Reweaving the Relational Mat Joan Filemoni-Tofaeono,Lydia Johnson,2016-06-16 Reweaving the Relational Mat is an integrative response to the problem of violence against women which grounds theological and sociological analysis in the praxis of Oceanian Christian women s experiences of violence It focuses on the collusion of the church in the problem of violence against women by critiquing the ways in which its theology and practices have contributed to power over ways of relating Employing the Oceanian metaphor of weaving the mat the analysis unravels the patriarchal relational mat paving the way for a constructive reweaving of a Christocentric egalitarian relational mat The study begins by unravelling the correlation between violence and the ideology of patriarchy It then highlights the various strands of violence against women and examines the complex mosaic of socio cultural sources and manifestations of violence against women in Oceania This leads to an analysis of the interwoven strands of religion and violence focusing particularly on the church's captivity to patriarchy. The ensuing explication of problematic theological and biblical interpretations and church practices ends with a critique of male clergy power particularly as it functions in the Oceanian context. This leads to an examination of the relationship between flawed theological education and violence against women. Case studies of violence against women in the Oceanian theological education setting are analysed. The subsequent reweaving of the relational mat issues forth in specific challenges to church leaders, theological educators and church women.

MOLECULAR BIOLOGY Section 6 ADVANCED BIOCHEMISTRY Clinical Case Study Answers Appendices Index Teaching Aspects of Health Care Valerie Ehlers, 2002 This updated 2nd edition will benefit all those interested in improving health care and health education. It seeks to respond to the challenge of the changing health care situation and clearly sets out a range of different methods that will enhance successful teaching and learning. Each teaching method is described in its own chapter and each chapter includes practical suggestions for implementation as well as outlining advantages and disadvantages, questions and answers and a self-test feature. The text has been thoroughly revised to meet the requirements of outcomes-based education and includes new chapters on narrative as a teaching method, values clarification and evaluation and assessment. Importantly, this edition strives to meet the HIV/AIDS health education needs. Almost every chapter provides a specific method for teaching and learning about particular aspects of this condition. This culturally sensitive book assumes that English is being used as an additional language and that the reader may have no background in teaching and learning theory. It is rich in case studies and applications, incorporates traditionally held beliefs and is exceptionally practical in nature. This book will be a valuable resource for students, practitioners and teachers alike. The teaching methods discussed in the text will be extremely useful for community health workers, health care assistants, nurses, social workers, medical doctors, teachers and agricultural extension officers.
