Technologies Of Procreation:

Technologies of Procreation, 1999      Technologies of Procreation Jeanette Edwards, Sarah Franklin, Eric Hirsch, Frances Price, Marilyn Strathern, 2005-08-18 Now available in paperback this book takes a fresh look at the social and cultural implications of the new reproductive technologies and assisted conception It has already attracted a wide readership in anthropology sociology and health      Technology of Procreation Jeanette Edwards, 1993      The Politics of Postmodernity James Good, Irving Velody, 1998-07-23 In his study Modernity and the Holocaust Zygmunt Bauman contrasts the hopes and expectations of the modernising world of the nineteenth century with the real outcomes of the twentieth century where the very conditions of modernity have led to the mass destruction of humanity and of those early hopes for the betterment of humankind This volume explores the possibilities left to those once modernising societies not only in terms of the worlds they have constructed but also in discerning the novel conditions which the closure of modernity entails That closure in part the completion of industrialisation and the social order that went with it and in part the dislocation of the kinds of social knowledge used to understand it has raised profound and disturbing questions about the character of this brave new world and the ways in which its governance and the goal of the good society can be understood This volume explores some of the current vicissitudes of modernity especially in relation to the crises of the political and the political consequences of new technologies      Dictionary of Scripture and Ethics Joel B. Green, Jacqueline E. Lapsley, Rebekah Miles, Allen Verhey, 2011-11-01 2012 Reference Book of the Year Award Academy of Parish Clergy This one stop reference book on the vital relationship between Scripture and ethics offers needed orientation and perspective for students pastors and scholars Written to respond to the movement among biblical scholars and ethicists to recover the Bible for moral formation it is the best reference work available on the intersection of these two fields The volume shows how Christian Scripture and Christian ethics are necessarily intertwined and offers up to date treatment of five hundred biblical traditional and contemporary topics ranging from adultery bioethics and Colossians to vegetarianism work and Zephaniah The stellar ecumenical list of contributors consists of more than two hundred leading scholars from the fields of biblical studies and ethics including Darrell Bock David Gushee Amy Laura Hall Daniel Harrington Dennis Olson Christine Pohl Glen Stassen and Max Stackhouse      The Ethics of Everyday Life Michael C. Banner, 2014 Why do we have children and what do we raise them for Does the proliferation of depictions of suffering in the media enhance or endanger compassion How do we live and die well in the extended periods of debility which old age now threatens Why and how should we grieve for the dead And how should we properly remember other grief and grievances In addressing such questions the Christian imagination of human life has been powerfully shaped by the imagination of Christ's life Christ's conception birth suffering death and burial have been subjects of profound attention in Christian thought just as they are moments of special interest and concern in each and every human life However they are also sites of contention and controversy where what it is to be human is discovered constructed and contested Conception birth suffering burial and death are occasions in other words for profound and continuing questioning regarding the meaning of human life as controversies to do with IVF abortion euthanasia and the use of bodies and body parts post mortem indicate In The Ethics of Everyday Life Michael Banner argues that moral theology must reconceive its nature and tasks if it is not only to articulate its own account of human being but also to enter into constructive contention with other accounts In particular it must be willing to learn from and engage with social anthropology if it is to offer powerful and plausible portrayals of the moral life and answers to the questions which trouble modernity Drawing in wide ranging fashion from social anthropology and from Christian thought and practice from many periods and influenced especially by his engagement in public policy matters including as a member of the UK's Human Tissue Authority Banner develops the outlines of an everyday ethics stretching from before the cradle to after the grave

New Reproductive Technologies Maureen McNeil, 1990-04-12 This collection of essays provides an overview of the social developments associated with the new reproductive technologies It assesses the significance of these new technologies for the field of the sociology of technology as a whole      Donor Insemination Kenneth Raymond Daniels, Erica Haines, 1998-05-14 Donor insemination or DI is the oldest and most widely practised form of assisted conception but until relatively recently it had been assessed largely from a medical perspective This 1998 book brings together an international group of social scientists to discuss the social cultural political and practical dimensions to DI relating it to the wider debates about fertility treatment and the place of assisted conception in contemporary society The contributors consider the experience of DI from the viewpoint of all the various parties involved including the recipients of the treatment the sperm providers the clinicians the people conceived and policy makers working in the area The assumptions informing the practices around DI and the reactions to it are critically examined with reference to developments worldwide cross national issues the language of DI gender sexuality ethnicity and identity      Embodied Progress Sarah Franklin, 2022-10-12 This new edition of Sarah Franklin's classic monograph on the development of in vitro fertilisation IVF includes two entirely new chapters reflecting on the relevance of the book's findings in the context of the past two decades and providing a state of the art review of the field today Over the past 25 years both the assisted conception industry and the academic field of reproductive studies have grown enormously IVF in particular is belatedly becoming recognised as one of the most influential technologies of the twentieth and twenty first centuries with a far reaching set of implications that have to date been underestimated understudied and under reported This pioneering text was the first to explore the emergence of commercial IVF in the United Kingdom where the technique was originally developed During the 1980s the British Parliament devised a unique system of comprehensive national regulation of assisted reproduction amidst fractious public and media debate over IVF and embryo research Franklin chronicles these developments and explores their significance in relation to classic anthropological debates about the meanings of kinship gender and the biological facts of parenthood Drawing on extensive personal interviews with women and couples undergoing IVF as well as ethnographic fieldwork in early IVF clinics the book explores the unique demands of the IVF technique In richly detailed chapters it documents the topsy turvy world of IVF and how the experience of undergoing IVF changes its users in ways they had not anticipated Franklin argues that such experiences reveal a crucial feature of translational biomedical procedures more widely namely that these are hope technologies that paradoxically generate new uncertainties and risks in the very space of their supposed resolution The final chapter closely engages with the hope technology concept as well as the idea of having to try and uses these frames to link contemporary reproductive studies to core sociological and anthropological arguments about economy society and technology In the context of rapid fertility decline and huge growth in the fertility industry this volume is even more relevant today than when it was first published at the dawn of what Franklin calls the era of iFertility Embodied Progress is an essential read for all social science academics and students with an interest in the burgeoning new field of reproductive studies It is also a valuable resource for practitioners working in the fields of reproductive health biomedicine and policy

The Gospel & Same-Sex Marriage Russell D. Moore,Andrew T. Walker,2016-06-01 Christians should be known by what they are for not simply what they are against The Bible is unambiguously clear about marriage s definition and purpose So Christians are for marriage The Bible s witness on marriage doesn t allow for same sex marriage not because the Bible gives attention to same sex marriage but because the biblical narrative on marriage doesn t conceive of same sex marriage as within the realm of possibility Yet many Christians live among neighbors and under law makers who disagree So what now Editors Russell Moore and Andrew T Walker of the Ethics and Religious Liberty Commission ERLC assemble leading voices to frame the issues with a gospel centered perspective The Gospel for Life series gives every believer a biblically saturated understanding of the most urgent issues facing our culture today because the gospel is for all of life

Human Dignity in Bioethics Stephen Dilley,Nathan J. Palpant,2013 Human Dignity in Bioethics brings together a collection of essays that rigorously examine the concept of human dignity from its metaphysical foundations to its polemical deployment in bioethical controversies The volume falls into three parts beginning with meta level perspectives and moving to concrete applications Part 1 analyzes human dignity through a worldview lens exploring the source and meaning of human dignity from naturalist postmodernist Protestant and Catholic vantages respectively letting each side explain and defend its own conception Part 2 moves from metaphysical moorings to key areas of macro level influence international politics American law and biological science These chapters examine the legitimacy of the concept of dignity in documents by international political bodies the role of dignity in American jurisprudence and the implications and challenges for dignity posed by Darwinism Part 3 shifts from macro level topics to concrete applications by examining the rhetoric of human dignity in specific controversies embryonic stem cell research abortion human animal chimeras euthanasia and palliative care psychotropic drugs and assisted reproductive technologies Each chapter analyzes the rhetorical use of human dignity by opposing camps assessing the utility of the concept and whether a different concept or approach can be a more productive means of framing or guiding the debate

Sexual Ethics Todd A. Salzman, Michael G. Lawler, 2012-05-18 Two principles capture the essence of the Catholic tradition on sexual ethics that each and every marriage act must remain open to the transmission of life and that any human genital act must occur within the framework of marriage In the Catholic tradition moral sexual activity is institutionalized within the confines of marriage and procreation and sexual morality is marital morality But theologians Todd Salzman and Michael Lawler contend that there is a disconnect between many of the Church's absolute sexual norms and other theological and intellectual developments explicitly recognized and endorsed in the Catholic tradition especially since the Second Vatican Council These developments include the shift from a primary static worldview to a historically conscious worldview one that recognizes reality as dynamic evolving changing and particular By employing such a historically conscious worldview alternative claims about the moral legitimacy of controversial topics such as contraception artificial reproduction and homosexual marriage can faithfully emerge within a Catholic context Convinced of the central role that love desire and fertility play in a human life and also in the life of Christian discipleship the authors propose an understanding of sexuality that leads to the enhancement of human sexual relationships and flourishing This comprehensive introduction to Catholic sexual ethics complete with thought provoking study questions at the end of each chapter will be sure to stimulate dialogue about sexual morality between Catholic laity theologians and the hierarchy Anyone seeking a credible and informed Catholic sexual ethic will welcome this potentially revolutionary book
