Gilded Age Entrepreneur Simon Cordery, 2025-09-15 Simon Cordery's Gilded Age Entrepreneur illuminates the fascinating and chaotic business world of Albert Pullman. The influential but little known older brother of George Pullman and the craftsman of the family, Albert designed the first luxurious Pullman railroad cars and hosted promotional trips to show them off. In those heady early days he met national business and political leaders and hired the first Pullman porters. Albert and George made a formidable team but as the Pullman Company grew, Albert's role shrank. He turned to his own investment portfolio often with disastrous results. Beginning with the industrial laundry that cleaned sleeping car linens, Albert appeared before the Supreme Court after a catastrophic insurance investment ran afoul of federal banking regulations and failed in an attempt to corner wheat futures. With evermore unsuccessful speculations, Albert was tempted by extralegal land sales and entered the silver mining game. Finally, his own family in crisis and his relationship with George shattered, Albert Pullman launched into one last round of adventurous investments with mixed results. Gilded Age Entrepreneur demonstrates that Albert Pullman embodied the small time investors who were legion after the Civil War. From banking and insurance to manufacturing and mining, a host of hopeful dreamers like Albert Pullman fueled the circulation of capital by forging political connections, creating and losing businesses, issuing shares, and longing for profit.

Patently Contestable Stathis Arapostathis, Graeme Gooday, 2013-04-12 An examination of the fierce disputes that arose in Britain in the decades around 1900 concerning patents for electrical power and telecommunications. Late nineteenth century Britain saw an extraordinary surge in patent disputes over the new technologies of electrical power, lighting, telephony, and radio. These battles played out in the twin tribunals of the courtroom and the press. In Patently Contestable, Stathis Arapostathis and Graeme Gooday examine how Britain's patent laws and associated cultures changed from the 1870s to the 1920s. They consider how patent rights came to be so widely disputed and how the identification of apparently solo heroic inventors was the contingent outcome of patent litigation. Furthermore, they point out potential parallels between the British experience of allegedly patentee friendly legislation introduced in 1883 and a similar potentially empowering shift in American patent policy in 2011. After explaining the trajectory of an invention from laboratory to Patent Office to the court and the key role of patent agents, Arapostathis and Gooday offer four case studies of patent centered disputes in Britain. These include the mostly unsuccessful claims against the UK alliance of Alexander Graham Bell and Thomas Edison in telephony; publicly disputed patents for technologies for the generation and distribution of electric power; challenges to Marconi's patenting of wireless telegraphy as an appropriation of public knowledge; and the emergence of patent pools to control the market in incandescent light bulbs.

Analyzing Disputed Electrical Invention, digital original edition Stathis Arapostathis, Graeme Gooday, 2014-01-10 Late nineteenth century Britain saw an extraordinary surge in patent disputes over the new technologies of electrical power, lighting, telephony, and radio which played out in the twin tribunals of the courtroom and the press. In this

BIT Stathis Arapostathis and Graeme Gooday examine the persistent conflicts over inventorship in electrical invention in this period analyzing disputes over who should be considered the first and true inventor of early electrical technologies

Between Air and Electricity Cathy van Eck, 2017-02-09 Composers and sound artists have explored for decades how to transform microphones and loudspeakers from inaudible technology into genuinely new musical instruments While the sound reproduction industry had claimed perfect high fidelity already at the beginning of the twentieth century these artists found surprising ways of use for instance tweaking microphones swinging loudspeakers furiously around ditching microphones in all kinds of vessels or strapping loudspeakers to body parts of the audience Between air and electricity traces their quest and sets forward a new theoretical framework providing historic background on technological and artistic development and diagrams of concert and performance set ups From popular noise musician Merzbow to minimalist classic Alvin Lucier cult instrument inventor Hugh Davies or contemporary visual artist Lynn Pook they all aimed to make audible what was supposed to remain silent
