The Romance of the Lyric in Nineteenth-Century Women's Poetry Lee Christine O'Brien, 2012-10-05 The Romance of the Lyric in Nineteenth Century Women's Poetry Experiments in Form offers a new account of the nature of the lyric as nineteenth century women poets developed the form. It offers fresh assessments of the imaginative and aesthetic complexity of women's poetry. The monograph seeks to redefine the range and cultural significance of women's writing using the work of poets who have not heretofore been part of critical accounts of nineteenth century lyric poetry. These new voices are set beside new readings of the poetry of established figures for example Christina Rossetti's Goblin Market and Augusta Webster's Medea in Athens and Circe. The monograph draws substantially on the poetry of Rosamund Marriott Watson who was lost to literary history before the restoration of her oeuvre through the scholarly and critical work of Professor Linda K Hughes to make the case that once neglected and lost voices provide new ways of determining the cultural centrality of women and the poetry they produced in one of the richest periods of poetic experimentation in the Western literary tradition. This monograph contends that Watson's poetry and prose provide new ways of analyzing the complex and frequently transgressive nature of the lyric engagement of women with folklore and myth and with the growing understanding in the nineteenth century of the fragmented fluid self in general and of the writer in particular.

Literature and the Growth of British Nationalism Francesco Crocco, 2014-02-07 This book explores how British Romantic poetry the writing reading and critical reception of it reinforced British nationalism in the 19th century ripening the political processes of nationhood that began with the first Act of Union in 1707. Using archival research on literary collections criticism and reviews this study documents the rise of bardic criticism in the 18th century a style of literary criticism that reinvented the vernacular poet as a national bard and established a national role for poetry. Within this context this book offers a new reading of major works by Romantic poets from Wordsworth and Coleridge to Felicia Hemans and Anna Letitia Barbauld illuminating the ways they corroborated the public image of poets as bona fide national bards and advanced British nationalism even when they intentionally set out to oppose or reform the politics of state.
