Inside a Service Trade Rudolf G. Wagner, 2020-10-26 Within a tightly controlled environment literature has become the major screen onto which the political class of the People's Republic of China projects some of its battles This work explores the potential of literary analysis for illuminating the PRC's social intellectual and political history illustrating swings in the Party line with stories articles and cartoons from the popular press This book presents materials hitherto scarcely topped and should offer new insights to those interested in Chinese literature Russian and East European literature and modern social and political history

Modernizing China A. Doak Barnett, 2019-03-05 Since the death of Mao China has entered a new period in its development Turning away from the all encompassing emphasis on revolutionary struggle and ideological transformation that characterized the last years of the Maoist era China's leaders under Deng Xiaoping have initiated dramatic new reform and development policies In original essays the contributors all senior specialists on contemporary China analyze the reasons for the new policies the nature and impact of the changes now occurring and the prospects for a continuation of these policies in the future Specifically they examine the Chinese polity as a consultative authoritarian system the farreaching changes in China's agriculture important shifts in foreign economic relations the gradual modernization policy pursued by its military leaders the relaxation of controls on cultural life and the possibility that current social policies may well increase equality rather than inequality in Chinese society The authors conclude that it is too early to judge the eventual long term outcome of current reforms which they believe grew out of the political crises and chronic economic problems that afflicted China in the late 1960s and early 1970s Although they see some opposition and built in limits to reform on balance they foresee strong support for continued reform and believe it will be difficult for future leaders to reverse course

Modern Chinese Writers Helmut Martin, Jeffrey C. Kinkley, 2016-09-16 This volume gathers personal reflections on life and literature by 44 of China's leading authors It aims to illustrate how Chinese society and its creative writing have supported competed and fought with each other for the past 40 years and more Much of what is revealed here is mundane but the pressure of bringing art to social and political causes indeed the universal pressure to survive forges this collection into a very human document The strengths and weaknesses of these essays offer a window on those of modern Chinese literature itself Realism was the favoured literary doctrine of the day and reflecting this most of these essays speak for themselves about war revolution betrayal and commitment

Pianos and Politics in China Richard Curt Kraus, 1989-07-13 In China a nation where the worlds of politics and art are closely linked Western classical music was considered during the cultural revolution to be an imperialist intrusion in direct conflict with the native aesthetic In this revealing chronicle of the relationship between music and politics in twentieth century China Richard Kraus examines the evolution of China's ever changing disposition towards European music and demonstrates the steady westernization of Chinese music Placing China's cultural conflicts in global perspective he traces the lives of four Chinese musicians and reflects on how their experiences are indicative of China's place at the furthest edge of an expanding Western international order

Intertexts William F. Hanks, 2000-01-10 Over the past two decades William Hanks has explored the dynamics of verbal interaction and how speakers and listeners make meaning through language With equal commitment to theory and empirical description Hanks writings combine analyses of linguistic form speech processes and sociocultural context His work is marked by a commitment to interdisciplinary research starting with his joint training in linguistics and anthropology and increasingly integrating elements from philosophy literary theory and history This book brings together papers written over the last decade organized around the three central themes that have been emerged in Hanks work indexicality and referential practices discourse genres and textuality and the historical embeddedness of language Together they present the main elements of a coherent synthetic approach to language in context The linguistic ethnographic and historical material through which Hanks argues his approach come from his field research among maya speakers in Yucatan Mexico and from archival work on the historical development of Maya discourse under Spanish colonial rule Several of the papers originally appeared in journals and edited volumes abroad and appear here for the first time in English
