Abstract.—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness of sedentary, middle-aged men. The program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 45 min. The first session was a warm-up, the second was a cardiovascular workout, and the third was a strength training session. The results showed that the participants significantly improved their cardiovascular fitness, as measured by the maximum heart rate and the maximum oxygen consumption. There was no significant change in the strength training results. The study suggests that a 12-week training program can improve the cardiovascular fitness of sedentary, middle-aged men.
