Wisdom From the Margins William G. Britton,2018-05-16 Henri Nouwen wisely said The great illusion of leadership is to think that man can be led out of the desert by someone who has never been there Jesus has been there and knows how to lead us out but first he just may lead us in He meets us in the desert and does his best work in us there We look for an easier way in vain I myself reluctantly entered the desert and eventually received unimagined gifts there gifts I didn t ask for deserve or want gifts hidden in such painful loss that I despaired and yet looking back now these desert gifts were the best thing that ever happened to me I entered the desert and years later found my way out It s not a new way it was just new to me Jewish and Christian sages had been living it for thousands of years Somehow in recent generations we managed to forget it In this collection I mean to begin to make those riches available to you I m hoping that like me you ll discover something that you didn t know you wanted or needed and something now you wouldn t give up at any price has created each and every one of us with a void or a hole in our heart from the moment of birth a hole that when you have everything else based on sight still yearns because it isn't filled. It starts to hurt even though you have everything the world promised. The hole can never be filled with anything until you realize God loves you. Strength for the Broken Places James A. Harnish, 2010-10-01 James A Harnish from the Introduction I'm broken. So are you. We're all broken people who live in a broken world. The critical question is how do we find strength to put broken things back together again. This book is an invitation to touch the scars that mark the broken places in our lives in the same way the risen Christ invited a doubting disciple to touch the nail scars in his hands. It is a challenge to explore some of the dark places in our human experience to uncover the sinister power of sin and to experience the way the grace of God meets us in our broken places to bring new life.

The Broken Bones Diary Diana Espejo,2017-06-06 I truly believe God

The Broken House Dr. Lindsay Evans-Mitchell M.D., J.D., Burgess Mitchell, 2024-03-21 How does a psychiatrist cope with trauma when a failed marriage results in severe depression and anxiety? It's not often that the emotional experience of mental health professionals who like their patients are fighting to find answers for their own healing and wholeness can be explored. It can be hard to accept that sometimes even therapists need therapy. This book explores what it's like to have the tools to build a stable structure but all that still develops is a broken house. After counseling college students and treating thousands of patients in psychiatry, the authors, a husband and wife team, found that their marital counseling ministry was more successful when empathetic transparency about their own mistakes and failures was given. Instead of using hammers, drills, screws, and nails, this couple had to learn to use techniques that tear down walls and expose the true condition of a damaged relationship. Embark on a journey with the Chip and Joanna of marital counseling as they reveal how a dilapidated house in foreclosure helped them start the renovation process on a marriage that was broken and in disrepair. If you're in a relationship that feels hopeless and are wondering if a seemingly bad investment has any real value, you'll discover valuable
