The Building Of The First Transcontinental Railroad:

Empire Express David Haward Bain,2000-09-01 After the Civil War the building of the transcontinental railroad was the nineteenth century s most transformative event Beginning in 1842 with a visionary s dream to span the continent with twin bands of iron Empire Express captures three dramatic decades in which the United States effectively doubled in size fought three wars and began to discover a new national identity From self made entrepreneurs such as the Union Pacific s Thomas Durant and era defining figures such as President Lincoln to the thousands of laborers whose backbreaking work made the railroad possible this extraordinary narrative summons an astonishing array of voices to give new dimension not only to this epic endeavor but also to the culture political struggles and social conflicts of an unforgettable period in American history

The First Transcontinental Railroad James K. Wheaton,2011 The First Transcontinental Railroad originally called the Pacific Railroad was a railroad built in the United States between 1863 and 1869 that connected the western part of America with its eastern part Built by the Central Pacific Railroad of California and the Union Pacific Railroad it connected the Eastern terminus of Council Bluffs Iowa Omaha Nebraska with the railroad lines of the Pacific Ocean at Oakland California In time it would link in with the existing railway network present on the Eastern Coast of America thus connecting the Atlantic and Pacific coast of the United States for the first time by rail Because of this the line received a second nickname the Overland Route The railroad was a government operation authorized by Congress during the height of the Civil War Congress passed the Pacific Railroad Acts in 1862 and again in 1864 To pay for it the US government issued 30 year bonds as well as granting government land to contractors The construction of the line was a major achievement by both the Union Pacific constructing westward from Iowa and the Central Pacific constructing eastward from California The line was officially opened on May 10 1869 with the Last Spike driven through the railway at Promontory Summit Utah James K Wheaton looks at the history in this eBook Building the First Transcontinental Railroad ,1950 Dot, Dot, Dot, Done! the Building of the First Transcontinental Railroad History West,Southern Pacific Company,1981 Let's Go to Build the First
