Technological Change In The German Democratic Republic:

Technological Change In The German Democratic Republic Raymond Bentley, 2019-07-11 Focusing on East Germany's capacity to innovate and diffuse technology this book sheds light on the technological gap that has developed between the two Germanies Dr Bentley compares the sophistication of GDR and FRG technology in different industrial branches evaluates the strengths and weaknesses of the GDR's research and development system compares the R D effort of the two Germanies and discusses the government policies that affected technological change in GDR industry from 1945 to 1975 He identifies and analyzes hindrances to research innovation and diffusion in the fields of planning organization economic stimulation and ideology and looks at the formation of interest groups He also compares evidence from the GDR with data from other countries including the USSR

Research And Technology In The Former German Democratic Republic Raymond Bentley, 2019-07-11 This book discusses the strength of research and technology in the former German Democratic Republic examining industrial labour productivity and utilising economic and technical indicators to analyse the technological levels of industry in the late 1980s

Technological Change and Regional Development in Europe Ludwig Schätzl, Javier Revilla Diez, 2012-12-06 This book presents the findings of the extensive research programme funded by the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft German Research Council and entitled Technological Change and Regional Development in Europe The goal of this programme was to carry out research by means of empirical surveys into the relationship between technological change and regional development Over a period of six years a total of 50 research projects have been undertaken in three phases each lasting two years This research programme has succeeded in actively involving leading German regional scientists from many universities as well as non university research institutions In addition numerous research projects were carried out in close co operation with internationally renowned partners We should like to express our gratitude for the support provided by the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft Without their financial backing of the research programme it would not have been possible to undertake such an ambitious project Thanks also go to the contributors of this volume for their willingness to participate in our joint project We wish in addition to acknowledge the contribution of Prof Dr Philip Cooke whose refereeing of the chapters has enhanced the quality of the work presented here Finally our thanks go to Angela Spence for her expert editorial assistance linguistic editing and the preparation of the Index and also Franco Vaio for taking care of the technical aspects and production of the final copy Their combined efforts have been crucial for successfully bringing together contributions from so many different authors in a single volume

German Democratic Republic, 1989 Constructing Socialism Raymond G. Stokes, 2000 Trabant cars carried many East Germans westward after the Berlin Wall came down in November 1989 The car's 1950s design obvious environmental incorrectness and all plastic body became a symbol of the technological limitations of East German communism But as Raymond G Stokes points out in this text eastern Germany in 1945 was one of the most highly developed technologically sophisticated industrial areas in the world Despite the evident failings of its technology by the late 1980s the German Democratic Republic maintained advanced technological capability in selected areas If the system itself was fundamentally flawed what explains successes under the very same system Why could the successes not be repeated in other areas And if examples of success are so isolated how did East Germany last as long as it did Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis,1986 The Development of Scientific and Technological Research in the German Democratic Republic and Its Implications for Training Werner Wolter,Wolfgang Belke,Hans-Jürgen Schulz (Direktor Prof. Dr.),1988 The Development of the Education System in the German Democratic Republic Germany (East),1988 Research and Study of the German Democratic Republic,1986 East Germany Ian Wallace,Douglas Burrington,1987 Education, Employment, and Development in the German Democratic Republic Klaus Korn,Rachik Mamikonovich Avakov,1984 This research project is concerned with such questions as the following How has East Germany responded to the challenges facing education s relationship to development especially with respect to conditions imposed by the scientific and technical revolution What contribution has its educational and training system made to industrialization and technical progress And conversely what is the impact of that system on the evolution of technology and science Following a preface and an introduction three sections are devoted to 1 education and employment fundamental theoretical problems and socioeconomic conditions 2 the relationship between training further education and employment and 3 education and employment planning Section I contains chapters on education and employment as essential elements in the social reproduction process methodology trends in economic growth and employment the system of education and development problems of education and employment Section II contains chapters on general education to prepare for working life career and study guidance and aims and content of vocational training programs Section III contains chapters on fundamental information the planning principle manpower planning and planning of the educational system harmonization long term planning and forecasting and research planning A summary and a 51 item bibliography follow DCS GDR Monitor,1983 East-West Technology Transfer Helgard Wienert,John A.
