Science, Technology, and Society David D. Kumar, Daryl E. Chubin, 2012-12-06 David D Kumar and Daryl E Chubin We live in an information age Technology abounds information technology communication technology learning technology As a once popular song went Something is happening here but it is just not exactly clear The world appears to be a smaller less remote place We live in it but we are not necessarily closely tied to it We lack a satisfactory understanding of it So we are left with a paradox In an information age information alone will neither inform nor improve us as citizens nor our democracy society or institutions No improvement will take some effort It is a heavy burden to be reflective indeed analytical and disciplined but only constructively constrained by different perspectives The science based technology that makes for the complexity controversy and uncertainty of life sows the seeds of understanding in Science Technology and Society STS as it is known encompasses a hybrid area of scholarship now nearly three decades old As D R Sarewitz a former geologist now congressional staffer and an author put it After all the important and often controversial policy dilemmas posed by issues such as nuclear energy toxic waste disposal global climate change or biotechnology cannot be resolved by authoritative scientific knowledge instead they must involve a balancing of technical considerations with other criteria that are explicitly nonscientific ethics aesthetics equity ideology Trade offs must be made in light of inevitable uncertainties Sarewitz 1996 p 182

Low-carbon Energy Controversies Thomas Roberts, Paul Upham, Sarah Mander, Carly McLachlan, Philip Boucher, Clair Gough, Dana Abi Ghanem, 2013 Governments big business and communities are coming under increased pressure to develop low carbon energy supply technologies However public opposition to the development of the siting and implementation of the technology associated infrastructure often complicates progress This is sometimes labelled the not in my backyard or NIMBY attitude an unhelpful tag as conflicts over new development between governments local authorities business and communities are generally far more complex than NIMBY theory implies Furthermore within the context of the climate change debate a delicate balance has to be reached between local environmental protection and our need for reliable low carbon energy This comprehensive book builds on over 10 years of research conducted by the Tyndall Centre for Climate Change Research and uses a range of case studies from carbon capture and storage to on shore wind farms to explore the complex nature of disputes between a wide variety of stakeholder groups Topics covered include the importance of context the relationship between risk and trust sense of place and the role of the media An invaluable resource for researchers and readers in local or national government industry or community groups who wish to deepen their understanding of controversy around low carbon technology and how to overcome it
