

Termination: WARN – Letter to Government Officials

Dear [Government Official],

We are writing to inform you that [Company Name] will be terminating [number] employees from our [location] facility. This action is being taken in accordance with the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification (WARN) Act.

The WARN Act requires employers to provide notice of plant closings and mass layoffs to both affected workers and to government officials. The WARN Act requires that notice be provided at least 60 days prior to the date of the plant closing or mass layoff.

The affected employees will be terminated on [date]. We have provided each employee with a written notice of termination, as required by the WARN Act. We have also provided each employee with information about available job training and other services that may be available to them.

We regret having to take this action, but it is necessary in order for us to remain competitive in the marketplace. We appreciate your understanding and cooperation in this matter.

Sincerely,

[Company Name]

Survey of Current Business ,1981 The Business Philosopher ,1922 Free Enterprise Lawrence B. Glickman,2019-08-20 An incisive look at the intellectual and cultural history of free enterprise and its influence on American politics Throughout the twentieth century free enterprise has been a contested keyword in American politics and the cornerstone of a conservative philosophy that seeks to limit government involvement into economic matters Lawrence B Glickman shows how the idea first gained traction in American discourse and was championed by opponents of the New Deal

Those politicians believing free enterprise to be a fundamental American value held it up as an antidote to a liberalism that they maintained would lead toward totalitarian statism Tracing the use of the concept of free enterprise Glickman shows how it has both constrained and transformed political dialogue He presents a fascinating look into the complex history and marketing of an idea that forms the linchpin of the contemporary opposition to government regulation taxation and programs such as Medicare
