Brunias's paintings have often been understood as straightforward documents of visual ethnography that functioned as field guides for reading race; this book investigates how the images both reflected and refracted ideas about race commonly held by eighteenth-century Britons, helping to construct racial categories while simultaneously exposing their constructedness and underscoring their contradictions. The book offers provocative new insights about Brunias's work gleaned from a broad survey of his paintings, many of which are reproduced here for the first time. Cultivating the Human Faculties Susan Bennett, 2008. This book contains a series of essays on different aspects of Irish painter James Barry's monumental cycle of paintings, The Progress of Human Knowledge, in the Great Room of the Royal Society of Arts.
