Subject In Question Departmental Organization And The High School:

The Subjects in Question Leslie Santee Siskin, Judith Warren Little, 1995 Subject departments are the high school's primary organizational unit defining who teachers are what they do where and with whom they work and how that work is perceived by others Subject organization is a feature so prominent that most educators take it for granted Yet in all the varied discourse about schools and schooling few have penetrated the accepted stereotypes Until now Contributors W Richard Scott Randi C Cohen Joan E Talbert Stephen J Ball Colin Lacey Don Hill Andy Hargreaves and Robert Macmillan

Reference Guide to Writing Across the Curriculum Charles Bazerman, 2005 This reference guide traces the Writing Across the Curriculum movement from its origins in British secondary education through its flourishing in American higher education and extension to American primary and secondary education

Educational Administration, Policy, and Reform Wayne K. Hoy, Cecil Miskel, 2004-05-01 This book series on Theory and Research in Educational Administration is about understanding schools We welcome articles and analyses that explain school organizations and administration We are interested in the why questions about schools To that end case analyses surveys large data base analyses experimental studies and theoretical analyses are all welcome We provide the space for authors to do comprehensive analyses where that is appropriate and useful We believe that the Theory and Research in Educational Administration Series has the potential to make an important contribution to our field but we will be successful only if our colleagues continue to join us in this mission

Reforming Teaching Globally Maria Teresa Tatto, 2009-11-01 Originally Published in 2007 by Symposium Books This book seeks to raise the discussion of globalisation's effects on teacher education development and work and its reforms and institutions to a more theoretical and analytical level and to provide specific examples in the comparative tradition to illustrate teacher policy in the context of education systems widespread variability and complexity The contributors critically analyse current arrangements in teacher education development and work and highlight the forces that enter in this contested terrain the sources of conflict and convergence and the implication of these for teaching and learning and for indigenous forms of knowledge and knowledge construction in the globalisation era Finnish Lessons Pasi Sahlberg, 2014 It is now time to break down the ideology of exceptionalism in the United States and other Anglo American nations if we are to develop reforms that will truly inspire our teachers to improve learning for all our students especially those who struggle the most In that essential quest Pasi Sahlberg is undoubtedly one of the very best teachers of all From the Foreword by Andy Hargreaves Lynch School of Education Boston College Finnish Lessons is a first hand comprehensive account of how Finland built a world class education system during the past three decades The author traces the evolution of education policies in Finland and highlights how they differ from the United States and other industrialized countries He shows how rather than relying on competition choice and external testing of students education reforms in Finland focus on professionalizing teachers work developing instructional leadership in schools and enhancing trust in teachers and schools This book details

the complexity of educational change and encourages educators and policymakers to develop effective solutions for their own districts and schools

Teachers Caught in the Action Ann Lieberman, Lynne Miller, 2001-04-27 Because what we do in staff development can best be understood in terms of Contexts Strategies and Structures the remainder of the book features distinguished educators who write from their own unique experiential and theoretical stances Jacqueline Ancess describes how teachers in New York City secondary schools increase their own learning while improving student outcomes Milbrey W McLaughlin and Joel Zarrow demonstrate how teachers learn to use data to improve their practice and meet educational standards Lynne Miller presents a case study of a long lived school university partnership Beverly Falk recounts stories of teachers working together to develop performance assessments to understand their student s learning to re think their curriculum and much more Laura Stokes analyzes a school that successfully uses inquiry groups There are further contributions including some from novice teachers by Anna Richert Ershler Ann Lieberman Diane Wood Sarah Warshauer Freedman and Joseph P McDonald These powerful exemplars from practice provide a much needed overview of what matters and what really works in professional development today

What Should I Do? Confronting Dilemmas of Teaching in Urban Schools Anna Ershler Richert, 2015-04-17 Have you ever been waiting for THE book This is that book Anna Richert has held on to this book for many years because she wanted it to honor the profession and the work of teaching It satisfies on two important levels that of those who study teaching and those who do the teaching At a time when the profession is suffering from a lack of support and criticism on all fronts Richert elevates it without valorizing it These are real dilemmas that real teachers struggle with everyday We owe Anna Richert a big thank you for What Should I Do Gloria Ladson Billings Kellner Family Chair in Urban Education University of Wisconsin Madison What Should I Do is a practical guide to the everyday dilemmas of the urban classroom It offers a lifeline to both beginning teachers who are struggling to be successful and to the teacher educators who are trying to prepare them for these challenges The author uses narratives of practice written by novice teachers to help readers experience a variety of dilemmas they are likely to encounter in the classroom By engaging with and analyzing the cases readers come to see that the problems of teaching are actually dilemmas that have no clear cut right or wrong solution thus reducing the potential for frustration and despair often felt by teachers This practical resource will empower teachers to transform the unpredictable world of troubled schools into places of learning and hope for both themselves and their students As a former teacher said I wish I had read this book and realized that I wasn t expected to have all the answers I would probably still be teaching Anna Ershler Richert is a professor in the School of Education at Mills College in Oakland California where she is Director of the Master of Arts in Education with an Emphasis on Teaching MEET Program and Faculty Director of the Mills Teacher Scholars

Redesigning Accountability Systems for Education Susan H. Fuhrman, Richard F. Elmore, Measuring History S. G. Grant, 2009-03-01 Measuring History complements the cases presented in Wise Social Studies Practices Yeager Davis 2005 Yeager and Davis highlight the rich and ambitious teaching that can occur in the broad context of state level testing In this book the chapter authors and I bring the particular state history tests more to the fore and examine how teachers are responding to them At the heart of Measuring History are cases of classroom teachers in seven states Florida Kentucky Michigan New York Texas Mississippi and Virginia where new social studies standards and new and generally high stakes state level history tests are prominent In these chapters the authors describe and analyze the state s testing efforts and how those efforts are being interpreted in the context of classroom practice The results both support and challenge prevailing views on the efficacy of testing as a vehicle for educational reform

Catherine Horn University of Houston and I lay the groundwork for the case studies through a set of introductory chapters that examine the current environment the research literature and the technical qualities of history tests      Teachers

Matter Christopher Day,Pam Sammons,Gordon Stobart,Alison Kington,Qing Gu,2007-03-16 Teachers Matter offers the most definitive portrait of teachers lives and work to date At a time when teaching standards are high on the political and social agenda the quality and commitment of teaching staff is seen as paramount and they are viewed as pivotal to the economic and social well being of society But What are the influences that help or hinder teachers commitment Is there an association between commitment and pupil attainment Why are teachers identities important What are teachers needs and concerns in different professional life phases Does school context count Based on a DfES funded study of 300 teachers in 100 primary and secondary schools in England the authors identify different patterns of influence and effect between groups of teachers which provide powerful evidence of the complexities of teachers work lives identity and commitment in relation to their sense of agency well being resilience and pupil attitudes and attainment This in turn provides a clear message for teachers teachers associations school leaders and policy makers in understanding and supporting the need to build and sustain school and classroom effectiveness The book addresses issues such as the importance of career development the relationships between school leadership culture and teachers lives maintaining a work life balance identity and well being and the connection between commitment resilience and effectiveness in the classroom Original and highly relevant Teachers Matter is invaluable reading for teachers head teachers researchers and teacher educators      Seeing Through Teachers' Eyes

Karen Hammerness,2006-01-01 What sources of inspiration help sustain teachers commitments motivations and care for their work How do teachers use their ideals to inform their practice and their learning The author proposes that many teachers have images of ideal classroom practice which she calls teachers vision In this book Karen Hammerness uses vision to shed light on the complex relationship between teachers ideals and the realities of school life Through the compelling stories of four teachers she reveals how each educators can help new teachers articulate develop and sustain their visions and assist them as they navigate the gap between their visions and their daily work She shows us how vision can illuminate those emotional and passionate moments in the classroom that enrich and enliven their work as teachers explain what teachers learn about their students their teaching and their schools and reveal why some teachers choose to stay in teaching and others leave the profession      Making Sense of Social Networks in Schools Terrence E. Deal,Ted Purinton,Daria Cook

Waetjen,2008-12-03 It is refreshing to see a volume dedicated first and foremost to understanding and building human relationships in schools By developing strong networks schools can foster open systems committed to distributive leadership and exemplary academic outcomes Sharon Conley Professor University of California Santa Barbara Discover how to navigate your school s social networks to maximize communication and collaboration Social networks reflect the usually invisible relationships that control the flow of information and power within a school This compelling guide provides school leaders with an understanding of the real relationships within their schools and how to use their social savvy to promote school goals This resource examines the types of social networks typically found in schools and provides samples of social network maps steps for developing your own maps and practical advice for managing social networks effectively Learn how to leverage the power of Task networks determined by work roles and organizational structure Friendship networks based on relationships between staff members Power networks that can influence opinions and resources Culture networks that can help unite staff By understanding the many relationships that contribute to a school s culture leaders can cultivate innovative ideas enhance teacher capacity manage conflict and get things done Diversity in Environmental Education Research ,2009-01-01

Research in environmental education EE is a growing field of inquiry and should be seen as respondent to a variety of program developments around the world These diverse programs are the context for this body of educational research Diversity in EE research is also compounded when one considers the various cultures epistemologies and research traditions that may inform the field This complexity accounts for the range of forms for environmental learning in formal informal or non formal contexts There is a good deal of evidence that in order to be more responsive to the needs of diverse populations program developments around the world are now beginning to reflect the variation in our society However the same cannot always be said in terms of research methodologies within mainstream environmental education research Outside of a few examples there seems to have been very little in the way of development of research genres aimed at understanding characterizing and supporting cultural diversity within much of mainstream environmental education Diversity of method may also be important for the overall quality or health of environmental education research To locate many of the new ideas and approaches in this area one needs to look outside environmental education towards general educational research or to other fields such as environmental justice indigenous education science education and health education to name only a few examples This volume of original research reports from around the globe begins to richly describe aspects of diversity in environmental education research It does so in two ways first it mirrors the diversity of voices and cultures that are conducting research in this ever broadening and increasingly global and international field of inquiry second it illuminates a potential diversity of research methods by highlighting a range of methodologies salient in other fields which have emerging promise for the practice of research in environmental education
