Learning War Trent Hone, 2018-06-15 Learning War examines the U S Navy s doctrinal development from 1898 1945 and explains why the Navy in that era was so successful as an organization at fostering innovation A revolutionary study of one of history s greatest success stories this book draws profoundly important conclusions that give new insight not only into how the Navy succeeded in becoming the best naval force in the world but also into how modern organizations can exploit today s rapid technological and social changes in their pursuit of success Trent Hone argues that the Navy created a sophisticated learning system in the early years of the twentieth century that led to repeated innovations in the development of surface warfare tactics and doctrine The conditions that allowed these innovations to emerge are analyzed through a consideration of the Navy as a complex adaptive system Learning War is the first major work to apply this complex learning approach to military history This approach permits a richer understanding of the mechanisms that enable human organizations to evolve innovate and learn and it offers new insights into the history of the United States Navy

U.S. Army Divisions of the Pacific War Stephen R. Taaffe, 2024-08-14 A new narrative and analytic history of the twenty U S Army divisions that fought in the Pacific War Despite the prevailing view that the Marine Corps bore the brunt of the fighting in the Pacific War the men of the US Army played a decisive role in the conflict Indeed GIs did most of the war s heavy lifting on the ground by conducting more amphibious assaults and prosecuting more operations than the Marines By the end of the war there were 1 77 million U S Army troops in the Pacific and Asia compared to the USMC s 484 000 The Pacific was as much the Army s war as the fighting in the European theater The U S Army deployed twenty combat divisions to fight in the Pacific including famous ones such as the 1st Cavalry Division and the 25th Tropic Lightning Division Most were infantry and included Regular National Guard and draftee divisions The divisions were deployed and maneuvered by theater field army and corps commanders around the Pacific s geostrategic chessboard to battle and defeat the Japanese The Army may have wanted its divisions to be interchangeable and uniform but this proved impossible Their quality and performance depended upon their resources the geography and terrain on which they fought experience leadership and organizational culture Historians though have made little effort to examine their records in a systematic way before now In addition almost all of the Army s divisions some after admittedly rocky starts became units capable of winning their engagements Indeed not a single Army division fighting the Japanese during the American counteroffensive across the Pacific was completely destroyed in combat Whatever problems these divisions faced tended to grow out of the society that produced them not fundamental flaws in Army doctrine This is a tribute to the Army as a whole and to the twenty divisions that the Army deployed against the Japanese This new history uses a narrative approach to describe and analyze each division s history characteristics and battles during the conflict concluding with an assessment of their battlefield records taking into account the innumerable factors affecting their combat performance Seizure of the Gilberts and Marshalls Philip Axtell Crowl, Edmund G. Love, 1955 The Army Air Forces in World War II, Volume Four: The Pacific, Guadalcanal to Saipan, August 1942 to July 1944 , The Feel of Truth Peter Munz, 1969 The Elusive Enemy Douglas Ford, 2011-10-15 The Elusive Enemy explores the evolution of U S intelligence concerning the combat capabilities of the Imperial Japanese Navy and its air arm during the interwar period and the Pacific War Ford contends that the US Navy could not accurately determine the fighting efficiency of Japan s forces until it engaged them in actual battle conditions over an extended period As the conflict progressed the Americans were able to rely on a growing array of intelligence material including POWs captured documents and specimens of captured enemy weapons These sources often revealed valuable information on the characteristics of Japanese equipment as well as some of the ideas and doctrines which governed how they carried out their operations First hand observations of the Japanese navy s performance in battle were the most frequently used source of intelligence which enabled the US Navy to develop a more informed assessment of its opponent Ship crews along with US aviators were tasked to collect information by making a thorough observation of how the Japanese fought Action reports described how the Imperial fleet demonstrated a number of weaknesses the most important of which was a shortage of modern equipment and after 1942 diminished air power Yet he demonstrates how the Japanese remained a resilient enemy who could be defeated only when the Americans deployed sufficient equipment and used it in an appropriate manner The Office of Naval Intelligence as well as the intelligence services operating in the Pacific theater thus had to assess a wide array of conflicting characteristics and provide a balanced evaluation concerning the strengths and weaknesses of the Imperial navy At the same time a large part of the intelligence analysis was undertaken by commanders in the Pacific Fleet Naval personnel and aircrews assessed the information gained through encounters with the enemy so that they could develop a set of methods whereby US forces were able defeat the Japanese without incurring excessive casualties and losses The intelligence services in turn played an important role in disseminating the information on the most efficient tactics and weapons that could be used to defeat the Imperial Fleet The Elusive Enemy aims to explain how American perceptions concerning the Japanese navy evolved during the conflict with a particular focus on the role of intelligence It also seeks to introduce a new perspective on the question as to why the U S Navy carried out its campaigns during the Pacific War in the manner that it did United States Army in World War 2, War in the Pacific, Campaign in the Marianas (Hardcover) , Describes joint Army Naval and Marine operations to capture Saipan Tinian and Guam and the development of these islands as bases for further American joint operations against the Japanese homeland Includes maps tables charts illustrations appendixes bibliographical note glossary and index The Japanese Wartime Empire, 1931-1945 Peter Duus, Ramon H. Myers, Mark R. Peattie, 2021-07-13 With this book the editors complete the three volume series on modern Japanese colonialism and imperialism that began with The Japanese Colonial Empire 1895-1945 Princeton 1983 and The Japanese Informal Empire in China 1895-1937 Princeton 1989 The Japanese military takeover in Manchuria between 1931 and 1932 was a critical turning point in East Asian history It marked the first surge of Japanese aggression beyond the boundaries of its older colonial empire and set Japan on a collision course with China and Western colonial powers from 1937 through 1945 These essays seek to illuminate some of the more significant processes and institutions during the period when the empire was at war the creation of a Japanese dominated East Asian economic bloc centered in northeast Asia the mobilization of human and physical resources in the older established areas of Japanese colonial rule and the penetration and occupation of Southeast Asia Introduced by Peter Duus the volume contains four sections Japan's Wartime Empire and the Formal Colonies Carter J Eckert and Wan yao Chou Japan's Wartime Empire and Northeast Asia Louise Young Y Tak Matsusaka Ramon H Myers and Takafusa Nakamura Japan's Wartime Empire and Southeast Asia Mark R Peattie E Bruce Reynolds and Ken ichi Goto and Japan's Wartime Empire in Other Perspectives George Hicks Hideo Kobayashi and L H Gann Nisei linguists: Japanese Americans in the Military Intelligence Service During World War II (Paperbound) James C.
