The California Mexico Connection:

The California-Mexico Connection Abraham F. Lowenthal, Katrina Burgess, 1993 Not since the early nineteenth century when California was still part of Mexico have there been such close ties between Mexico and its former northern territory Today one Californian in five is of Mexican heritage compared with fewer than one in ten in 1970 California is Mexico's second largest trading partner after Texas and Mexico is California's second largest trading partner after Japan This book is the first in any language to explore the nature scope and effects of the California Mexico connection It analyses the movements of people goods money politics and culture across the California Mexico border and explores its implications for both parties Towards an Emissions Trading System in Mexico: Rationale, Design and Connections with the Global Climate Agenda Simone Lucatello, 2021-12-16 This Open Access book provides detailed information about the incoming Mexican Emissions Trading System including an analysis on why the system was implemented how the system was designed how it operates how it could work and how it could be strengthened by 2023 when it will be formally launched This document is aimed at those who want to understand how an ETS can operate in an emerging economy Although it has been written for experts and non experts this book does not provide the underlying theory of market based instruments and emissions trading systems in general The book can be read from start to finish but can also be used as a reference for specific components of regional ETSs The book draws upon a meticulous study of background documents and fieldwork from different authors to tell the story of how a Mexican ETS the first of its kind in Latin America can be set in the country The emissions trading system covers many greenhouse gas emissions and has been hailed as one of the cornerstones of the Mexican climate policy The book also examines and explains how the ETS is designed and implemented The Cross-Border Connection Roger Waldinger, 2015-01-05 International migration presents the human face of globalization Roger Waldinger addresses a paradox at its core emigrants departing one society become immigrants in another tying those two societies together He explains how interconnections between place of origin and destination are built and maintained and why they eventually fall apart The New Politics of Inequality in Latin America Douglas A. Chalmers, 1997-01-30 Against a broader backdrop of globalization and worldwide moves toward political democracy The New Politics of Inequality in Latin America examines the unfolding relationships among social change equity and the democratic representation of the poor in Latin America Recent Latin American governments have turned away from redistributive policies at the same time popular political and social organizations have been generally weakened inequality has increased and the gap between rich and poor has grown Hanging in the balance is the consolidation and the quality of new or would be democracies this volume suggests that governments must find not just short term programmes to alleviate poverty but long term means to ensure the effective integration of the poor into political life The New Politics of Inequality in Latin America bridges the intellectual chasm between on the one hand studies of grassroots politics and on the other explorations of elite politics and formal institution building It will be of interest to students and scholars of contemporary Latin American politics and society and more generally in the vicissitudes of democracy and citizenship in the late twentieth century global system Hatreds Zillah Eisenstein, 2014-04-23 Eisenstein tracks developments such as racialized ethnic and gender conflict the new male democracies of eastern Europe the new Democrats of the Clinton era exploring the politics of hate In HATREDS Zillah Eisenstein charts the plural politics of the twenty first century which she defines as having begun with the fall of communism and the gulf war Exploring the politics of hate on both global and local levels Eisenstein tracks developments such as racialized ethnic and gender conflict the new male democracies of eastern Europe and the new Democrats of the Clinton era the sexual exploitation of the west and the sexual violence of nationalisms and the importance of western feminisms promissory standpoint of freedom to women in the third world

Networks and Connections in Legal History Michael Lobban, Ian Williams, 2020-09-03 Network and Connections in Legal History examines networks of lawyers legislators and litigators and how they shaped legal development in Britain and the world It explores how particular networks of lawyers from Scotland to East Florida and India shaped the culture of the forums in which they operated and how personal connections could be crucial in pressuring the legislature to institute reform as with twentieth century feminist campaigns It explores the transmission of legal ideas what happened to those ideas was not predetermined but when new connections were made they could assume a new life In some cases new thinkers made intellectual connections not previously conceived in others it was the new purposes to which ideas and practices were applied which made them adapt This book shows how networks and connections between people and places have shaped the way that legal ideas and practices are transmitted across time and space
