Telecommunications In Transition Policies Services And Technologies In The European Community:

Telecommunications in Transition Charles W. Steinfield,Johannes Bauer,Laurence Caby,1994 In today s global economy the role of telecommunications is becoming increasingly strategic Nowhere is this more apparent than in the evolving European Community where the players issues emerging technologies services and policy trends are undergoing unprecedented change In this volume leading scholars from both North America and Europe provide the necessary background information for analyzing European telecommunications policies including conceptual frameworks institutional structures liberalization approaches and new technology and service initiatives This is the only text to examine issues comparatively across national contexts and includes a broad perspective of the entire European Community

Telecommunications Policy-making in the European Union Joseph W. Goodman,2006-01-01 This book offers a good study of the development of telecommunications policy by the EU Great value to those interested in understanding both European telecommunications policy and more generally in how policy making operates in the EU Mark Thatcher West European Politics the book provides an interesting perspective on the evolution of nature of telecommunications policy making within the EU As a consequence the book should be of interest to telecommunications and politics government researchers alike Jason Whalley Communications Booknotes Quarterly This well written book deals with the emergence and shaping of telecommunications policy in Europe with a particular focus on the time period of 1987 1998 This book fills an important gap reviewing the initial formative years of European telecommunications policy development and liberalization in detail The book captures the complicated and interdependent policy formation process in Europe in a credible and thoughtful way without falling into the trap of admiring critical personalities and key actors The author has written an important and useful book which invites the research community to further explore the evolution of European telecommunications policy Erik Bohlin Communications Strategies Examining the emergence of a European Union telecommunications policy Joseph Goodman explains how and why the policy developed as it did and why certain reforms in the sector were easier to achieve than others He provides a history of the key actors in the policy making process from the first attempts by the national postal telegraph and telecommunication administrations to coordinate their telecommunications policies in the 1950s to the implementation of a comprehensive EU telecommunications regulatory structure in 1998 and the development of a new regulatory structure in 2003 The analytical framework employed by the author draws upon new institutionalism and actor based approaches providing an opportunity to evaluate the utility of a synthetic approach for examining and explaining EU policy making The focus of his analysis is on the European Commission s two pronged strategy of liberalisation and harmonisation which began in the late 1980s and culminated in an important milestone on January 1st 1998 when the EU Member States fully opened their telecommunications markets to competition He concludes that a synthetic approach which enables the researcher to apply a number of approaches to multiple settings and various levels of analysis is useful even necessary in understanding and explaining the many dimensions of EU policy making This authoritative study will be of interest to all those in the telecommunications industry including attorneys consultants and lobbyists who would like to know how the EU s policy developed It will appeal more generally to political scientists and scholars of European history and politics Universal Service in WTO and EU law Olga Batura,2015-10-07 This book is a systematic comparative study of WTO and EU law relevant for universal service provision and a timely contribution to the ongoing scholarly and policy debates about the concept and scope of universal service Universal service is one of the most significant regulatory issues worldwide and it is likely to remain so The central question dealt with by the author is how the technologically intensive sector of telecommunications services can be regulated in a socially fair way in the light of liberalisation and the immense importance of ICTs in the Information Society The author investigates whether the legal frameworks of WTO and EU can meet the challenges of the rapid and dramatic technological and social change and formulates relevant policy recommendations The book is of interest to both scholars and practitioners in several disciplines such as EU and WTO law telecommunications law and regulation political science regarding market regulation and governance as well as European integration and WTO Olga Batura is affiliated to the Leuphana Law School University of L neburg Germany and to the European Humanities University in Vilnius Lithania Managing Telecommunications and Networking Technologies in the 21st Century: Issues and Trends Grant, Gerald G.,2000-07-01 This book explores some of the developing trends and issues in telecommunications and networking Provided by publisher Globalisation and EU Policy-making Ian Bartle,2005 Assesses and contrasts the roles of globalisation institutions and ideas on policy making in the EU Views the creation of liberalised European single markets in the telecommunications and electricity supply sectors out of national monopolies as an example of the dramatic transformation of economic organisation across Europe in the last twenty years Connects micro policy making processes in two industrial sectors to macro international political economy Covers the period from the mid 1980s when the single market came on the agenda through the liberalising initiatives in the 1990s to the new regulatory framework in communications in 2002 and the 2003 directive on the full liberalisation of electricity by 2007 Will be of interest to anyone studying globalisation European integration and policy making regulation and policy in utility sectors The Political Economy of European Union Competition Policy Tuna Baskoy,2008-06-24 In the European Union EU competition policy occupies a central place amongst other EU public policies and is the first truly supranational public policy regulating market competition One of the stated objectives of EU competition policy is to prevent excessive concentration of economic power in the hands of a few Globalisation, Convergence and European Telecommunciations Regulation Peter Humphreys,Seamus Simpson,2005-01-01 This book provides an up to date account and analysis of the development of the European Union s regulatory framework for telecommunications in a globalising world A key feature is its treatment of the EU s regulatory policy response to technological convergence in the information and communications sector through its new

Electronic Communications Regulatory Framework The book explores in detail the dynamics of the complex relationship between technological and globalisation pressures economic interests and European and national policy responses The authors also examine the achievements and limitations of over twenty years of EU efforts to liberalise markets and to harmonise regulation   Multimedia Internet Broadcasting Andy Sloane,Dave Lawrence,2012-12-06 Multimedia Internet Broadcasting Quality Technology and Interface studies one of the most exciting aspects of contemporary Internet use and research the broadcasting of multimedia content It draws together key research findings and directions from around the world and explores issues such as User experience and behaviour Modelling and providing an infrastructure for broadcast events Technical developments of underlying protocols algorithms and systems Trends associated with the use and regulation of the Internet around the world Designed to enable optimal Internet broadcast design and trigger new and developmental research this book is particularly suited to research groups students practitioners and developers This text is supported by a dedicated web resource and discussion list available at http mib mdx ac uk   Wiring Europe Giorgio Natalicchi,2001 Involving both integration and liberalization the state of telecommunications in Europe has undergone radical change in the past few years Natalicchi political science U of Florence Italy examines the external and internal forces of change originating from international national and European Union levels He argues that the EU is a polycentric and multilayered polity and that multiple mechanisms determine integrative steps and policy outcomes Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR   The International Telecommunications Regime: Domestic Preferences and Regime Change Juan Ratto-Nielsen,2009-12-26 This study examines the evolution of the international regime in telecommunications with the main objective of furthering our understanding of the process of regime transformation The dominant theories of international relations realism and institutional liberalism specify how states with shared interests use institutions to realize joint gains and to minimize the possibility of defection But these theories have little to say about when states will attempt to change the objectives that lead them to create the international institution in the first place The main goal of this book is to investigate and test the assumption that domestic politics by themselves can explain the dynamics of regime creation evolution and change as it happened within the International Telecommunications Union ITU   Public Broadcasting for the 21st Century Marc Raboy,1996 This study examines the situation of public broadcasting worldwide in a number of different contexts from a variety of thematic perspectives The result is a global report on the question of public service broadcasting   Organizational Relationships in the Networking Age Willem Koot,Peter Leisink,Paul Verweel,2003-01-01 Globalization the information technology revolution individualization and other processes in contemporary society all impact on organizations This text analyzes the framework of these organizational relationships and the dynamics of identity formation and bonding on several levels   International Bibliography of the Social Sciences ,1994 The IBSS is the essential tool for librarians university departments research institutions and any public or private institution whose work requires access to up to date and comprehensive knowledge of the social sciences From Telecommunications Liberalization to Net Neutrality Rules Simon P. Rinas,2021-04-26 EU communications policy has massively changed due to both global competition on the ICT market and technological developments that led to the emergence of Internet technology This book analyzes the structural and procedural transformation processes inside the EU legislative processes and concludes that EU communications policy struggles to reflect today s internet enabled communications reality It provides insights in the institutional conditions that maintained specific patterns of EU communications policy since the beginning of telecommunications regulation and concludes with an outlook on the technological and regulatory challenges ahead

Logics of Resistance Steve Dubb,2014-02-04 This study examines how unions representing telephone workers one in Mexico and one in British Columbia Canada have responded to changes in technology work organization and government policy stemming from the rise of a more global economy Some business writers have suggested that globalization will compel unions to cooperate with managers as workers are more exposed to international competition By analyzing the actual record of two unions in the highly internationalized telecommunications industry however a different picture emerges Services of General Economic Interest in EU Competition Law Lei Zhu,2020-05-08 This book provides a comprehensive examination of the interaction between Services of General Economic Interest SGEI and EU competition law covering in particular Article 106 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union TFEU and state aid rules It also takes the telecommunications postal service and transport sectors as case studies taking into account the technological economic and political backgrounds to these sectors The area of SGEI has undergone fundamental developments over the past three decades and the most recent changes in the Lisbon Treaty recognizing SGEI as a shared value and granting explicit competence to the EU mark its constitutional significance The key issue is how to balance economic values underlying competitive markets and non economic public service values such as universal access to essential services The essence of the question is the relationship between the market and the state This controversial issue is addressed through a critical analysis of a number of landmark EU Court judgments and Commission decisions over the decades Offering a clear appreciation of the evolution of the EU regulatory framework on SGEI that lays out the limits and boundaries within which the Member States define organize and fund SGEI the book is particularly aimed at academics with a research interest in the interaction between public services and EU competition law but as it also demonstrates clearly how the application of EU competition law has transformed the public utilities sectors it will be of interest to law makers legal professionals and policy makers as well Dr Lei Zhu is a Research Associate at the Institute of International Law at Wuhan University in Wuhan China He studied at the Institute for Competition Procurement Studies of the Bangor University Law School in Wales United Kingdom where he obtained his PhD in law in 2015 The Global Information Society William J. Martin,2017-07-05 This book is effectively a second edition of the author s classic The Information Society In it the author illustrates the major trends in and inter relationships between information information and communication technologies and the global economy and society In tracing the direction of information based change he reveals the implications for ordinary citizens for the quality of everyday life for economic and social activity and examines the prospects of nations and trading blocs   Strategy Formation and Policy Making in Government Jan-Erik Johanson,2018-12-29 This book explores goal oriented action and describes the variety of options offered by strategic management in guiding public organisations The book is based on the idea that planning is only one option in orienting the functioning of public organisations and applies resource based and network studies to the public sector Whilst most of the existing literature on strategic management relates to local government this book examines developments within central governments and public agencies external to government hierarchies The book also addresses the strategic distinction between politics and administration often neglected by existing research and illustrates the connection between goal setting and actual performance of government organisations   Unfinished Business Gary Clyde Hufbauer,Erika Wada,1997 In February 1997 69 countries accounting for 95 percent of world telecommunications traffic agreed to open their basic telecommunications service markets In April 1997 28 countries accounting for 80 percent of world trade in information technology IT goods agreed to eliminate tariffs on IT goods by January 2000 These two agreements represent significant steps toward global telecommunication liberalization The agreements also mark the beginning of new battles that will determine the extent of competition and reform in the telecommunications industry in the 21st century Although implementation of the two pacts will be phased in over several years some signatory countries are already facing a backlash from local telecommunications companies and equipment suppliers Hence the issue remains highly contentious around the world In this volume leading scholars from different countries offer their assessments of the two new agreements They also predict the evolution of the telecommunications industry in the years ahead The volume provides essential background on future developments in this dynamic and crucial sector and suggests ways in which it can be shaped to provide maximum benefits for the world economy   Extending European Cooperation Alasdair R. Young,2002 This is the first study to examine the entire life cycle in the Middle Ages Drawing on a wide range of secondary and primary material the book explores the timing and experiences of infancy childhood adolescence and youth adulthood old age and finally death It discusses attitudes towards ageing rites of passage age stereotypes in operation and the means by which age was used as a form of social control compelling individuals to work govern marry and pay taxes The wide scope of the study allows contrasts and comparisons to be made across gender social status and geographical location It considers whether men and women experienced the ageing process in the same way and examines the differences that can be discerned between northern and southern Europe The fourteenth and fifteenth centuries suffered famine warfare plague and population collapse This fascinating consideration of the life cycle adds a new dimension to the debate over continuity and change in a period of social and demographic upheaval
