The Burning House:

The Burning House Ann Beattie, 1982 The Burning House Paul Lisicky, 2011-05-03 The Burning House is an achingly lovely novel about the things that bind us together in this life and the things that pull us apart Paul Lisicky has an extraordinary gift for exploring emotional nuance and the rhythms of desire With this book he yet again asserts himself as one of the select writers who continues to teach me about the complexities of the human heart Robert Olen Butler The new house ate up every square foot of its lot Copper roofing copper flashing copper downspouts every last detail crying out notice me notice me keep up with me Exactly the kind of house Joan would have despised with good reason In this captivating family saga narrator Isidore Mirsky finds his close knit family and community suddenly coming apart Facing the illness of family members and the loss of homes in a recession plagued urban town he also contends with an overwhelming new desire his feelings for his wife s sister The Burning House finds its narrator at his most vulnerable and explores what it means to be a good man amidst chaos Paul Lisicky is the author of Lawnboy and Famous Builder Lisicky maintains a highly active schedule with readings and book signings and connects with his readership through Facebook and his blog He lives in New York City and on the east end of Long Island and teaches at New York University A collection of short prose pieces Unbuilt Projects is forthcoming in 2012 Burning House Ann Beattie, 2011-03-30 The now classic utterly unique voice of Ann Beattie is so dry it throws off sparks her eye endowed with the emotional equivalent of X ray vision Her characters are young men and women discovering what it means to be a grown up in a country that promised them they d stay young forever And here in shapely penetrating stories Beattie confirms why she is one of the most widely imitated yet surely inimitable literary stylists of her generation In The Burning House Beattie s characters go from dealing drugs to taking care of a bereaved friend They watch their marriages fail not with a bang but with a wisecrack And afterward they may find themselves trading confidences with their spouses new lovers The Burning House proves that Beattie has no peer when it comes to revealing the hidden shapes of our relationships or the depths of tenderness grief and anger that lie beneath the surfaces of our daily lives

Owen-Crocker, 2005 Harold II is chiefly remembered today perhaps unfairly for the brevity of his reign and his death at the Battle of Hastings The papers collected here seek to shed new light on the man and his milieu before and after that climax They explore the long career and the dynastic network behind Harold Godwinsson's accession on the death of King Edward the Confessor in January 1066 looking in particular at the important questions as to whether Harold's kingship was opportunist or long planned a usurpation or a legitimate succession in terms of his Anglo-Scandinavian kinships They also examine the posthumous legends that Harold survived Hastings and lived on as a religious recluse The essays in the second part of the volume focus on the Bayeux Tapestry bringing out the small details which would have resonated significantly for contemporary audiences both Norman and English to suggest how they judged Harold and the other players in the succession drama of 1066 Other aspects of the Tapestry are also covered the possible patron and locations the Tapestry was produced for where and how it was designed and the various sources artistic and real employed by the artist GALE OWEN CROCKER is Professor of Anglo-Saxon Culture at the University of Manchester Contemporary American Women Writers Catherine Rainwater, William J. Scheick, 2014-10-17 Ann Beattie Annie Dillard Maxine Hong Kingston Toni Morrison Cynthia Ozick Grace Paley Marge Piercy Anne Redmon Anne Tyler and Alice Walker all seem to be especially concerned with narrative management The ten essays in this book raise new and intriguing questions about the ways these leading women writers appropriate and transform generic norms and ultimately revise literary tradition to make it more inclusive of female experience vision and expression The contributors to this volume discover diverse narrative strategies Beattie Dillard Paley and Redmon in divergent ways rely heavily upon narrative gaps surfaces and silences often suggesting depths which are lamentably absent from modern experience or which mysteriously elude language For Kingston and Walker verbal assertiveness is the focus of narratives depicting the gradual empowerment of female protagonists who learn to speak themselves into existence Ozick and Tyler disrupt conventional reader expectations of the anti-novel and the family novel respectively Finally Morrison's and Piercy's works reveal how traditional narrative forms such as the Bildungsroman and the soap opera are adaptable to feminist purposes In examining the writings of these ten important women authors this book illuminates a significant moment in literary history when women's voices are profoundly reshaping American literary tradition The Burning House D.
