Tel Aviv Neues Bauen 1930-1939:

The End of Tradition? Nezar AlSayyad, 2004 Rooted in real world observations this book questions the concept of tradition In his introduction Nezar AlSayyad discusses the meanings of the word tradition and the current debates about the end of tradition Thereafter the book is divided into three parts Tel Aviv, neues Bauen, 1930-1939 Irmel Kamp-Bandau, 1993 Seizing Jerusalem Alona Nitzan-Shifan, 2017-05-30 After seizing Jerusalem's eastern precincts from Jordan at the conclusion of the Six Day War in 1967 Israel unilaterally unified the city and plunged into an ambitious building program eager to transform the very meaning of one of the world's most emotionally charged urban spaces The goal was as simple as it was controversial to both Judaize and modernize Jerusalem Seizing Jerusalem chronicles how numerous disciplines including architecture landscape design and urban planning as well as everyone from municipal politicians to state bureaucrats from Israeli born architects to international luminaries such as Louis Kahn Buckminster Fuller and Bruno Zevi competed to create Jerusalem's new image This decade long competition happened with the Palestinian residents still living in the city even as the new image was inspired by the city's Arab legacy The politics of space in the Holy City still contested today were shaped in this post 1967 decade not only by the legacy of the war and the politics of dispossession but curiously also by emerging trends in postwar architectural culture Drawing on previously unexamined archival documents and in depth interviews with architects planners and politicians Alona Nitzan Shifan analyzes the cultural politics of the Israeli state and in particular of Jerusalem's influential mayor Teddy Kollek whose efforts to legitimate Israeli rule over Jerusalem provided architects a unique real world laboratory to explore the possibilities and limits of modernist design as built form as well as political and social action Seizing Jerusalem reveals architecture as an active agent in the formation of urban and national identity and demonstrates how contemporary debates about Zionism and the crisis within the discipline of architecture over postwar modernism affected Jerusalem's built environment in ways that continue to resonate today

Architecture RePerformed: The Politics of Reconstruction Tino Mager, 2016-03-09
First emerging at the beginning of the twentieth century architectural reconstruction has increasingly become an instrument to visually revive a long bygone past
This book deals with the phenomenon of meticulous reconstruction in architecture It argues that the politics of reconstruction go far beyond aesthetic considerations Taking architecture as a major source of history and regional identity the impact of large scale reconstruction is deeply intertwined with political and social factors Furthermore memories and associations correlated with lost buildings of a bygone era are heavily influenced by their re appearance something which often contradicts historical events Reconstruction has become an established way of building and dealing with the past yet so far there is no comprehensive scientific study on it By bringing together eight case studies from Eastern Europe France Spain China Japan Israel and Brazil it provides valuable insights into this topic The chapters analyse the political background of the reconstructions and identify the protagonists In doing so this volume adds to our understanding of the impact of reconstruction to memory and oblivion as well as the critical power of reconstruction regarding contemporary architecture and urbanism
The Place of the Mediterranean in Modern Israeli Identity Alexandra Nocke, 2009-03-25 This book offers new perspectives on Israel s evolving Mediterranean identity which centers around the longing to find a natural place in the region It explores Mediterraneanism as reflected in popular music literature architecture and daily life and analyzes ways in which the notion comprises cultural identity and political realities

Wie das Bauhaus nach Tel Aviv kam Alexandra Klei, 2019-08-13 Den in Tel Aviv realisierten Bauten der Architekturmoderne wird seit den 1980er Jahren eine hohe Aufmerksamkeit geschenkt Der Begriff Bauhaus etablierte sich als Terminus einer Einordnung Mit der Verwendung wird nicht nur ein Stil behauptet und Eindeutigkeit suggeriert sondern zudem eine enge Beziehung zwischen Deutschland und Tel Aviv hergestellt Dies geschah und geschieht ohne dass es einen architekturgeschichtlich tragbaren Bezug zu der 1919 in Weimar gegründeten und 1925 nach Dessau verlegten Ausbildungsstätte gibt Wie das Bauhaus nach Tel Aviv kam geht der Frage nach welche Bedeutung eine derartige Zuschreibung innerhalb deutscher Diskurse hat Dabei wird ein Narrativ offengelegt bei dem der deutschen Geschichte hier der Ausgrenzung und Vertreibung der deutschen Jüdinnen und Juden positive Aspekte abgerungen werden können und die europäische Dimension der Architekturmoderne ebenso wie die zionistischen Ambitionen vor allem von Architekten die aus Osteuropa stammten ausgeklammert werden Die Analyse dieser Leerstellen stellt einen Beitrag zu einer kritischen Auseinandersetzung mit der Rezeption des Bauhaus dar Modernism as Memory Kathleen James-Chakraborty, 2018-01-15

After World War II West Germans and West Berliners found ways of communicating both their recent sufferings and aspirations for stable communities through buildings that fused the ruins of historicist structures with new constructions rooted in the modernism of the 1910s and 20s. As Modernism as Memory illustrates, these postwar practices undergird the approaches later taken in influential structures created or renovated in Berlin following the fall of the Wall, including the Jewish Museum and the Reichstag. The New Museum and the Topography of Terror. While others have characterized contemporary Berlin's museums and memorials as postmodern, Kathleen James Chakraborty argues that these environments are examples of an architecture of modern memory that is much older, more complex, and historically contingent. She reveals that churches and museums repaired and designed before 1989 in Dresden, Hanover, Munich, Nuremberg, Pforzheim, Stuttgart, and Weil am Rhein contributed to a modernist precedent for the relationship between German identity and the past developed since then in the Ruhr region and in Berlin. Modernism as Memory demonstrates that how one remembers can be detached from what one remembers, contrasting ruins with recollections of modernism to commemorate German suffering, the Holocaust, and the industrial revolution, as well as new spaces for Islam in the country.

The Challenge of Change: Dealing with the Legacy of the Modern Movement Dirk van den Heuvel, Maarten Mesman, Bert Lemmens, 2008-09-15. Conservation of architecture and the conversation of Modern architecture in particular has assumed new challenges. Rather than attempting to return a Modern building to its resumed original state, the challenge of these proceedings is to revalue the essence of the manifold manifestations of Modern architecture and redefine its meanings in a rapidly changing world of digital revolution, worldwide mobility, and environmental awareness. This volume aims to provide a variety of platforms for the exchange of ideas and experience. A large international group of architects, historians, scholars, preservationists, and other parties involved in the processes of preserving, renovating, and transforming Modern buildings has been invited to investigate the paradox of the Modern monument and to reflect on the manifold dilemmas of change and continuity. The general theme is elaborated through five sub-themes. The sub-theme Change and Continuity addresses the tensions between change and continuity from a historical, theoretical perspective. Restructuring Cities and Landscapes focuses on the larger scale of city and landscape, while Shifts in Programme and Flexibility draws attention to the scale of the building or building complex and questions limits of reuse and flexibility. The fourth sub-theme deals with education, and the fifth sub-theme Progress, Technology, and Sustainability considers specific issues of techniques and materials.

Design Book Review, 1995. Reflections on Society and Academia Marcel Herbst, 2018-12-14. This anthology assembles notes that address a wider spectrum of concern within the social sciences as well as higher education and design and planning issues. The essays, articles, and book reviews gathered here allow for an easy and holistic assessment of publications that cover various themes and were written during the past two decades. In addition, four chapters specifically written for this volume are included: two dealing with academic productivity and the remaining two addressing aspects of economics and issues of design.
