Beers & Co, 1973 Still More Brown County Stories George Monroe, 2009-08-14 Normal 0 MicrosoftInternetExplorer4 About The Book Still More Brown County Stories Recollections and Collected Tales The purpose of this book like the two previous volumes of Brown County Stories is to share some of the fun and interesting things that happened when I lived in Brown County Most of the stories were told to my five daughters around campfires and at many bedtime sessions as they were growing up After several years of story times I was once obliged to let my youngest daughter Abby Monroe know that I had told her everything I could remember or even make up Her response was OK just start over The various accounts of these uncommon experiences were reinforced for Abby and her older sisters as they visited their grandmother in Nashville the County Seat of Brown County From that base they were able to explore the territory where the stories took place This volume includes some stories that were recently shared with me by friends who felt they would help to illustrate what Brown County was like in the good old days They are as true as creative memories have allowed They also provide additional support for the maxim that truth is often stranger than fiction     The History of Brown County, Ohio ,1978     This is Brown County ,1974     Brown County Greg Haitz,Lisa Haitz,2006-10-30 The history of Brown County has been shaped largely by the Ohio River It has allowed farmers and industries to transport their products and provided recreation entertainment and travel opportunities to the residents of the community Even though flooding of the river brought destruction many times it also enabled freedom for thousands of slaves Under abolitionist leaders like John Rankin and John Parker parts of Brown County became known as the Grand Central Station of the Underground Railroad Interesting and notable Brown County natives include Ulysses S Grant who grew up to command one of the largest armies ever assembled and later became president of the United States Col Charles Young the third African American to graduate from West Point and a military attache to Liberia Rosie Riles better known as Aunt Jemima and Joe Smith who inadvertently helped Louis Armstrong s career also hailed from this great county
