Text On Sound:

A Text-book on Sound John I. Swander, 1887 Sound Matters Margaret E. Lee, 2018-11-06 Sound matters The New Testament's first audiences were listeners not readers They heard its compositions read aloud and understood their messages as linear streams of sound To understand the New Testament's meaning in the way its earliest audiences did we must hear its audible features and understand its words as spoken sounds Sound Matters presents essays by ten scholars from five countries and three continents who explore the New Testament through sound mapping a technique invented by Margaret Lee and Bernard Scott for analyzing Greek texts as speech Sound Matters demonstrates the value and uses of this technique as a prelude and aid to interpretation The essays that make up this volume illustrate the wide range of interpretive possibilities that emerge when sound mapping restores the spoken sounds of the New Testament and revives its living voice

Oracle User Productivity Kit 3.5 Dirk Manuel, 2009-09-29 Build high quality training simulations using Oracle UPK 3.5 using this book and eBook Sight, Sound and Text in the History of Education Jody Crutchley, Stephen Parker, Siân Roberts, 2020-06-29 This volume contributes to the study of new sonic and visual sources and their intertextual relationship with the documentary as well as traditional understandings of text in the history of education It both presents case studies of research and points to new avenues of further research This volume arose from a joint conference of the History of Education Society UK and the Australian and New Zealand History of Education Society held in 2016 on the theme sight sound and text in the history of education The conference drew together educational and media historians as well as archivists and museum professionals to examine methodological issues and a range of examples of sensory and textual histories The event from which this book arose showed that there is so much more to consider in this area This book was originally published as a special issue of History of Education Sound Art Thom Holmes, 2022-04-27 Sound Art offers the first comprehensive introduction to sound art written for undergraduate students Bridging and blending aspects of the visual and sonic arts modern sound art first emerged in the early 20th century and has grown into a thriving and varied field In 13 thematic chapters this book enables students to clearly grasp both the concepts behind this unique area of art and its history and practice Each chapter begins with an exploration of key ideas and theories followed by an in depth discussion of selected relevant works both classic and current Drawing on a broad diverse range of examples and firmly interdisciplinary this book will be essential reading for anyone studying or teaching the theory history appreciation or practice of sound art

Theorizing Sound Writing Deborah Kapchan, 2017-04-04 The study of listening aurality and its relation to writing is the subject of this eclectic edited volume Theorizing Sound Writing explores the relationship between sound theory language and inscription This volume contains an impressive lineup of scholars from anthropology ethnomusicology musicology performance and sound studies The contributors write about sound in their ongoing work while also making an intervention into the ethics of academic knowledge one in which listening is the first step not only in translating sound into words but also in compassionate scholarship Word, Sound and Music in Radio Drama ,2023-11-27 This collection offers an in depth study of music s narrative functions in radio drama whether original or adapted alongside speech and sound It features a range of historical perspectives as well as case studies from Australia Europe and North America highlighting broadcasting institutions such as the BBC RAI ABC WDR and SWR from early radio to the medium s postwar golden age and contemporary productions Not limited to classical or popular music the chapters also pay attention to electronic varieties and musical uses of language in addition to intermedial exchanges with other art forms such as theatre opera and film In doing so the present volume sits at the crossroads of various disciplines musicology narratology history literary media sound and radio studies
