Teens At Risk:

Teens at Risk Christine Watkins, 2009 Editor Christine Watkins has compiled several pro versus con essays that debate the issues relating to teens at risk Essay sources include Helpguide org the American Psychological Association Zero Tolerance Task Force U S Department of Health and Human Services and Choose Responsibility Readers will analyze such topics as whether depression eating disorders and video games put teens at risk They will evaluate whether gun control legislation reduces crime whether teens should be allowed abortions without parental consent and several other compelling issues Handbook of Adolescent Health Risk Behavior Ralph J. DiClemente, William B. Hansen, Lynn E. Ponton, 2013-11-21 Adolescence is a developmental period of accelerating physical psychological social cultural and cognitive development often characterized by confronting and surmounting a myriad of challenges and establishing a sense of self identity and autonomy It is also unfortunately a period fraught with many threats to the health and well being of adolescents and with substantial consequent impairment and disability Many of the adverse health consequences experienced by adolescents are to a large extent the result of their risk behaviors Many adolescents today and perhaps an increasing number in the future are at risk for death disease and other adverse health outcomes that are not primarily biomedical in origin In general there has been a marked change in the causes of morbidity and mortality among adolescents Previously infectious diseases accounted for a disproportionate share of adolescent morbidity and mortality At present however the overwhelming toll of adolescent morbidity and mortality is the result of lifestyle practices Adolescent Risk Behaviors David A. Wolfe, Peter G. Jaffe, Claire V. Crooks, 2008-10-01 This book focuses on the crucial role that relationships play in the lives of teenagers The authors particularly examine the ways that healthy relationships can help teens avoid such common risk behaviors as substance abuse dating violence sexual assault and unsafe sexual practices Addressing the current lack of effective prevention programs for teens they present new strategies for encouraging healthy choices The book first traces differences between the rules of relating for boys and girls and discusses typical and atypical patterns of experimentation in teens The authors identify the common link among risk behaviors the relationship connection In the second part of the book they examine the principles of successful programs used by schools and communities to cultivate healthy adolescent development An illuminating conclusion describes the key ingredients for engaging adolescents their parents teachers and communities in the effort to promote healthy nonviolent relationships among teens Adolescent Risk and Vulnerability National Research Council, Institute of Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, 2001-11-08 Adolescents obviously do not always act in ways that serve their own best interests even as defined by them Sometimes their perception of their own risks even of survival to adulthood is larger than the reality in other cases they underestimate the risks of particular actions or behaviors It is possible indeed likely that some adolescents engage in risky behaviors because of a perception of invulnerability the current conventional wisdom of adults views of adolescent behavior

Others however take risks because they feel vulnerable to a point approaching hopelessness In either case these perceptions can prompt adolescents to make poor decisions that can put them at risk and leave them vulnerable to physical or psychological harm that may have a negative impact on their long term health and viability A small planning group was formed to develop a workshop on reconceptualizing adolescent risk and vulnerability With funding from Carnegie Corporation of New York the Workshop on Adolescent Risk and Vulnerability Setting Priorities took place on March 13 2001 in Washington DC The workshop s goal was to put into perspective the total burden of vulnerability that adolescents face taking advantage of the growing societal concern for adolescents the need to set priorities for meeting adolescents needs and the opportunity to apply decision making perspectives to this critical area This report summarizes the workshop
