Story Index, 1956 Short Story Index Dorothy Elizabeth Cook, Estelle A. Fidell, 1953 An index to 9 575 stories in 549 collections Globetrotting Damion L. Thomas, 2012-09-30 Throughout the Cold War the Soviet Union deplored the treatment of African Americans by the U S government as proof of hypocrisy in the American promises of freedom and equality This probing history examines government attempts to manipulate international perceptions of U S race relations during the Cold War by sending African American athletes abroad on goodwill tours and in international competitions as cultural ambassadors and visible symbols of American values Damion L Thomas follows the State Department's efforts from 1945 to 1968 to showcase prosperous African American athletes including Jackie Robinson Jesse Owens and the Harlem Globetrotters as the preeminent citizens of the African Diaspora rather than as victims of racial oppression With athletes in baseball track and field and basketball the government relied on figures whose fame carried the desired message to countries where English was little understood However eventually African American athletes began to provide counter narratives to State Department claims of American exceptionalism most notably with Tommie Smith and John Carlos's famous black power salute at the 1968 Mexico City Olympics Exploring the geopolitical significance of racial integration in sports during the early days of the Cold War this book looks at the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations attempts to utilize sport to overcome hostile international responses to the violent repression of the civil rights movement in the United States Highlighting how African American athletes responded to significant milestones in American racial justice such as the 1954 Brown v Board of Education decision and the passage of the 1964 Civil Rights Act Thomas surveys the shifting political landscape during this period as African American athletes increasingly resisted being used in State Department propaganda and began to use sports to challenge continued oppression Catalog of Copyright Entries. TEEN-AGE STORIES OF THE DIAMOND, 1950 Supplement, 1953 Isabel S. Monro, Dorothy E. Cook, 1953-12 The Great Brain Suck Eugene Halton, 2008-11-15 More and more information is pumped into our media saturated world every day yet Americans seem to know less and less In a society where who you are is defined by what you buy and where we prefer to experience reality by watching it on TV Eugene Halton argues something has clearly gone wrong Luckily Halton with scalpel sharp wit in one hand and the balm of wisdom in the other is here to operate on the declining body politic His initial diagnosis is bleak fast food and too much time spent sitting whether in our cars or on our couches are ruining our bodies while our minds are weakened by the proliferation of electronic devices TVs computers cell phones iPods video games and their alienating effects If we are losing the battle between autonomy and automation he asks how can our culture regain self sufficiency Halton finds the answer in the inspiring visions deeply rooted in American culture of an organic and more spontaneous life at the heart of the work of master craftsman Wharton Esherick legendary blues singer Muddy Waters urban critic Lewis Mumford and artist Maya Lin among others A scathing and original jeremiad against modern materialism The Great Brain Suck is also a series of epiphanies of a simpler but more profound life

Media and the Politics of Culture Nickesia S. Gordon, 2008 There is a great deal of discussion about media globalization particularly television especially as it is being driven by the spread of satellite technology and cable While certain schools of thought view this trend as promoting cultural heterogeneity and the diversification of programme content this book argues otherwise It discusses the influence of globalization on Jamaica's television industry Specifically it looks at how market liberalization globalization's twin force has led to government divestment of the television sector and increased private ownership and consolidation within this sector It revisits the cultural imperialism debate within the context of media globalization and locates Jamaica's position within this milieu It suggests that old concerns relating to cultural imperialism are still relevant in new ideas such as cultural proximity and programme modeling The book also discusses the implications that increased private ownership of television media in Jamaica have for public broadcasting services especially in an age of consolidation Finally the book examines current media policies and discusses whether or not they are adequate to address the present media environment within which the market model of media management encourages anti competitive behaviour among media firms

The 1931-1940: American Film Institute Catalog of Motion Pictures Produced in the United States American Film Institute, 1993 The entire field of film historians awaits the AFI volumes with eagerness Eileen Bowser Museum of Modern Art Film Department Comments on previous volumes The source of last resort for finding socially valuable films that received such scant attention that they seem lost until discovered in the AFI Catalog Thomas Cripps Endlessly absorbing as an excursion into cultural history and national memory Arthur Schlesinger Jr Teen-age Stories of Action, 1948 Brooklyn's Dodgers Carl E. Prince, 1997-04-03 During the 1952 World Series a Yankee fan trying to watch the game in a Brooklyn bar was told Why don't you go back where you belong Yankee lover I got a right to cheer my team the intruder responded this is a free country This ain't no free country chum countered the Dodger fan this is Brooklyn Brooklynites loved their Bums Pee Wee Reese Jackie Robinson Duke Snider Roy Campanella and all the murderous parade of regulars who after years of struggle finally won the World Series in 1955 One could not live in Brooklyn and not catch its spirit of devotion to its baseball club In Brooklyn's Dodgers Carl E Prince captures the intensity and depth of the team's relationship to the community and its people in the 1950s Ethnic and racial tensions were part and parcel of a working class borough the Dodgers presence smoothed the rough edges of the ghetto conflict always present in the life of Brooklyn The Dodger inspired baseball program at the fabled Parade Grounds provided a path for boys that occasionally led to the prestigious Dodger Rookie Team and sometimes via minor league contracts to Ebbets Field itself There were the boys who lined Bedford Avenue on game days hoping to retrieve home run balls and the men in the many bars who were not only devoted fans but collectively the keepers of the Dodger past as were Brooklyn women and in numbers Indeed women were tied to the Dodgers no less than their husbands fathers brothers and sons they were only less visible A few like Pulitzer Prize winning poet Marianne Moore and working class stiff Hilda Chester were regulars at Ebbets Field and far from invisible Prince also explores the underside of the Dodgers the baseball Annies and the paternity suits that went with the territory The Dodgers male culture was played out as well in the team's politics in the owners manipulation of Dodger male egos opponents race baiting and the macho bravado of the team how Jackie Robinson for instance would prod Giants catcher Sal Yvars to impotent rage by signaling him when he was going to steal second base then taunting him from second after the steal The day in 1957 when Walter O Malley the owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers announced that the team would be leaving for Los Angeles was one of the worst moments in baseball history and a sad day in Brooklyn's history as well. The Dodger team was to a degree unmatched in other major league cities, deeply enmeshed in the life and psyche of Brooklyn and its people. In this superb volume, Carl Prince illuminates this Brooklyn in the golden years after the Second World War.
