Richard W. Bulliet

The Camel And The Wheel:

The Camel and the Wheel Richard W. Bulliet, 1990 Why for many centuries was the wheel abandoned in the Middle East in favor of the camel as a means of transport This richly illustrated study explains this anomaly Drawing on archaeology art technology anthropology linguistics and camel husbandry Bulliet explores the implications for the region s economic and social development during the Middle Ages and into modern times The Wheel Richard W. Bulliet, 2016-01-19 In this book Richard W Bulliet focuses on three major phases in the evolution of the wheel and their relationship to the needs and ambitions of human society He begins in 4000 B C E with the first wheels affixed to axles He then follows with the innovation of wheels turning independently on their axles and concludes five thousand years later with the caster a single rotating and pivoting wheel Bulliet s most interesting finding is that a simple desire to move things from place to place did not drive the wheel s development If that were the case the wheel could have been invented at any time almost anywhere in the world By dividing the history of this technology into three conceptual phases and focusing on the specific men women and societies that brought it about Bulliet expands the social economic and political significance of a tool we only partially understand He underscores the role of gender combat and competition in the design and manufacture of wheels adding vivid imagery to illustrate each stage of their development The Walled Arab City in Literature, Architecture and History Susan Slyomovics, 2013-11-05 This book offers a multidisciplinary approach to the medina the traditional walled Arab city of North Africa The medina becomes a concrete case study for comparative explorations of general questions about the social use of urban space by opening up fields of research at the intersection of history comparative cultural studies architecture and anthropology Essays by American European and North African scholars demonstrate a variety of sources and theoretical approaches now being used in writing historical narratives framed within the city space They shed light on recent studies by anthropologists regarding social praxis within the urban context and analyze the urban experience of the medina and the casbah as they are represented in visual and material culture The Evolution of Technology George Basalla, 1989-02-24 This book presents an evolutionary theory of technological change based upon recent scholarship in the history of technology and upon relevant material drawn from economic history and anthropology It challenges the popular notion that technology advances by the efforts of a few heroic individuals who produce a series of revolutionary inventions owing little or nothing to the technological past Therefore the book s argument is shaped by analogies taken selectively from the theory of organic evolution and not from the theory and practice of political revolution Three themes appear and reappear with variations throughout the study The first is diversity an acknowledgment of the vast numbers of different kinds of made things artifacts that have long been available to humanity the second is necessity the belief that humans are driven to invent new artifacts in order to meet basic biological requirements such as food shelter and defense and the third is technological evolution an organic analogy that explains both the emergence of novel artifacts and their subsequent selection by society for incorporation into its material life without invoking either biological necessity or technological progress Although the book is not intended to provide a strict chronological account of the development of technology historical examples including many of the major achievements of Western technology the waterwheel the printing press the steam engine automobiles and trucks and the transistor are used extensively to support its theoretical framework The Evolution of Technology will be of interest to all readers seeking to learn how and why technology changes including both students and specialists in the history of technology and science That Wild Wheel Frances Eleanor Trollope,1892 The Wheel o'Fortune Louis Tracy,1907
