

Aspiring and achieving: Highlighting DP and CP student research

An asterisk (*) indicates that the results focus on students pursuing the full DP with all of its courses and requirements.

Based on a large international data set, by the end of the Diploma Programme (DP), 98% of students aspired to at least a bachelor's degree and 81% aspired to a master's, doctoral or professional degree.*

In line with previous research, about 85% of DP students* in the United States (US) enrolled in university immediately after high school, compared to 66% of all US high school graduates. DP students were also more likely than other US students to continue on to their second year of university (persistence).¹

In the UK, DP students* were more likely to achieve many positive higher education outcomes compared to matched A level students.²

Notes: This figure displays additive values. An additive value of greater than 1 means that DP students have greater odds of achieving that educational outcome compared to similar (matched) A level students.
