptiste Jane Eva Baxter Ruth Behar Adia Benton Lauren Berlant Robin M Bernstein Sarah Besky Catherine Besteman Yarimar Bonilla Kevin Carrico C Anne Claus Sienna R Craig Zo Crossland Lara Deeb K Drybread Jessica Marie Falcone Kim Fortun Kristen R Ghodsee Daniel M Goldstein Donna M Goldstein Sara L Gonzalez
