The Business of Climate Change Kathryn Begg, Frans van der Woerd, David Levy, 2018-05-08 In recent years climate change has become a leading issue on both the business and political agenda With the Kyoto Protocol to the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change now ratified business is bracing itself for the reality of serious regulation on the reduction of greenhouse gas emissions The Business of Climate Change presents a state of the art analysis of corporate responses to the climate change issue The book describes and assesses a number of recent business approaches that will help to identify effective strategies and promote the dissemination of proactive corporate practices on climate change worldwide By identifying the factors that cause companies to pursue low carbon strategies and support the Kyoto process the book will also be helpful to governments in formulating policy Business and industry have a crucial role to play in the implementation of the Kyoto Protocol They are major emitters of greenhouse gases and pressure is mounting for them to engage in a range of mitigation strategies from emission inventorying and trading schemes to investments in low carbon technologies Behind the scenes a number of companies have started to develop strategies to curtail greenhouse gas emissions These strategies can be very diverse in nature At a political level companies try to influence policy implementation and more specifically to test ideas in anticipation of possible regulation on the climate change issue At a more practical level there are a burgeoning number of initiatives to conserve energy use in production transportation and buildings to develop renewable sources of energy to measure carbon emissions and sequestration at a detailed level and to develop various markets for trading carbon credits among companies and countries Some technologies such as hybrid cars and compact fluorescent lighting are now market realities Common to all of these initiatives is that they operate in an environment of high complexity and uncertainty The political implementation of the Kyoto Protocol remains uncertain and many details remain unspecified Economic instruments such as emission trading are favoured but their mechanisms are still hotly debated and the future price of credits is unknown New markets for low emission products and technologies are beginning to appear but there are currently few regulatory drivers to assist their development The impact of potential regulation on business will vary tremendously between companies and sectors The fossil fuel and energy sectors fear the economics of action while sectors such as insurance and agriculture fear the economics of inaction Combined with the remaining uncertainties about what form climate change may take corporate responses to reduce risks have to differentiate between sectors and have to be flexible For individual companies these big uncertainties demand new thinking and contingency planning The Business of Climate Change is split into four sections Introduction and overview presents a broad perspective on business and climate policies      World review of capture fisheries and aquaculture insurance 2022 Van Anrooy, R., Espinoza Córdova, F., Japp, D., Valderrama, D., Gopal

Karmakar, K., Lengyel, P., Parappurathu, S., Upare, S., Tietze, U., Costelloe, T., Zhang, Z., 2022-04-15 This world review of capture fisheries and aquaculture insurance presents the findings of five regional and four national reports conducted in 2020 An estimated 450 000 fishing vessels worldwide are covered by marine hull insurance Nearly all of the estimated 67 800 large scale industrial fishing vessels are covered by marine hull insurance as well as 50 60 percent of the estimated 430 000 semi industrial fishing vessels However over 95 percent of the 2 3 million motorized small scale fishing vessels operate uninsured Most small scale fishers do not have access to adequate insurance services Between 2009 and 2019 underwriting experiences in fishing vessel insurance were generally reported as Good What is more access to accident life and health insurance services for crew on fishing vessels and small scale fishers in developing countries has improved in recent years In 2020 the number of aquaculture insurance policies in force was estimated at over 40 000 worldwide with China and Indonesia the largest markets for this type of insurance While large scale aquaculture producers are well served by the insurance industry the provision of insurance is inadequate for medium and small scale farmers particularly in Asia Underwriting experiences for aquaculture stock mortality insurance were reported as Good to Very good 40 percent or Neutral 36 percent The insurance industry has consolidated the market and increased profitability in aquaculture insurance This world review contains information on the capture fisheries and aquaculture insurance market the prevailing underwriting practices perils covered policies in force risk management and claim handling procedures Finally it offers a series of recommendations for increasing insurance service provision to the fisheries and aquaculture industries

Economic World ,1917      Market World and Chronicle ,1924      Stranded Assets and the Environment Ben Caldecott, 2018-05-11 Drawing on the work of leading researchers and practitioners from a range of disciplines including economic geography economics economic history finance law and public policy this edited collection provides a comprehensive assessment of stranded assets and the environment covering the fundamental issues and debates including climate change and societal responses to environmental change as well as its origins and theoretical basis The volume provides much needed clarity as the discourse on stranded assets gathers further momentum In addition to drawing on scholarly contributions there are chapters from practitioners and analysts to provide a range of critical perspectives While chapters have been written as important standalone contributions the book is intended to systematically take the reader through the key dimensions of stranded assets as a topic of research inquiry and practice The work adopts a broad based social science perspective for setting out what stranded assets are why they are relevant and how they might inform the decision making of firms investors policymakers and regulators The topic of stranded assets is inherently multi disciplinary cross sectoral and multi jurisdictional and the volume reflects this diversity This book will be of great relevance to scholars practitioners and policymakers with an interest in include economics business and development studies climate policy and environmental studies in general      British Qualifications Kogan Page, 2006 The field of professional academic and
