M. Johnstone, J. D. Latham, R. B. Serjeant, 1990-03-30 This volume of The Cambridge History of Arabic Literature covers artistic prose and poetry produced in the heartland and provinces of the Abbasid empire during the second great period of Arabic literature from the mid eighth to the thirteenth centuries AD Abbasid literature was characterised by the emergence of many new genres and of a scholarly and sophisticated critical consciousness This volume deals chronologically with the main genres and provides extended studies of major poets prose writers and literary theorists It concludes with a comprehensive survey of the relatively unknown literature of the Yemen to appear in a European language since the manuscript discoveries of recent years To make the material accessible to non specialist readers Abbasid authors are quoted in English translation wherever possible and clear explanations of their literary techniques and conventions are provided With chapters by leading specialists from the Middle East Europe and America the volume represents a wide cross section of current academic opinion Medicine and the Saints Ellen J. Amster, 2013-08-15 The colonial encounter between France and Morocco took place not only in the political realm but also in the realm of medicine Because the body politic and the physical body are intimately linked French efforts to colonize Morocco took place in and through the body Starting from this original premise Medicine and the Saints traces a history of colonial embodiment in Morocco through a series of medical encounters between the Islamic sultanate of Morocco and the Republic of France from 1877 to 1956 Drawing on a wealth of primary sources in both French and Arabic Ellen Amster investigates the positivist ambitions of French colonial doctors sociologists philologists and historians the social history of the encounters and transformations occasioned by French medical interventions and the ways in which Moroccan nationalists ultimately appropriated a French model of modernity to invent the independent nation state Each chapter of the book addresses a different problem in the history of medicine international espionage and a doctor's murder disease and revolt in Moroccan cities a battle for authority between doctors and Muslim midwives and the search for national identity in the welfare state This research reveals how Moroccans ingested and digested French science and used it to create a nationalist movement and Islamist politics and to understand disease and health In the colonial encounter the Muslim body became a seat of subjectivity the place from which individuals contested and redefined the political Introduction to Traditional Islam Jean-Louis Michon, 2008-07-30 Behind the clamorous headlines of militant and political Islam lies a more serene and cultivated form of traditional Islam Jean Louis Michon a UNESCO advisor tasked with preserving the architectural and artistic heritage of Islam unveils this lesser known dimension of the world's second largest religion The Story of the Qur'an Ingrid Mattson, 2013-02-18 This popular introduction by a well known Islamic scholar has been updated and expanded offering a balanced portrayal of the Qur'an and its place in historic and contemporary Muslim society Features new sections on the Qur'an and its relationship to democracy science human rights and the role of women Contains expanded sections on the Qur'an in the life cycle of Muslims and in Islamic ethics and law Incorporates additional images and student features including a glossary Supported by an accompanying website available on publication hosting a range of additional material including student resources links to important websites news stories and more This title is also available as an eTextbook on the CourseSmart platform as a Wiley Desktop Edition or via your preferred eTextbook vendor eTextbooks offer convenience enhanced electronic functionality and flexible pricing options learn more at www.wiley.com/college/wileyflex Interpreting the Self Dwight F. Reynolds, 2023-11-15 Autobiography is a literary genre which Western scholarship has ascribed mostly to Europe and the West Countering this assessment and presenting many little known texts this comprehensive work demonstrates the existence of a flourishing tradition in Arabic autobiography Interpreting the Self discusses nearly one hundred Arabic autobiographical texts and presents thirteen selections in translation The authors of these autobiographies represent an astonishing variety of geographical areas occupations and religious affiliations This pioneering study explores the origins historical development and distinctive characteristics of autobiography in the Arabic tradition drawing from texts written between the ninth and nineteenth centuries c e This volume consists of two parts a general study rethinking the place of autobiography in the Arabic tradition and the translated texts Part one demonstrates that there are far more Arabic autobiographical texts than previously recognized by modern scholars and shows that these texts represent an established and especially in the Middle Ages well known category of literary production The thirteen translated texts in part two are drawn from the full one thousand year period covered by this survey and represent a variety of styles Each text is preceded by a brief introduction guiding the reader to specific features in the text and providing general background information about the author The volume also contains an annotated bibliography of 130 premodern Arabic autobiographical texts In addition to presenting much little known material this volume revisits current understandings of autobiographical writing and helps create an important cross cultural comparative framework for studying the genre Autobiography is a literary genre which Western scholarship has ascribed mostly to Europe and the West Countering this assessment and presenting many little known texts this comprehensive work demonstrates the existence of a flourishing tradition in Arabic autobiography Religion in World History John C. Super, Briane K. Turley, 2006-08-21 In Religion and World History distinguished authors John C Super and Briane K Turley examine the value of religion for interpreting the human experience in the past and present They explore the elements of religion which best connect it to the cultural and political dynamics that have influenced history Working within this framework Super and Turley present three unifying themes the relationship between formal and informal religious beliefs how these change through time and how they are reflected in different cultures the relationship between church and state from theocracies to the repression of religion the ongoing search for spiritual certainty and the consequent splintering of core religious beliefs and the development of new ones One of the few recent books to examine religion's role in geopolitical affairs its unique approach enables the reader to grasp the many and complex ways in which religion acts upon and reacts to broader global processes

Ibn 'Ata Illah-Kwaja Abdullah Ansari Victor Danner, Wheeler M. Thackston, 1978 Two early Sufi classics are contained here in one volume They embody the essence of spiritual life in the Islamic tradition Ibn Ata Illah c 1250 1309 was a Sufi saint and sage who lived in Egypt Kwaja Abdullah Ansari 1006 1089 was one of major early writers of Persian mystical literature

Love in the Time of Ethnography Lucinda Carspecken, 2017-11-15 Love in the Time of Ethnography explores love variously defined as an important facet of human life and a worthy focus of study The authors look at love in association with an Alevi and Sunni couple in Turkey organizers of Mexican American and immigrant youth movements Christian missionaries in China an elderly man with dementia two women coming home to queer identity a White researcher working with Black women in the US the common ground between Dogen's Zen teachings and Habermas's critical theory an Albanian Sufi community in Michigan and interactions between humans and the natural world It also includes theoretical writing on the place of love in social analysis whether this involves relationships between researchers and participants or the nature of human connection itself The authors argue that social research is an affective process as well as a cognitive one and that fellow feeling is an essential component of making sense of the world Along with more traditional scholarly forms the contributors to this book use auto ethnography life stories archival research and poetry noting that style itself conveys information and emotion Writing is always to some extent partisan While anthropologists and other social researchers have explored this idea over the last few decades they have more often explored it with an eye to critique than to the ideals underlying that critique This is a collection of essays about what ethnographers are aiming for as well as the problems they address and the authors discuss ethical principles like agape hizmet and carifio as rationales for ethnography and rationales for social change

Encyclopedia of Islamic Civilisation and Religion Ian Richard Netton, 2013-12-19 The Encyclopedia of Islamic Civilization and Religion provides scholarly coverage of the religion culture and history of the Islamic world at a time when that world is undergoing considerable change and is a focus of international study and debate The non Muslim world's perceptions of Islam have often tended to be dominated by unrepresentative radical extremist movements and media interpretations of events involving such movements to the extent that many people are unaware of the depth and variety of Islamic thought At the same time many who have had a formal training in Islamic studies have tended to concentrate on the traditional to the exclusion of the contemporary The Encyclopedia of Islamic Civilization and Religion covers the full range of Islamic thought in historical depth but it also provides substantial coverage of contemporary trends across the Muslim world With well over a thousand entries on Islamic theology history arts science law and institutions and coverage of Islam in individual countries and cities around the world the Encyclopedia of Islamic Civilization and Religion provides an extremely rich resource for students and researchers in religious studies and Middle Eastern studies Entries are cross referenced and bibliographies are provided There is a full index Routledge published The Qur'an An Encyclopedia in 2005 an excellent companion to the Encyclopedia of Islamic Civilization and Religion

Warriors, Merchants, and Slaves, 1987 Over the course of two centuries the region of the Middle Niger valley of the Western Sudan was dominated by three successive states the indigenous Segu Bambara state the Islamic Umariyan state and the French colonial state In each of these states warriors were the rulers and not surprisingly warfare was the primary expression of state power The survival of each state depended on its ability to reproduce its capacity to make war in order to do so the warrior state intervened in the economy In each of the three states the interrelationship of warfare the state and the economy produced different results How the state actually intervened in the economy and how this intervention influenced the structure and performance of the economy is the subject of this book During the 200 years under study the regional economy of the Middle Niger valley expanded and contracted in response to the state's capacity to provide conditions favorable to commercial development capital accumulation and investment When the Segu Bambara state was able to control the autonomy of its warriors the state encouraged the expansion of the regional economy The Umariyans on the other hand preyed upon producers within the region and created conditions that discouraged long term investments The very success of the French conquest initially encouraged investment especially in the form of slaves After 1894 however conflict between civilian colonial authorities and the French military undermined the economic and social foundations erected by the military From 1905 to 1914 slaves left their masters and helped once again to transform the structure and performance of the economy

Reading the Signs Mohammad Hashim Kamali, 2018-09-15 Advanced in this paper is a Qur'anic perspective on thinking rationality and critical reason which in its critical and goal oriented dimensions provides a set of guidelines that ensures its purity and purpose from negative reductionist influences The guidelines so provided are also rich in advancing a spiritual dimension with the understanding that thinking which is not informed by morality and faith can lose its direction and purpose and can even become harmful to human welfare The paper begins with a discussion of the divine signs the ayat and the prominent profile that they take in the Qur'anic conception of thinking Other topics discussed include an identification of the sources of knowledge in the Qur'an factors that impede rational thinking and a historical sketch of the golden age of scientific creativity and its eventual decline A brief section is also devoted to ijtihad and where it fits into the scheme of our analysis on thinking followed by a short comparison of Islamic and Western philosophical perceptions of rationality

Islam Jacques Waardenburg, 2008-08-22 This book presents some twenty essays on different aspects of Islam in history and the present These essays are grouped into eight larger sections The first The Beginnings deals with the transition from pre Islamic understandings and reason an essential part of the Quranic message The next two sections deal with Islam specifically as a religion with its particular signs and symbols The question of rules of interpretation in Islam and its structural features is discussed here Sections four and five deal with ethics in Islam including Muslim identity and human rights and certain social functions of Islam Section six introduces some 19th and 20th century reform movements with special attention given to developments in Saudi Arabia and the puritan characteristics of present day Islamic revival movements The final two sections discuss contemporary issues Islamization processes and policies Islamic ideologies the ideologization of Islam and the political uses of religion Throughout the book the author shows the links between the religious and other interpretations and uses made of Islam and the contexts in which they are made The Introduction signals some important developments in Islamic studies since World War II
