Technological Change and Agrarian Structure Iftikhar Ahmed, 1981 Rice Research, Technological Progress, and Impacts on the Poor: The Bangladesh Case (Summary Report) Mahabub Hossain, David Lewis, Manik L. Bose, and Alamgir Chowdhury, The Management of Technological Change Matthew Gamser, 1987 This extensively annotated collection of titles aims to guide governments and other decision makers in developing nations in the choices they make in technologies and also in the development of mechanisms by which these selections can be implemented Technology and Rural Women Iftikhar Ahmed, 2022-08-30 First published in 1985 Technology and Rural Women synthesizes the fragmented empirical evidence and the wide range of theoretical approaches on the effects of modernisation on women in the developing world Using a multi disciplinary methodology empirical and sectoral overviews and country case studies it draws together the literature to clarify the issues and the policies The book begins with a conceptual overview and analyses the applicability of traditional theories of technological change and impact on gender based distributional questions It proceeds to compare the African and Asian experience examines the African situation regionally and then as a set of four country case studies The authors find that the imperfections of rural factor markets have contributed to women s concentration in labour intensive sectors marked by low productivity and low returns Biases in the agrarian structure and the extension services are largely responsible for the Institutionalisation of discrimination against women Finally the volume identifies the social economic and technical constraints to the diffusion of technologies relevant to rural women s tasks In the final chapter the book s analysis is further refined and extended so that its conclusions to both theory and policy making are clearly brought out and areas of future research identified This book is an essential read for students and scholars of labour economics women s studies and economics in general Characterizing and Understanding Rainfed Environments T. P. Tuong, 2000 Overview Tools and methodologies for biophysical characterization Biophysical characterization and mapping Characterizing biotic stresses Socioeconomic characterization Integrating biophysical and socioeconomic characterization Quick Bibliography Series, 1976 Technological Change, Development and the Environment Clem Tisdell, Priyatosh Maitra, 2018-04-09 Originally published in 1988 this book considers some of the major social economic and environmental questions raised by the role of new technology in development Throughout the discussions of issues like the sustainability of the development effected by new technology is supported by detailed case studies from countries such as India Australia New Zealand China Bangladesh and South Africa Strengthening Technological Capabilities International Labour Office, 1992 This book offers a review of ILO activities on technology reveals the challenges of endogenous capacity building in developing countries The book covers a range of areas including technology policy assessment evaluation of the impact of new technologies on employment working conditions and working environment Science And Technology Indicators For Development Hiroko Morita-lou, 2019-05-28 The current indicators used to measure the impact of science and technology in developing countries have been formulated based on conditions and assumptions that are primarily relevant to developed countries. The contributors to this volume contend that these indicators when applied to developing countries often lead to inaccurate conclusions. An Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology Wallace C. Olsen, 1991. The first of an eight volume series. The Literature of the Agricultural Sciences. This book analyzes the trends in the published literature of agricultural economics and rural sociology during the past fifty years. It uses citation analysis and other bibliometric techniques to identify the primary journals, report series and monographs of current importance to the developed industrial countries as well as those in the Third World.

Technological Changes and Agrarian Structure Iftikhar Ahmed, 1981. Biotechnology Iftikhar Ahmed, 1992-06-18. Investigates current applications of biotechnology in developing countries and their impact on the rural poor. Can biotechnologies be specifically designed and deliberately released to alleviate rural poverty or will they accentuate existing inequalities.

International Dimensions Of Land Reform John D. Montgomery, 2019-08-16. Land reform became an international issue in the aftermath of World War II when the United States planned to dispossess the Junker in Prussia and actually participated in major land redistribution programs in Japan, the Republic of China and Korea. It became a canon of United States foreign policy in the Philippines, Thailand and Iran as well.

Impact of Agricultural and Energy Technology on the Rural Poor Salehuddin Ahmed, 1988. Economic Disparity in Rural Myanmar Ikuko Okamoto, 2008-01-01. Market liberalization in Myanmar began in 1988 and had some unanticipated consequences. As farmers began to operate in a context with greatly reduced government control, there was an explosion in the production of green gram, which became extremely popular as an export crop. However, market liberalization in the industry surrounding this new export-oriented crop gave rise to growing economic disparities largely determined by access to land, capital and credit. Ikuko Okamoto explores these issues through a detailed case study of Thongwa Township, a place east of Yangon. Rangoon is the major green gram producing region in the country. She shows that farmers responded quickly to policy changes and made maximum use of new opportunities even in a country where socialist policies had previously limited such opportunities. She also traces the consequences for different social groups in rural Myanmar and shows that traders benefited the most from the new arrangements and landless laborers the least. Her research offers important insights into the transition from a socialist to a market-based economy and local level responses to market incentives. It also shows that the success or failure of new crops in a peasant economy largely depends on whether the crop is compatible with the initial resource endowment.

PETRRRA - An Experiment in Pro-Poor Agricultural Research, Bibliography of Published Research of the World Employment Programme International Labour Office, 1991. Agricultural research, livelihoods, and poverty Adato, Michelle, Meinzen-Dick, Ruth, 2007-06-11. Those who study global poverty and ways to reduce it face a perennial set of questions. Do advances in knowledge, research and technology make a real difference in the lives of poor people? What effect does research have on the poor? Who benefits? The contributors to Agricultural Research, Livelihoods and Poverty shed light on these questions through a collection of case studies that explore the types of impact that agricultural research has had on livelihoods and poverty in low income countries Ibss: Economics: 1995 Compiled by the British Library of Political and Economic Science at the London School of Economics,1996 The IBSS is the essential tool for librarians university departments research institutions and any public or private institutions whose work requires access to up to date and comprehensive knowledge of the social sciences The Indian Journal of Agricultural Economics ,2000 Vols include Proceedings of the conference of the Indian Society of Agricultural Economics
