Committee on Foreign Relations. Subcommittee on Multinational Corporations, 1974      OPEC Mohammed E. Ahrari, 2014-10-17 A glut of oil dropping prices the threat of insolvency a divided membership these developments in the early weeks of 1985 underline the cogency of Mohammed Ahrari's historical study of the OPEC oil cartel and his argument that economic forces not politics determine OPEC's action in the world arena The impetus for the formation of OPEC in 1960 was the desire of the oil producing states for greater income from their most valuable resource The international oil corporations had secured lucrative concessions early in this century and in the 1960s they still dictated both the terms of production and the prices paid the oil states In the buyers market of the 1960s the organization found itself with little economic clout But in the early 1970s OPEC members succeeded not only in manipulating the price of crude oil but in reducing the status of the oil corporations to that of mere managers of upstream operations In addition they accumulated enormous numbers of petrodollars by exploiting increasingly tight markets in the aftermath of the oil embargo of 1973 and the Iranian revolution in 1979 The effects of OPEC policies on the consuming countries have been skyrocketing inflation and sustained recession with profound political repercussions But the OPEC members have found their apparent power an uncertain blessing as Mr Ahrari demonstrates Their failure to develop pricing formulas sensitive to fluctuations in the international oil market have made them highly vulnerable In addition the political tensions emanating from the Iran Iraq war and from the specter of repetition of Iranian style revolution elsewhere in the Persian Gulf have made OPEC's continued viability highly uncertain

Middle East Oil Benjamin Shwadran, 1977-01-01 Shaped by the emotional climate of the ongoing Arab Israeli conflict the controversies between the oil producing and oil consuming nations are of major international concern Shwadran outlines the progressive rise in the power of the oil producing countries and the decline in the control exercised by the concessionary foreign countries that has culminated in the almost total nationalization of the foreign oil companies Because of the highly charged atmosphere surrounding the issues and their grave importance on world politics the problems are at once highly difficult to encompass and enormously important to understand Through a myriad of facts and figures the author sees the underlying patterns with precision Often narrowly viewed as having only two sides that of oil producers and consumers the situation is reflected in this book in all its facets Seen in this totality of conflicting needs desires abilities and objectives the Middle East oil crisis takes on the contradictory and explosive nature which has affected us all Middle East Oil born of the author's years of scholarship and exposure in the field describes the problems of the past but more important it gives insight into how the problem will manifest itself in the future and provides a direction for efforts toward a final resolution Contents Introduction From the Six Day War to the End of 1970 From the Teheran 1971 Agreement to the October 1973 War The Producers Develop the Oil Industry The Transporters Nationalization and Participation The Arab Oil Embargo The Efforts of the Consuming Countries Surpluses and Recycling Solutions Bibliography
